STUDENTS PREFER SLEEP TO CHURCH SUNDAY MORNING

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Three-fourths of the men students and more than half of the women, of Western Reserve University, would rather sleep Sunday mornings than go to church.

The questionnaire revealed that: Seventy-six per cent of the men and 55 per cent of the women would rather sleep Sundays than attend services.

Fifteen per cent of the men turned either agnostic, or atheistic during their college attendance.

Not one girl became a disbeliever because of college influence.

Most of them believed prayer useful and pre-... in a crisis.

Most of them would prefer to be married by a minister than a justice of the peace.

They were almost unanimous in their opinion that depression had had no effect on their religious attitudes.

The questionnaire, directed by Marshall Stalley, candidate for a master's degree in sociology, disclosed that a majority of students attend church on an average of once in a fortnight.

Most of them gave as their chief reason for attending services enjoyment of the sermon, while others admitted frankly they went because of family pressure or because they liked the music and rituals.

FASCISM CLAIMED VISIBLE TREND OF RECOVERY POLICY

row and accompanied a general indictment by the entire board of the operation of NRA codes.

His Johnson Attack. "The publication of our report," he added, "was the occasion for an unjustified attack by General Johnson, the labor advisory board, and other agents and supporters of monopoly capital."

"They criticized us bitterly for doing the very thing we had been appointed to do, namely, to hear, investigate and report on the complaints of small business men."

"The purpose of their attack was obviously to divert public attention from the clear content of our findings which showed the growing encouragement of monopolistic combinations and practices by the national recovery administration."

"Without my knowledge and without my signature, the recovery review board was recently (June 9) issued a statement halting the newly announced NRA price-fixing policy."

NRA Acknowledges Truth. "It declares that the NRA thus acknowledges the truth of our findings and has provided a means by which the monopolistic practices we revealed and protested are now to be curbed and abolished."

"That this statement of the review board is merely a maneuver by which it hopes to reestablish itself in the good graces of the national recovery administration is patent from a careful examination of the real character of the announced price fixing policy."

"For this policy represents no change in administrative procedure that will in any way 'abolish' the monopolistic practices and their consequences revealed in our report."

"According to General Johnson's statement, the new policy 'does not affect codes already approved.' Practically all major industries are now operating under approved codes."

"The announcement of a 'new' price-fixing policy is merely a device to calm an aroused public realization of the extent of monopolistic practices."

"That it does not represent any change but rather the continuation of the old policy is evidenced by the statement that the code authorities of approved codes will 'amend' the price fixing provisions. In other words, as the supplementary report stated, monopolistic combinations are expected to enforce against them-

CONCLUDED THAT HIS ADVICE WAS ALL WRONG, THUS RESULT, HE SAYS, OF THE DEPRESSION.

"There probably are no snobs now," he says. "The depression has ruined many a good thing and snobs are no exception. But just let things settle down a little, and stabilization set in, and, mark my words, a new crop will appear."

"Who said, 'You can't change human nature?' So with the eternal recurrence of history the remarks of 1929 once again will be as true as any remarks have to be."
