

PARDONS SOUGHT FOR JACKSON CO. PAIR IN PRISON

A conditional pardon is urged for Robert Glenn, serving 15 years in state prison for an attempted robbery of the State Bank of Central Point in September, 1934, by State Parole Officer Kellaher, in a letter to the district attorney, Friends headed by Attorney E. E. Kelly, recently interceded for Glenn, asking a parole.

Under the parole laws, the letter explains, Glenn will not be eligible for freedom until November 1935. He was sentenced, November 28, 1930. No strenuous objection has been registered by local authorities against a parole for Glenn. It is held by the district attorney's office that Glenn at his trial, did not tell the complete story, but through a false sense of loyalty and friendship, shielded an unknown party who had guilty knowledge of the crime. It was held that Glenn was inspired by the state of his emotions and unduly influenced by one nominally beyond the law.

Glenn denied any part in the robbery and claimed that at the time he was driving a rented auto on the Pacific highway between this city and Ashland. The evidence showed that Glenn had rented the green sedan used by the bandit, which was found in the Blackwell hill district the following day with bullet holes in the rear. Glenn allegedly entered the Central Point bank at noon, and attempted a hold-up. He was repelled by pistol fire of Alvin Tolleson, then cashier of the bank.

Glenn, up to the time of the attempted robbery was a young man of good character and a hard worker, with many friends. Since incarceration he has been a model prisoner and has a promise of employment if released.

A parole is also sought now for Laverne E. Hamlin, sentenced from this county in April, 1929, to serve 18 years for assault and robbery. With two others, Hamlin held up an old man in a cabin near the Westerland Orchard tract. He is now eligible for parole, after five years behind prison walls. It is understood that he also has employment assured if freed.

CLAIM ON TOFT ESTATE HEARD

The appeal of Carl Anderson against the estate of the late Ray H. Toft for approximately $1500 for asserted services rendered is underway today in circuit court. Both sides agreed to the trial of the case without a petit jury called for today.

The case was originally held in probate court, and County Judge Earl B. Day rendered a decision awarding Anderson approximately half the amount sought. Anderson contended that an agreement existed between himself and Toft whereby he was to be paid for services.

The estate, Fred E. Wahl, administrator, is represented by Attorney Rawley Moore. Anderson is represented by Attorney T. J. Enright.

ANDREWS AWARDED $75 IN HORSE LITIGATION

Hubbard, foreman, yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for $75 for the plaintiff in the civil suit of Alfred Andrews against Lee Peachey, for possession of five head of horses. The jury placed the value of the horses at $200. Andrews asked for $100 damages and a $240 valuation.

The action involved sale by Andrews to Peachey of five head of more or less wild horses. Peachey brought them to this county from the eastern Oregon ranges six months ago. The case was involved and among other things concerned the physical condition of the animals, cost of pasturage, and a federal stock loan.

CALL GRAND JURY JUNE 26 TO PROBE CRIMINAL CHARGES

The grand jury, Floyd Ross of Central Point foreman, has been called for Tuesday, June 26, for the investigation of a number of pending criminal cases. The grand jury was continued from the February term of court.

William C. Mitchell of Ashland was yesterday drawn by the county clerk as a grand juror to serve in the place of William H. Wenner, who has been called from the county due to the illness of kin in Idaho.

Among the cases pending before the grand jury are Henry H. Dyne and wife, charged with violation of the Knox liquor law, on three counts; J. Frank Stroud, charged with liquor law violation, and a number of minor criminal matters. The Dynges and Stroud waived preliminary hearings, and had their cases referred direct for grand jury action.

The grand jury will also be presented with evidence in the cases of E. L. Fitch and May Murray, minor figures in the Banks-Pehl turmoil and "Good Government Congress" agitation. They are charged with criminal libel for the alleged distribution of false and malicious pamphlets during the last primary campaign. Fitch is held in the county jail in lieu of $1000 bonds. May Murray is at liberty on the same bond amount.

The pamphlets, allegedly inspired and written by Earl H. Pehl, imprisoned ex-county official, contained an affidavit of a prison mate exonerating Pehl of all part in the ballot thefts, and attacked the state police and district attorney, and impugned the court and jury.

The criminal libel is based on the statement in the pamphlets that "the $65,000 expended in the ballot theft cases by Jackson county" was "used for the bribery of witnesses and grand jury and the handling of the court."

FIRST IRRIGATION STORAGE WATER IS TURNED ON TREES

Use of the first irrigation storage water of the season is now underway in orchards and fields of the Medford and Talent districts, according to General Manager Olen Arnsperger. There is sufficient water in the Medford district, "to last well into August and probably till the first of August in the Talent district," according to Arnsperger. This, he says, will be sufficient for the maturity of all crops, "with the possible exception of tomatoes."

Manager Arnsperger explains that the irrigation water supply depends upon the state of the weather. A long spell of hot weather would cause a decrease ahead of schedule. "If we should happen to get some showers we would be sitting pretty," Arnsperger says.

Water is now being used for maturity of the orchard crops and being dispensed under regulations with quotas to each orchard. Continuation of present weather conditions would cause no great drain on the irrigation supply.

A call was issued today by the Medford district for all holders of irrigation district bonds who have not deposited them, or have not recently been in touch with the district, to do so at once as negotiations have reached the point for closing a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan for refinancing.
