

WEATHER REPORTS TOO FAR APART IS OBSERVER'S PLAIN

PASADENA, June 14.—(AP)—National experts continued their examination today of increased observational and reporting facilities deemed necessary if the air mass analysis system of practical value to the United States weather bureau.

The special four-day conference of army, navy, weather bureau and airlines meteorologists and college scientists was to close late today.

J. C. Smith of the Portland, Oregon, weather bureau and in charge of airways forecasting for the north Pacific area yesterday recommended establishment of at least seven new stations in the area reporting each four hours.

He suggested that Oregon and Washington coastal stations be required to report every two hours instead of every four as at present.

Smith described the lack of an adequate number of reports from sailing vessels. To follow more successfully the movements of air masses advancing upon the north Pacific coast, he urged that reports be obtained at 6 hour intervals from ships in the area east of the 140th meridian and north of 40 degrees latitude.

The Portland expert was the first speaker at the conference to discuss in detail measures considered necessary for success of the new system, which scientists expect to increase enormously the accuracy and minuteness of forecasting.

Smith described the north Pacific area as probably the principal outpost from which many air masses may be observed and classified. If air mass analysis work in that area is to be of value, he said, upper-air observations will be indispensable.

He declared three more "4-hourly" reporting stations are needed east of the Cascade range in Washington and Oregon—probably at Oroville, and Wenatchee, Wash., and Lakeview, Oregon. He asserted "4-hourly" reports would prove highly useful also from Lewiston, Idaho, Kallispell, Montana; Estevan, Victoria Island and Kamloops, British Columbia.

There are now three such stations on the Washington-Oregon coast but those at Tatoosh Island, the North Head, Wash., do not make reports throughout the night, he explained. Experience has indicated, he said, that four more such stations are needed at points near Aberdeen, Wash., and Newport, Oregon.

HOUSING BILL HAS COMMITTEE OKEH

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—The administration housing bill was approved today by the senate banking committee and reported to the senate for quick approval before adjournment.

The committee approved the bill in virtually its original form without a record vote, after a move to eliminate the section providing for creation of national mortgage associations had been defeated 11 to 7.

The subcommittee added to the bill an amendment by Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), to increase the borrowing power of the Home Owners Loan Corporation from $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 and providing for a single administrator to have charge of the housing program instead of a group of new boards.

HOCKEY ACE DIES OF BRAIN TUMOR

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP) Charles ("Chuck") Gardner, called the greatest goal tender hockey has ever known, is dead—a crushing blow to the championship aspirations of the Chicago Blackhawks, of which he was the captain.

The fiery, black-haired young Scotshman died unexpectedly last night in Winnipeg, his home town, the victim of a tumor of the brain. He had been ill only since Sunday. The seriousness of his condition did not become known until yesterday, when he was rushed to a hospital. He was 29.

LOUGHRAN SAYS CAN LICK WINNER

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, who lost to Primo Carnera the last time the heavy-weight title holder defended his crown, in Miami, March 1, arrived from Europe today just in time to view Carnera's bout with Max Baer tonight.

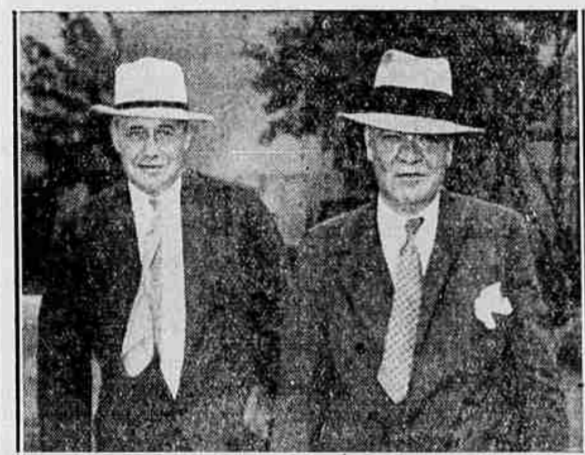

Tommy said it would either be a "knockout for Baer or a decision for Carnera. Personally I would like to see Baer win because it would eliminate Carnera from the ring. He is only a hindrance to boxing. It's a matter of size and not skill. He's not a fighter with a lot of ability. "Whoever wins, I'll challenge him. I've licked Baer and I believe now that I can do better wit Carnera than the last time."

Leaders of the American steel industry struggled with the problem of a threatened general strike at a New York conference attended by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, and Donald Richberg, NRA general counsel. Among those sitting at the parley were William A. Irvin (left), president of the U. S. Steel corporation, and Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company. Richberg (left) and Johnson are shown below about to board a plane at Washington for the trip to New York. NRA NEARING END OF CODE MAKING

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, today said the NRA was coming to the close of code making and that the entire organization soon would be thrown into the task of administering the more than 400 industrial compacts.

"We are not going to overturn any existing codes," he added at a press conference called especially to deny a published report that the administration planned to put all industry under 20 to 25 codes.

"There is not a word of truth in that," Johnson said.

"We're trying to work out a code that we can suggest to the many small industries for adoption and let them later propose fair trade practices. We want to get through with code making."

BARTLETT CANNING CONTROL LEFT IN COMMITTEE HANDS

lets, plus 66,000 tons available from the northwest for canning, is more than can be used. Therefore, the following motions were passed and in most cases unanimously:

"To eliminate all culls insofar as practicable. The Northwest Cannery association grade definitions (1932 edition) to be used with the addition to first grade of "worm eggs."

The attempt to write in the word "reasonably" was blocked by canners.

"Following motion passed unanimously: 'No canner shall accept any delivery of pears if such delivery contains, by weight, number two pears in excess of 10 per cent of the weight of number one pears in such load."

"In computing the payment for a load of No. 1 Bartletts, the following rule to apply:

"If 95 per cent or more are No. 1s, payment in full at the No. 1 price.

"If less than 95 per cent and more than 92 1/2 per cent are No. 1s, the No. 1 price to be paid for the actual weight of No. 1 pears and $1 per ton for the remainder of the load. If less than 92 1/2 per cent of the load is No. 1 the load shall not be accepted.

"In event of an unforeseen calamity reducing the amount of No. 1 pears, the control committee is given authority to change the percentage of No. 2s to be canned.

"The control committee is made up of 16 members as follows: Four California canners, who are Messrs. Winter, Gillis, Gray and Hook; four northwest canners, who are Messrs. Patus, Luck, Ewald and Maling; four California growers, who are Swett, Wilcox, Darcey and Bancroft; and four northwest growers, who are Messrs. Morgan and Straus of Yakima, Brauns of Wenatchee and Feidshimer of Rogue River valley.

"A levy to raise $25,000 upon a tonnage basis from canners to police the agreement.

"Motion was unanimously passed that all canners shall apply for license.

"The control committee proposes to submit a plan for the whole Bartlett pear industry on the Pacific Coast by January 1, 1935."

Although the depression has generated a 40 per cent increase in the demand for books, incomes of libraries has shrunk 34 per cent, the state library association of California revealed.
