

PICTORIAL REVIEW OF THE KIDNAPING OF JUNE ROBLES IN ARIZONA

June Robles, 6, daughter of Fernando Robles, Tucson, Ariz., merchant and granddaughter of Bernabe Robles, wealthy cattleman, was kidnaped April 25 as she was returning home from school. Lower right, a detective re-enacts the kidnaping at the spot where the child was spirited away. The kidnaper gave Goyo Estrada (lower left) 25 cents to deliver a note to June's father. Upper left is the missing girl's home in Tucson. Picture upper right shows officers searching automobiles along the highway for June and her abductor. (Associated Press Photos)

TRADE CONTINUES AT STOCKYARDS

There was something of the atmosphere of pioneer days as hastily built structures became centers of activity at the fire-swept Chicago stockyards. The long frame building shown here housed some of the officers whose quarters in the old Exchange building (in rear) were destroyed by the disastrous blaze. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW YORK BANKER ON TRIAL

Joseph W. Harriman, on trial in a New York federal court charged with misappropriation of funds of the closed Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, is shown with Mrs. Harriman in court. (Associated Press Photo)

CAPTAIN OUMET KEEPS THE CUP

Francis Oulmet, captain of the United States Walker cup team, is shown at St. Andrews, Scotland, when he received the Walker cup at the conclusion of the annual matches wherein the American golfers successfully defended the trophy. The United States team lost only two matches, another being halved. (Associated Press Photo)

Who Said They Wouldn't Bloom?

Courtesy Cleveland Plain Dealer

WALKER CUP TEAM SAILS FOR MATCHES IN SCOTLAND

The United States Walker cup team sailed aboard the S. S. Caledonia for the golfing wars in Scotland. Front row, left to right: George T. Dunlap, Jr., national amateur champion; Johnny Goodman, national open champion; W. Lawson Little Jr.; H. Chandler Egan, former amateur champion. Rear row: Harold Pierce, treasurer; Johnny Fischer, Gus Moreland, Capt. Francis Oulmet, Max Marston, Jack Westland. (Associated Press Photo)

OBJECTS OF ATTACKS IN CUBA

Jefferson Caffery (left), United States ambassador to Cuba, and H. Freeman Matthews (right), first secretary of the American embassy, were the objects of attacks by gunmen in Havana but both escaped injury. Assassins shot up the residence of Caffery in an attempt to assassinate him. Another group of gunmen waylaid Matthews' automobile and broke the windshield. Matthews, however, was not in the car. (Associated Press Photos)

SEA-GOING DREDGER TO SEEK ALASKAN BEACH GOLD

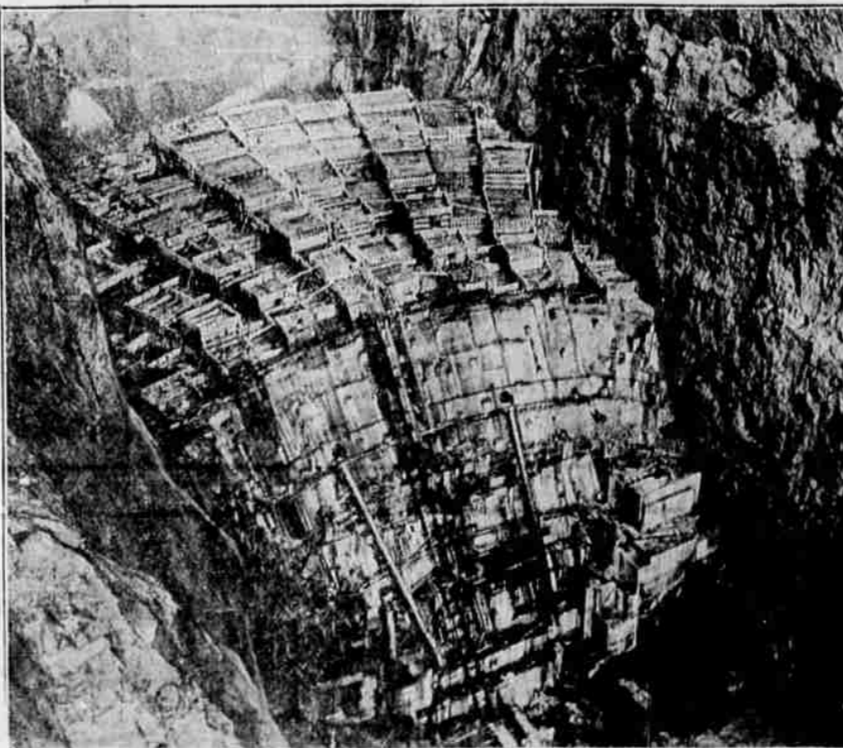

Capt. John C. Benson (inset), 70-year-old sea veteran, is outfitting the Salmon King, to be renamed the Gold King, in San Francisco with the objective of dredging the beaches off Nome, Alaska, for gold. According to Benson it is the first sea-going gold dredger of its kind for a trip to the north and will be fitted with powerful suction drags to operate along the lines of the California type of placer dredges. (Associated Press Photos)

VICTIMS OF INDIANA BANDIT CHASE

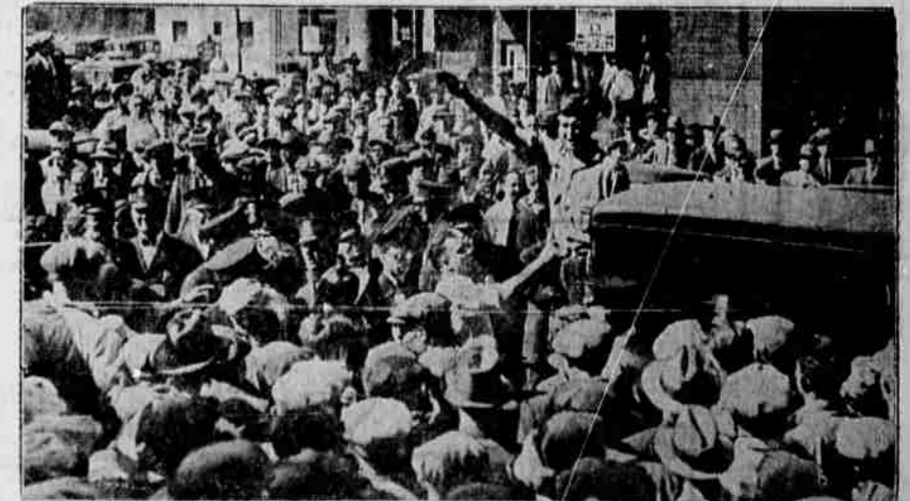

Deputy Sheriff Harold Amick (left) of Underwood, Ind., was shot and killed by three youthful bandits who became the object of a chase by a posse of 200 men aided by bloodhounds. John Pfaffenberger (right), policeman of Seymour, Ind., was shot four times by the trio as he sought to block the bandit's escape. (Associated Press Photo)

A NEW PICTURE OF PROGRESS AT GIANT BOULDER DAM

Progress on the construction of Boulder dam continues, and this Associated Press picture shows the tremendous size of the dam structure as soon from the control tower of the 150-ton cableway on the Nevada side.

MANY HURT AS MINNEAPOLIS TRUCK DRIVERS RIOT

When truck drivers staged a riot in Minneapolis, one striker tried to calm his members by pleading from the steps of a patrol wagon. Sixteen pickets and four policemen were hurt in the disorder. (Associated Press Photo)