MAYOR E. M. WILSON WILL RESIGN

By PAUL MALLON.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—Those who know the inside of business feel a little better now.
The adjournment of congress, President Roosevelt's attitude (he is so confident he is going away for a six weeks' vacation), the softening of NRA policy and a number of other factors are removing the gloom from those who have been a bit because they did not get a better spring improvement.

That is why the stock market has been stronger recently. There will be a July recession. There always is. It will be no shock to sentiment. Prospects for fall are fairly good. You can expect increased activity beginning September and carrying through probably until November.
The spring peak may be exceeded, but not by a very great margin.
The main thing is, Mr. Roosevelt's pockets are bulging with money. The sum he has is so vast that it cannot be accurately calculated, but it is somewhat near ten billions. This includes the five billions he can use out of the RFC, the remainder of the public works funds, drought relief, AAA funds, etc.
He will not spend all this money unless an unexpected emergency arises, but his economic calculations are figuring now on putting out more than two billions before the first of the year. How much they spend will of course, depend on economic requirements.
At any rate, he is well fortified to meet any possible demands.

Mr. Roosevelt is playing the John Maynard Keynes game. That is, he is quietly accumulating from congress this session authority to spend these very great sums with a view to using them to balance the business situation. He calls it "priming the pump."

Unquestionably, his rate of expenditure will increase during July and August. His treasury is in good shape. His only worry will be to balance the budget during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1935. His prospects of doing that are not very good, but that is a long way off.

There is no prospect at all that he will have to inflate for money to carry his expenditures during the next six months.

No one in authority expects very much out of the home repair and modernization plan this year. Insiders are not saying so publicly, but they have their eyes set on stimulating new construction next year, using this means to supplant the public works program, which will then be about played out.

Prices of manufactured goods generally will probably ease off in relation to other prices, which may help to spread a larger volume of consumption.
There will be labor troubles and plenty of them, but no more than we are now having.
The president is really serious about getting the war debt paid in goods. His advisers on that subject privately believe that is the only way they can be paid. They have a scheme already worked out, but it cannot be offered publicly now in view of the British attitude.

This scheme would have the debtor governments purchase from their own producers or manufacturers such goods as rubber, tin, potash, perfumes. These goods would then be shipped to the United States government, which, in turn, would sell them to American importers and credit the money received to the debtor's account. No cash would be involved.
There will be much jockeying back and forth during the next six months on this subject, but, in the end, you may see a final agreement along these lines.

World statesmen saved their faces at the Geneva disarmament conference, but not much else.
Instead of admitting they could not get anywhere, they appointed committees to "study the situation." The principal ministers then went home and left the committees to subordinate.

There will not be any disarmament any time soon. The world is not ready for it.
The Democrats are arranging to make big use of Mr. Roosevelt's message on social trends for the fall campaign. They admit frankly that it was a congressional campaign document and was so intended.

The Republican political strategy is to beat down heavily on Mr. Roosevelt's expenditures. They know it is a hard issue to get over to the people. The average man pays very little attention to government figures, even when he pays his income tax.
Their publicity men are trying to work out some plan to popularize the figures.
The general supposition among the political master minds is that the Republicans will gain about fifty seats.

GEORGE PORTER SLATED BY LAW TO ASSUME JOB

Resigning Official Says Recently Acquired Duties As State Masonic Master Will Require Absences

Extra M. Wilson, mayor of Medford, announced this morning that he would submit his resignation, effective, July 1, at the regular meeting of the city council tonight.
Mayor Wilson gave as his reason that his recently acquired duties as grand master of the Masonic lodges in Oregon would require frequent absences from the city and his private business would require the remainder of his time, necessitating the relinquishment of the mayoralty.
The majority will automatically fall upon Councilman George Porter, chairman of the finance committee.
Mayor Wilson has served the city for six years—two years as councilman and four years as mayor. He was twice elected mayor, the first time by a majority of 14 votes over Earl H. Fehl when the latter was riding on a wave of popularity among local voters.
Mayor Wilson stated this morning that his tenure of office had been pleasant.

His resignation came as a surprise to the general public. Business men generally protested the action, and have endeavored to have him reconsider, if possible.
Mayor Wilson also said that before he retired he would like to see steps taken for a revision of the city charter to the end that certain antiquated features be removed. He said he would endeavor to have preliminary moves made between now and July 1.

SHIPSTEAD, HALE SEEN NOMINATED

By the Associated Press.
Two United States senators—Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota and Frederick Hale of Maine—were virtually assured of re-nomination today by word from their states' primary elections.

Shipstead was running far ahead of Congressman Francis H. Shoemaker for the farmer-labor nomination; Hale, republican senator since 1917, held a secure lead over Louis A. Jackson, Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota won the farmer-labor nomination from a single opponent, John Lind. Martin Nelson, Austin lawyer, led the opponents for the republican nomination for governor, and Fred Schlipf, St. Cloud publisher, was showing the way to seven democratic opponents for the gubernatorial nomination.

SEEK TO CORNER OREGON ONIONS

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19.—(AP)—The Journal said today that speculative interests "are trying to secure a corner on Oregon onion supplies because of a threatened shortage throughout the United States this season."
One dollar and sacks net to growers is being offered for contracts on the 1934 crop by various operators, the statement said, "and considerable business is already reported at the price but most growers are not at all willing to let up their crops this early in the season."
There is said to be a shorter crop of Oregon onions in prospect than previously anticipated, with some curtailment of acreage as a result of aphid and maggot. The survey said "the midwest crop promises to be a mere shadow of the normal."

METHODISTS TABOO PROFESSIONAL DRIES

PORTLAND, June 19.—(AP)—Professional dry reformers are on the "black list" of Chicago Methodism, it was said here today by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, general superintendent of Methodist activities in that region. Bishop Waldorf reached Portland today to preside over the Oregon annual Methodist conference.
"We have decided in Chicago," he said, "that there must be a readjustment of the temperance situation."

FARMER'S FEET HACKED BY MOWING MACHINE

PORTLAND, June 19.—(AP)—Carl Theobald, 50, Tualatin farmer, was treated in a hospital here today for serious injuries he suffered this morning in a hay-making accident on his ranch. His feet were badly cut by a mowing machine and physicians feared it would be necessary to amputate both of them.

Pioneer Stage Coach Driver Traces Old Route From Air

Above the same route over which he drove stage coaches 55 years ago at less than 10 miles an hour, Fred Tice, Medford pioneer, got a new thrill when he rode over the old stage trail in a United Air Lines three-mile-a-minute transport as a part of the Oregon Diamond Jubilee celebration here recently. Tice is shown with Miss Arvilla Burns (left), attired in the styles of 1877, and Cornelia Peterson, in the modern garb of a United Air Lines stewardess.

NURSES, DOCTORS ARE STRICKEN BY DREAD PARALYSIS

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—(AP)—Fifty graduate nurses were sought today for special duty in the general hospital, center of the fight against an epidemic of infantile paralysis here.

A total of 911 cases have been reported in the city and county since the epidemic started last May 1. The number of new cases had been decreasing until yesterday, when 35 were reported in the city. Twenty-nine in the county area were reported today.
It was revealed also that five physicians and 30 nurses who have been handling infantile paralysis cases at general hospital are now infected with the disease.
The existence of many mild widely scattered cases in San Francisco also was reported today by Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer there. He said there have been 44 cases there since May 1, four deaths resulting, as contrasted to 230 cases and 27 deaths in the 1933 epidemic.

Eight persons have died in the Los Angeles county epidemic. In 1933, there were 26 deaths out of the 454 cases reported.
One of the victims here is Hal Rison, film cameraman, estranged husband of Jean Harlow, actress, but physicians said his case had passed its crisis and he would have no permanent ill effects were expected.

Miss Harlow was solicitous about her former husband and keeping in touch with him by telephone.
PORTLAND, Ore., June 19.—(AP)—The old battle front around famed Hartmann-Weilerkolt flamed beneath dense smoke once more today. Once more French soldiers stormed the 3,000-foot peak, even as they had in 1918, and again they were met by blasts of shells and bombs.

But today the enemy they fought was a forest fire which swept across hundreds of acres, its heat exploding old long-buried duds which failed to kill 19 years ago.
Troops have been fighting the fire since Saturday, but their task has been rendered difficult by the two months' drought hereabouts. Several villages are endangered.

LEAK IN NRA HINTED BY HUGH JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson said today he had "some evidence" that confidential documents were being disclosed at NRA.
He made the statement at a press conference in connection with the dismissal yesterday from the labor advisory board staff of John Donovan, who is president of NRA Local 91 of the American Federation of Government Employees.
"There was some evidence that confidential government documents were being disclosed," Johnson said. "I said if it was proved those people would be discharged."

Fine Drunken Buggy Drivers.
FALLS CHURCH, Va.—(UP)—From now on it's the water wagon for thirty buggy drivers in this little town—all because the town council has become a stickler for sobriety and cracked down on drunken chariotists of horse-drawn vehicles. Under a new ordinance, driving a buggy while drunk will cost $100 to $1,000, or from one to six months in jail.

ANOTHER WOMAN ENTERS PICTURE PODERJAY'S PAST

Bloodstains Found in Trunk of International Don Juan—Slender Blonde Claims Recent Divorce in Belgrade

VIENNA, June 19.—(AP)—The newspaper Telegraf today said bloodstains had been found in a trunk in the apartment of Ivan Poderjay, held for questioning in the disappearance of Miss Agnes Tuferson of the United States, but the police did not immediately comment on the report.

LONDON, June 19.—(AP)—Records of the Paddington register office here opened today to show that Ivan Poderjay, held in custody in Vienna in connection with the disappearance of his American wife, Miss Agnes Tuferson, married Susanne Fernan, with whom he was living in Vienna, March 22, of this year—three months after he married the American woman in New York.

By WADE WERNER.

VIENNA, June 19.—(AP)—Another woman emerged today from the past of Ivan Poderjay, international Don Juan, as police sought to draw from him a solution of the strange disappearance of Agnes Tuferson, American lawyer.
Mme. Zhivka, a slender blonde, brought forth documents in Belgrade to show that she was divorced from the Yugoslavian officer November 16, 1933—one month before his New York marriage to Miss Tuferson.
Eager for news of Poderjay, Mme. Zhivka described him as unreliable, but "charming" with women. She said $10,000 disappeared from her safety deposit box about the time Poderjay left the country.
Six months after their marriage in 1926, she said, she discovered Poderjay was preparing to marry in

PIRATES FLEEING WITH HOSTAGES

SHANGHAI, June 19.—(AP)—Chinese brigands abandoned their pirate junks in the Yellow river today and fled into the hills with 26 human hostages, six of them British citizens.
They landed with their victims after racing from United States and British warships which pursued them after the pirates had overpowered the passengers and crew of the British steamship Sitouen, off the mouth of the Yellow river yesterday.
During the melee aboard the Sitouen a foreigner, not identified, was reported wounded. The pirates, long a scourge of the China seas, took their captives away in a fleet of junks.

In addition to nominating an independent candidate for governor, there were prospects that the convention will consider whether to propose other independent candidates for other offices, in opposition to the republican and democratic nominees named in the May primary.

GIRL GLIDES TO WORLD'S RECORD

WENATCHEE, Wash., June 19.—(AP)—Soaring over Orville for two hours and five minutes last night, Audrey Artman, 16-year-old bird woman, set what is believed to be an unofficial world's sustained glider record for women. During the flight Audrey rode 1200 feet above the take-off point on Mt. Hull, or 3000 feet above the valley floor, where she ultimately landed without being forced down by darkness. She was taught to fly by her brother, Cloyd, who recently made a flight of more than eight hours from the same point.

Lindberghs Wait Coming Of Stork Is New York Hint

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—The Daily News says today that Jon Morrow Lindbergh, closely guarded son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, may soon have a brother or a sister.
For three weeks, the News says, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh has been making regular visits to the New York office of Dr. Edward M. Hawks, the physician who attended her at the births of Jon Morrow Lindbergh, now nearly two years old, and the late Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., victim of kidnappers.
Dr. Hawks and Mrs. Lindbergh would not comment, referring inquiries to her husband's New York office, where it was said "Col. Lindbergh is not here."

D. CRONEMILLER SUFFERS BURNS IN HOME BLAZE

David Cronemiller of Jacksonville received severe burns on the hands, head and shoulders early this morning when his residence, located on the old Phoenix road between the Beckman and Sutton residences just out of Jacksonville, caught fire and was completely destroyed.
The Jacksonville fire department arrived on the scene to find the frame structure a mass of flames and only succeeded in saving the neighboring buildings, which were scorched by the intense heat.
Cronemiller awakened after the fire had gained considerable headway and received burns while making his way out of the house.
The fire department was unable to save anything from the Cronemiller house, but removed furniture from adjoining buildings when it was feared that they would catch fire.
Cronemiller was taken to the Jacksonville sanitarium and treated by Dr. W. G. Bishop of this city. His condition was reported improved this afternoon.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—John W. Harriman, former head of the defunct Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., was convicted late today by a jury in federal court on charges of falsifying records and misappropriation of funds.

They were also charged with lending $300,000 in improper collateral and with converting the money to their own use. The government contended the defendants used part of the money to bolster the market price of the bank's stock.
Harriman was tried on 16 counts and the penalty of conviction is five years' imprisonment, or $50,000 fine, or both, on each count.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(P)—The New York State Athletic commission today named Madison Square garden that it will not approve a light heavyweight title match between Maxie Rosenbaum, the champion, and Enzo Fiermonte, pugilistic husband of the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor.
"Fiermonte may be a champion to the former Mrs. Astor but he is still just a young man who hasn't fought around her for two years and even then never reached the status of a main bout performer," said Bert Stand, secretary of the commission.

OUTLAY OF NEAR SEVEN BILLIONS SETS NEW MARK

Finale Featured by Dramatic Coup of Insurgents—'Kingfish' Stages Uproarious Farewell to Session

By Cecil B. Dickason.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—The seventy-third (New Deal) congress which, among other things, appropriated an estimated $6,800,000,000, passed into history today.
Its finale, which came at 11:45 o'clock last night (eastern standard time), was marked by a dramatic coup by insurgents and an uproarious farewell rally by Senator Huey Long.
The congress, besides appropriating nearly seven billions dollars—a sum without precedent equal, probably, in the records of any congress or parliament in the history of the world—guaranteed an estimated seven billion dollars in home mortgages and farm bonds, set up a two billion dollar stabilization fund, passed thousands of bills, approved between six and eight thousand nominations and ratified a score of treaties.

Independents Save Bill.
The surprising end came last night after party independents arose in the senate and made opposition to the Dill-Crocker bill to set up a national board to conciliate labor and employers in their disagreements in the railway industry.
President Roosevelt and party leaders had wanted the bill to go over to the next congress, for they feared final action would mean a prolonged session. The insurgents, however, with such senators as Wheeler (D-Mont.) and La Follette (R-Wis.) in the forefront, kept driving ahead for action, overcoming a one-man filibuster by Senator Hastings (R-Del.) and finally winning against the opposition of administration leaders.

Housing Program Sketched.
The administration's housing program, providing for partial government guarantees of loans for home building and repair, and other measures to set the construction ball rolling, was the last major item to go through.
Earlier the Frader-Lemke bill permitting a virtual six-year moratorium on farm mortgages had passed the final stages of enactment. A filibuster by Senator Long (D-La.) in favor of this made the galleries roar with laughter.

He said a conference report on it was misleading and suggested that John Dillinger would do well to hide with his last papers.
"These city slickers who don't want nothing done for the farmers are taking us country boys for a snipe hunt," he said. "It's enough to make a man cry right here on the floor."
Papers in Long's Pocket.
After the papers turned up, conference committee clerks said Long

Klamath To Halt Curb Beer Sales

KLAMATH FALLS, June 19.—(AP)—The city police bureau today was ordered by the council to halt curb sale of beer to motorists. Failure to observe the mandate will bring recommendations for the cancellation of state licenses, Mayor Willis Mahoney declared.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 18.—China (by far the smartest nation in the world) has a word that I don't know how in the world we live without. It's called "face," saving face. We have it just as much as China does and call it by a hundred other things, but it all gets back to the same thing—"face." How can I do nothing, and still make it look like I done something?
Congress would have adjourned Saturday night and the country would have arose this morning in the happiest and most optimistic mood, but each congressman tried to get his pet bill through, so he could go home and save "face."
