Ken Williams' league leading Grants Pass Merchants will travel to Klamath Falls Sunday to tangle with the Shaw-Bertram Lumber Co. while, at Medford, Hsi Haight's Rogues entertain the Ewauna Box Co. team from Klamath Falls.

Results of last Sunday's games saw Grants Pass, behind 15 roaring hits and some brilliant pitching from Earhart and Nelson, take a commanding lead of two full games over the rest of the field. Medford, playing erratic ball in the field and showing a decided helplessness at bat, fell into undisputed second position.

Bitter rivalry marked the battle at Klamath Falls between Shaw-Bertram and Ewauna. The game went eleven innings and was marred by squabbling and fighting throughout. Monday, Ewauna manager, has lodged a protest over the game on the grounds that the umpiring was incompetent.

On the mound for Medford will be either Jack Hughes or Cliff McLean, with Dean Joy or McLean behind the bat. Carlstrom or Wheeler will hurl for Ewauna with Blanas wearing the mask.

Baseball fans of southern Oregon will do well to keep an eagle eye on four youngsters who are exerting in Nelson, Grants Pass pitcher with the explosive curve ball; Clarence Ogle, Grants Pass shortstop; Cliff McLean, Medford pitcher, catcher, infielder, or what have you; and Blanas, the fiery Ewauna catcher.

All are young and full of ambition and it won't be long until some scout beckons because the boys are really fine ball players.

Portland Beavers, why don't you look at these boys just once?

Helen Hicks First Woman To Leave Amateur Ranks For Professional Ranting

By BON CAVAGANARO
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Helen Hicks' surprise exchange of her amateur status for a commercial career and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vase's rapidly approaching retirement from competition have seriously weakened America's front line of women golfers.

In the absence of these two stars the burden of carrying the banner has been placed squarely on the shoulders of Virginia Van Wie, the soft-spoken Chicagoan who holds the national championship, and blonde-haired Maureen Orcutt of New Jersey.

Two veterans, Mrs. Opal Hill and Mrs. Leona Cheney, and a pair of youngsters, Charlotte Glutting and Lucille Robinson, are likely prospects to fill the berths vacated by the two stars.

In forsaking her amateur career to become America's first "business woman golfer," 28-year-old Miss Hicks, who started playing golf when she was a chunky lass of 15 years, has followed in the footsteps of two other prominent sportswomen.

Eight years ago Suzanne Langlen, the great French tennis player, joined Charles (Cash and Carry) Pyle's gold caravan in a barnstorming tour, only to find disillusionment after a short time. Last year Mildred (Babe) Dickerson, the all-around Texas athlete, turned pro and little has been heard of her since.

Miss Hicks is starting out with big ideas and many resolutions, as witness the following:

"I believe that with my experience and knowledge of golf, and the sincere co-operation I am getting from my employer, I am going to do a lot of things I have always wanted to do along the lines of developing golf among women and children."

She has been engaged as an adviser to a Chicago sporting goods concern's women's golf department.

As the first American woman to attempt such a task, Miss Hicks has fortified her future with a five-year contract, which, with salary and royalties, will produce an annual stipend in the neighborhood of $7500.

PAYNE STOPS LIPPO IN SIXTH FRAME BY TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

PORTLAND, Ore., June 20.—(P)—Sol Lippo came here from Philadelphia only to find a tougher fighter from Louisville already here in the person of Cecil Payne who battered and lashed his way to a technical knockout over Lippo last night.

The end came in the sixth of their scheduled 10 round bout. Payne, 140, sent Lippo, 143, to the canvas twice in the fifth when he solved the Philadelphia's freakish crouch.

A 10-round draw was fought by Elmer (Buzze) Brown, 125, Portland, and Leroy Gibson, 126, Wichita.

The success of Ezrie Cavelli, 145, Wills, Wala, in the Portland ring was halted decisively when Jack Hubbard, 146, Klamath Falls, knocked out the Washington Italian in the second of the scheduled six-round.

Frankie Monroe, 137, Klamath Falls, won a four-round decision over young Harry Wills, 137, Portland.

TURNER AT HELM PORTLAND DUCKS

By the Associated Press.
President Tom Turner of the Portland Beavers has joined Sacramento's Earl McNeely as the Coast league's second owner-manager.

The Portland president made his San Francisco debut yesterday as acting manager in place of Walter McCredie, the regular pilot, who fell ill in Portland, and guided the Beavers to a 7-5 victory over the seals.

It wasn't so much Turner's master minding as a lusty fourth inning homer by Second Baseman Gilbert English, a snappy four-hit rally in the seventh that accounted for three runs and drove Pitcher Jimmy Zinn to the showers and consistently good fielding that brought Portland its win.
