

JACKSON GOP ASKS END OF RULE BY FEDERAL BUREAUS

Time For Republicans To Be Republicans And Stand By Constitution—Will Wage Active Fall Campaign For Nominees.

The return to constitutional form of government, party loyalty, support of the entire congressional, state and county tickets by all republicans, and an active courageous campaign this fall were keynote of the meeting of the new county central committee of the republican party at the Medford hotel Friday afternoon.

There was a good attendance, and marked enthusiasm prevailed throughout the meeting. Attorney George Roberts said it is time for the republican party in this county, state and nation to stand boldly for the restoration of representative constitutional government instead of political dictatorship conducted by federal bureaus and advisory boards, suggested by the brain trust, that tell us how to live, plant, market and to conduct practically every phase of life and industry. In order to do this he said, it is the duty of all republicans, not to be misled by the opposition in an endeavor to secure republican votes to elect their candidates, but to stand solidly behind this county organization, help it in every way possible, and to support the entire ticket, which is a very representative one, from top to bottom.

Short talks were made by Frank Van Dyke, O. E. Terrill, Fred Holmes, W. W. Jacobs, Vern Marshall and other members of the committee, all of whom urged party loyalty and predicted success of the entire ticket this fall.

In presenting the following resolution, that was unanimously adopted, Don Newbury referred to a recent news story in which the nominee for governor on the democratic ticket was quoted as stating to his opponent in the recent primary that the duty of every democrat was to support his party's nominee. Mr. Newbury called attention to the fact that no democrat can be elected to any office in this state or county without the votes of republicans and with such a representative ticket, headed by Joe Dunne for governor, there is no reason why all republicans should not rally to the support of the ticket and keep Oregon and Jackson county in the republican column and he believed they would do it.

The following resolution was accepted: Whereas the economic conditions of our country demand an active participation in governmental affairs of persons of ability and integrity and adherence to the principles of the Republican party; and

Whereas at the 1934 primaries in the State of Oregon, nominations were made by the Republican party of outstanding republicans and persons of integrity and ability, as candidates for congressional, state and county offices. Now, therefore

Be it resolved by the Jackson County Republican Central committee that the said committee and each and every member thereof, pledge his loyalty to Republican party principles and the exercise of his best efforts for the purpose of electing in the November election the state, congressional and county candidates as nominated by the Republican party in the primary election of 1934.

Be it further resolved that the Jackson County Republican Central committee call upon all Republicans to actively and energetically support said candidates.

The new central committee officials elected are: Frank Farrell, chairman; Fred Holmes, vice chairman; Vern Marshall, secretary and treasurer; Fred Colvig, assistant secretary; Tom Simpson, congressional committee man; S. Shumper Smith, state committee man.

The chairman was instructed to appoint six republicans, who with the officers, will constitute an executive committee and they were instructed to have charge of the coming campaign, with power to fill any vacancies, levy assessments and transact other business, when not necessary to call the entire committee.

It was decided to organize a branch of the Oregon Republican club in Jackson county and the chairman was instructed to appoint a committee to arrange for the same. This and the executive committees will be announced soon.

APPLAGATE SPAN FORMALLY OPENED BY PIONEER LADY

Approximately three hundred persons attended the dedication yesterday of the new bridge across the Applegate river, including a number of old Applegate pioneers. The program was arranged by the Applegate grange and community, and luncheon was served in the grange hall, at 12:30.

Mrs. Louisa Ray, 87-year-old pioneer, cut the ribbon officially opening the bridge to travel.

Arthur S. Taylor, head of the history department at the Southern Oregon Normal school traced the pioneer boundaries of the country, out to Oregon, and spoke of the governmental experiments undergone. He told of the pioneer's belief in education, and urged that such desires be kept foremost at the present time.

In part, Mr. Taylor told the gathering: "So we may say that the pioneer of the northwest possessed three qualities: first, the power to formulate his own government and to put it in operation successfully; second, the ability to break with tradition, to cut away from his old-world loyalties and to assist in the building of a newer and nobler tradition; and third, that intrepidity of spirit which drove him on and on into the unknown country, seeking not wealth and not glory, but only a place where he might grow and develop his own individuality without too many restrictions from organized social groups."

O. E. (Pop) Gates, of Medford, former member of the Oregon State highway commission told of the advantages of the state as a home, and emphasized the need for realization of its resources and need for building up the state.

Mr. Gates told his audience how he remembered the old Applegate bridge, and further stated it was his desire to see a road from Applegate to join the Caves, and eventually be completed to the coast.

Pioneers who were present, and made short speeches, were Mrs. A. K. Clark; Frits Ruch; 74; Mary A. Mae, 72; Manly Rexford, 77; Mrs. Sarah Cantrell, 89; Mrs. Anna Dorn, 80; Newt Haskins, 84; Mrs. Louisa Ray, 87; Warren Mee, 66; Logan Wildridge, 79 and Will Jordan, 74.

The original Applegate bridge was built in 1873 by the father of Warren Mee and Miss Mary Mee.

The object of the association, Lowry said, is to present the university in its true light cleared of the controversy that has recently confronted the public.

Chairman Lowry, formerly president of the Associated Students of Medford high school, stated: "Our organization conscientiously believes that there is a wealth of opportunity for training in liberal arts and liberal professions at the University of Oregon. Obviously we do not desire students to attend Oregon if they are not interested in the courses that are offered, but many of the courses of the state university rank with or exceed those of Harvard or Stanford, and are much cheaper."

Lowry named the following local students on his committee: Bob Prentice, Peggy Miller, Billie Hammett, Barbara Hauk, Bob Emmons, Fred Colvig, Bill Cunningham, Junior Porter and Max Carter.

Any member of the committee, Lowry said, will be glad to aid students in finding a suitable college, whether they are considering the University of Oregon or not.

PRICE FIXED FOR VALLEY APRICOTS

By mutual agreement of the growers of apricots and the grocers of Medford, definite prices for this season's crop have been established. It was reported by chamber of commerce officials yesterday.

Last year a similar agreement was brought about which gave the grower a reasonable profit and no hardship was worked on the consumer.

This year's prices are satisfactory both to the grower and the grocer, particularly in view of the fact that there is a shortage in the apricot crop.

A similar agreement will be arranged for very shortly by the chamber of commerce with the peach growers' group and an early meeting will be called for growers of peaches and grocers, it was announced.

Due to the fact that the two-day sale is so near the 4th of July, many merchants will offer merchandise for those who will be spending over the national holiday. Window posters will be prepared and the event will be publicized in the newspapers of the county.

"Vacation days are happy days," stated one retailer, "and your vacation can be made the happier by equipping yourself to the fullest for the recreation you desire at reasonable prices."

MRS. CORUM SEES BROTHER AFTER 58 YEARS SEPARATED

Fifty-eight years had elapsed since Mrs. A. E. Corum of this city had met her only brother, Joseph Warberton of Coleville, Utah, who, with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens of Oakland, Calif., came to Medford last Saturday evening.

It was the first time Mrs. Corum had met her niece, and the first time Mr. Warberton had met any of the Corum children.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Corum and daughter Annie left Rush Valley, Utah July 19, 1876 in a covered wagon on the old Oregon trail. They ferried the rivers and forded the smaller streams. Their first stop was at Hood River, Ore., where they visited three weeks with Mr. Corum's father.

The family then came south and located on Butte creek, where they made their home for many years. That district was but a wilderness at the time, and Medford did not exist. They also had the pleasure of seeing the first train pass through the valley.

Mr. Corum passed away 31 years ago in Medford. For the last ten years Mrs. Corum has made her home with her children in Washington and Oregon.

Fifty-eight years ago it took Mrs. Corum seven weeks to make the trip and last week it took Mr. Warberton, his daughter and son-in-law 15 hours, by auto.

Mr. Warberton expressed pleasure at meeting his sister again, and planned to make a much longer visit here in the near future. He left with his sons-in-law, Mr. Lund and Mr. Stevens for Klamath Falls to visit another daughter, Mrs. Lund.
