

CITY AND STATE MOURN LATE CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Thousands of Californians passed the bier of Gov. James Rolph, Jr. as his body lay in state in the rotunda of the San Francisco city hall. Mr. Rolph died after an extended illness. After serving as mayor of San Francisco for 20 years he was elected to the governorship in 1930. This photograph shows a crowd passing the catafalque. (Associated Press Photo)

NEWEST UNITED STATES CRUISER PASSES TESTS

Uncle Sam stamped his approval on the navy's latest high-speed cruiser, the Astoria (above) when it passed preliminary tests off Puget Sound, Wash., where it was built. The Astoria cost $11,951,000 and is within the 10,000-ton treaty limit. Aluminum and stainless steel plates are welded instead of riveted. The armament includes nine eight-inch guns, eight five-inch guns, two triple torpedo tubes and four seaplanes. (Associated Press Photo)

'Electric' Woman Puzzles Scientists

ACCUSED LAWYERS FACE ICKES

The two lawyers who faced disbarment proceedings before Supreme court commissioners in Chicago are shown with one of their attorneys at the hearing where Secretary of the Interior Ickes accused Lucius J. Malm in with having sought to blackmail him into obtaining an appointment for Malm as governor of the Virgin Islands. Left to right: Malm, F. J. Karasek, an attorney, and C. W. Larsen, the second lawyer accused. (Associated Press Photo)

FATHER MEETS ACCUSED YOUTH

In a dramatic meeting in the West Los Angeles police station, Lucius F. Payne, who had just flown from St. Louis, met his son, Louis, 21, who was under arrest on charges of having beat to death his mother and younger brother with a handaxe. The bereaved parent (right) and Louis, who said he didn't know why he had committed the crime, are shown in the police station. (Associated Press Photo)

GETTLE KIDNAPERS ENTER SAN QUENTIN FOR LIFE

FOUNDATION FOR BRIDGE LAID

Millions of cubic yards of sand dredged from San Francisco bay bottom are going into the fill of the Oakland or eastbay approach of the San Francisco-Oakland bridge. This aerial view shows the bridge foundation piles in the foreground and the fill to the left of the railroad tracks. (Associated Press Photo)

Sails To Record

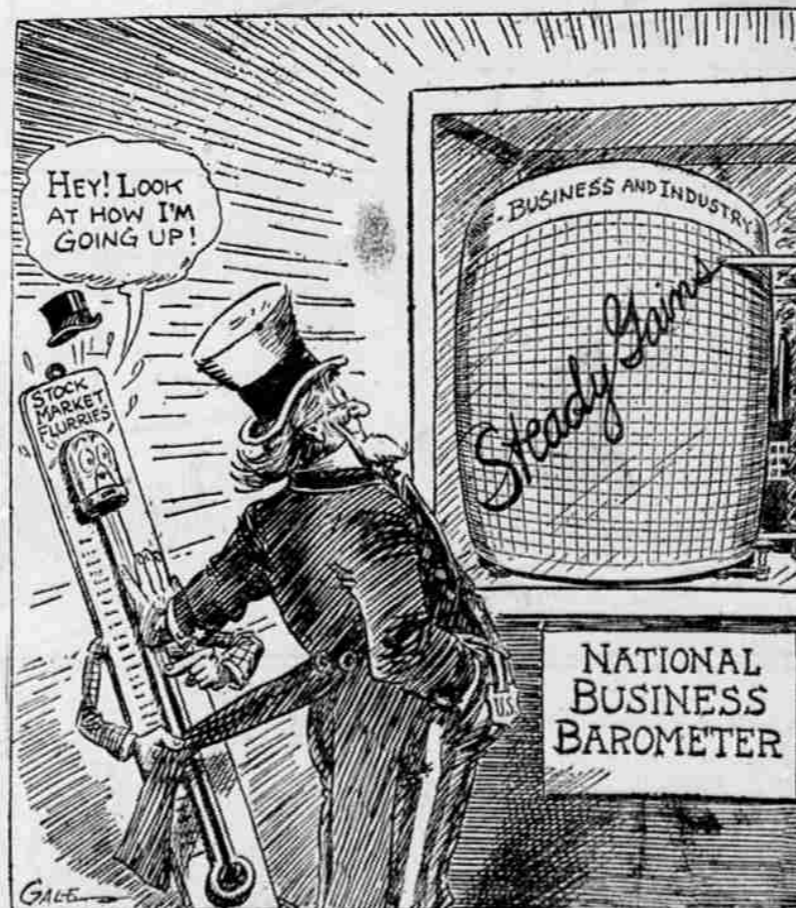

Harold Dillingham, Hawaiian sportsman, sailed his 76-foot schooner Manuwa from Honolulu to Los Angeles in 15 days, breaking all sailing records for an eastbound trip. Dillingham, pictured in Los Angeles, made the crossing preparatory to participating in the Los Angeles-Honolulu yacht race starting July 4. (Associated Press Photo)

HOPES TO STRENGTHEN WHITE SOX

DANCING GOWNS OF FILM STARS

Ann Dvorak (left), screen actress, is wearing a formal gown of lustrous sheer white crepe. The skirt of this simply designed gown is just a shade longer in back than in front, and lends itself to dancing without tripping. A blue embroidered organdie, with a pleated flounce edging the hem of the long skirt is favored by Claire Trevor (right) for dancing. (Associated Press Photos)
