While no official announcement was made, court house reports said the grand jury would resume its session in a week, to hear further testimony in the Pehl "Black Political Plot Exposed" case. E. L. Pich is held in the county jail and May Murray is out on $1000 bonds, charged with criminal libel for alleged distribution of the pamphlets. LEACH RESIGNS POST AS DEPUTY

Deputy Sheriff Ed F. Leach, connected with the sheriff's office for the past year, yesterday submitted his resignation.

No reason for the action was given, but it is said, to have been due to the so-called "Jacksonville incident," of two weeks ago, in which Deputy Leach sustained a fractured hand, and a blackened eye. The versions of officers and Jacksonville citizens conflict.

Fred Kelly, jailer, who accompanied Deputy Leach on the Jacksonville trip resigned the first of the week. Sheriff Olmscheid said yesterday, that no deputy would be named to fill Leach's place for the present.

Leach will continue in his present post until the middle of the month. He is a witness in a number of criminal cases and matters pending, which will require his attendance.

PARDON PROMISED SCHERMERHORN AT END OF 6 MONTHS

loyal friends. This court has been sympathetic, because it has felt he was a dupe and misled. The court wishes it could do more for you now. The court has met you more than half way.

"If Mr. Schermerhorn was alone involved, the court would have no hesitancy in granting a parole. But there are others. Society must be protected. The court will approve the recommendations for a conditional pardon at the end of six months, in which the attorney general and the district attorney concur. The court feels the ends of justice will be met, and society protected, by the course it has taken."

State Not "Vindictive" Assistant Attorney General Moody, in a short address to the court, said: "The state is not vindictive, but it wants a full measure of justice, as a warning to others that the conditions that brought about the present situation shall never prevail in this county again."

The assistant attorney general told the court, "It is true that Mr. Schermerhorn enjoyed a good reputation up to the time of the ballot thefts. He had a fair and impartial trial and was convicted by residents of his own county."

Attorney Moody reminded the court that Mr. Schermerhorn received a measure of leniency, in that he received a year less sentence than other defendants.

The court room was only moderately filled for the proceedings, which lasted half an hour. Many came in the expectations of being witnesses. Among the interested spectators were Mrs. Electa A. Pehl and Mrs. J. Arthur LaDieu, wives of ballot theft defendants now in the penitentiary.

The general sentiment in the city and county was that the decision of the court was wise, and justice had been admirably tempered with mercy.

The Schermerhorn case is the last of the ballot theft cases. He was sentenced August 7 last and has been at liberty since on bonds pending settlement of an appeal to the state supreme court. He was recently denied a hearing by that tribunal.

Now 68 years of age, Schermerhorn has lived for 40 years in this city and county, as farmer and contractor, well known and respected. Up to the time of his association with Agitators Banks and Pehl, there never was a blemish on his reputation.

However, he became deeply involved in the intrigues of this pair and, like others now expiating their crime, fell under their baneful influence, to his present sorrow. He now comes under the grim mandate of the law, and hundreds of Jackson county residents feel he is "more sinned against than sinner."

Many addressed letters to the court asking that a parole be granted.
