

YOU'LL SEE TOGS LIKE THESE ON THE BEACHES THIS SUMMER

Swimming, beach games and basking in the sun are next on the calendar, and these film players are wearing stylists' newest offerings for such pleasures. Blanca Vischer (left) favors a one-piece swimming suit with trunks of navy blue and the upper part of the suit in light blue, red and white. A beach swagger costume of heavy pique is worn by Suzanne Kaaren (center). White and blue stripes outline the collar and cuffs. There is a red, white and blue band around her large white pique hat. Claire Trevor (right) is wearing a practical swimming suit of bright yellow wool. The side straps and shoulder straps, which tie in back, are of green rubberized silk. (Associated Press Photos)

JUNE GETS CONGRATULATORY NOTES

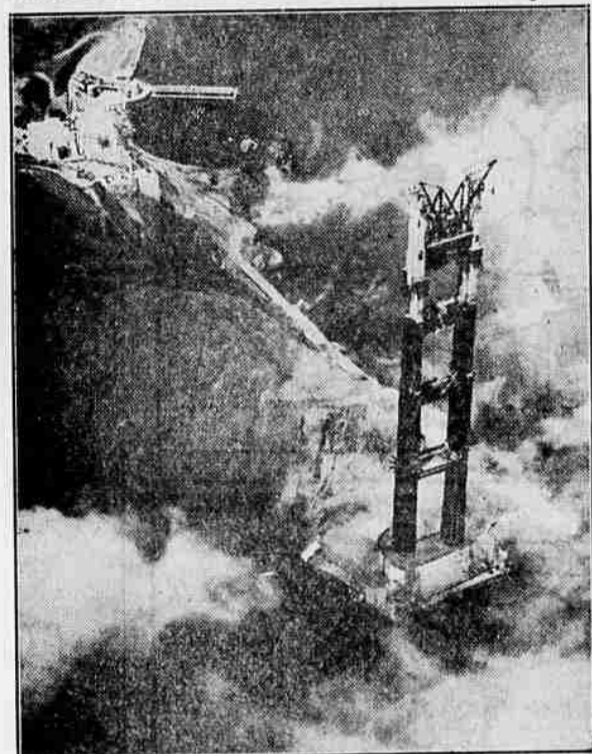

Six-year-old June Robles, who was held by kidnapers in a coffin-like box on the desert near Tucson, Ariz., is shown reading messages she received from persons in many parts of the world. She is holding one sent by William F. Gettle, Beverly Hills, Cal., millionaire who was rescued from kidnapers the same day she was found. (Associated Press Photo)

A GIFT TO THE PRESIDENT

This portrait of Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, was presented as a surprise gift to the chief executive. The painting, finished only recently by the Polish artist, Tade Styka, now hangs in Mr. Roosevelt's study in the White House. (Associated Press Photo)

BRIDGE TOWER LOOMS ABOVE CLOUD

Few sightseers get this "seagull" view of the gigantic Marin tower of San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge. It is the highest bridge structure in the world and is shown rearing its head above the banks of fog 787 feet above the waters of the Golden Gate. (Associated Press Photo)

May Get Party Post

Walter S. Hallahan of Charleston, W. Va., republican national committeeman for West Virginia, is mentioned as a possible choice to succeed Everett Sanders as national chairman of the party. Sanders' successor will be chosen in Chicago June 5. (Associated Press Photo)

FLIERS HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Capt. Maurice Ross (left) and Lieut. Paul Codros, the French transatlantic fliers, joined America's tribute to her ward dead on Memorial day as they placed a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington national cemetery. (Associated Press Photo)

POLICE CLUBBED IN HECTIC MINNEAPOLIS RIOTS

These pictures provide striking views of the action in Minneapolis riots during a strike of truck drivers. The exciting scene at top shows policemen and strikers slashing away at each other with clubs, pipes and other weapons, and below a policeman and a striker are shown lying prone on the street after being knocked out. (Associated Press Photos)

Drinks Poison

Ramon S. Wilson (above), San Francisco broker, was dead in Reno, Nev., after drinking from a bottle which had been filled with a deadly poison. According to Reno's chief of police, Wilson had previously given a fatal drink to a taxi cab driver and then took the poison himself as arrest neared. (Associated Press Photo)

Slugs For Seals

Lennie Backer, second baseman for the San Francisco Seals, is one of the club's best batsmen in the current pennant race. (Associated Press Photo)

Displaces Vare

The reign of William S. Vare as republican leader in Philadelphia came to an end with the election of Edwin R. Cox (above) as chairman of the city committee. Cox was a leader in the movement to displace Vare.

NORTHERNERS TRY CUBAN GAME

Jai-alai, Cuba's favorite sport, is finding popularity at northern beach resorts. Marian I. Dunstan, New York debutante, is shown serving the ball during a game at a fashionable club at Atlantic Beach, N. Y. (Associated Press Photo)

IN ENGLAND TO ELUDE KIDNAPERS

Chancellor Dollfus

Three attempts to kidnap members of his family from his home at Beverly Hills, Cal., were told by E. L. Cord (right), auto and airplane magnate, to English friends. Cord, with Mrs. Cord (left) and their four children, have been in England since mid-April in apparent efforts to avoid dangers of kidnaping. (Associated Press Photos)

New NRA Chief

Donald Renshaw (above) has been appointed regional director of the NRA for California, Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado. He was formerly an attaché of Gen. Hugh Johnson's staff in Washington. (Associated Press Photo)

BOMB EXPLODES IN POSTOFFICE

Burton S. Gowles (right), superintendent of the dead letter division of the postoffice in Washington, is shown examining fragments of a bomb that exploded in the hands of Myrton Genung, a clerk, as he opened a dead letter package. The explosion shattered one of Genung's hands. (Associated Press Photo)