MORATORIUM FOR FARM MORTGAGES TO SAVE CAPITAL

Small Minority Will Have to Go Into Bankruptcy to Keep Homes Is F. C. A. Chief's View of Measure

WASHINGTON, July 3—(AP)—William I. Myers, governor of the farm credit administration, said today only a "very slight minority" of farmers will "have to go into bankruptcy to save their homes" under the Frazier-Lemke act giving a partial six year moratorium on farm mortgages.

The measure was signed Friday by President Roosevelt. He expressed the opinion that "losses of capital will not greatly exceed, if they exceed at all, the losses that would be sustained if this measure were not signed."

Myers, in a statement, said the legislation fits in with the farm credit program "since its attempt to prevent occasional selfish creditors from foreclosing on distressed farm debtors."

Its Farm Credit Plan. Myers, in a statement, said the legislation fits in with the farm credit program "since its attempt to prevent occasional selfish creditors from foreclosing on distressed farm debtors."

Loans 5 Per Cent. "Loans by the land bank commission have been made, and will continue to be made, up to 75 per cent of the normal value of farms," he said.

At that time more than one-half of all the farms in the country were free from mortgages. The ten per cent of the farms mortgaged for 70 per cent or more of their value has been cut to an even smaller per cent since last year by the refinancing program, thus diminishing to exceptional cases the number of possible applicants for bankruptcy under the Frazier-Lemke bill.

SCHERMERHORN'S COMMITMENT IS FILED IN COURT

An order of commitment on the supreme court mandate, dismissing the appeal of Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff of Jackson county and last of the 21 men accused of participation in the ballot thefts not imprisoned or on parole, was filed in circuit court yesterday by the attorney general's office.

Schermerhorn was granted a stay of 14 days by the court, when his three-year sentence was confirmed last Saturday by Judge George F. Skipworth of Eugene. The court, the attorney general and district attorney concurring, recommended that Schermerhorn be granted a conditional pardon after serving six months in state prison. The attorney general's office concurred "with the distinct understanding that he not apply for a parole in the meantime."

July 15 is the zero day for Schermerhorn to enter the penitentiary, and the pioneer resident has expressed the wish to friends that he be allowed to go to Salem on his own recognizance and present his own commitment papers to the warden. The 14-day stay of execution was granted to he could place his affairs in order.

The order remanding Schermerhorn to state prison, with clemency in six months, was generally regarded throughout the county as one of wisdom and justice. The granting of a parole was viewed by state and county officials as the probable signal for demands that Earl H. Fehl, former county judge, Walter J. Jones, former mayor of Rogue River, and J. Arthur LaDieu, former business aide of L. A. Banks, be accorded the same right. The vote-stealing prisoners were watching with interest the outcome of the Schermerhorn plea. All are serving four-year terms.

Thomas Brechen of Ashland, sentenced to 18 months on the same charge, is eligible for discharge the first week of August.

During the remaining period of grace, Schermerhorn is at liberty on the $7500 bonds invoked during the appeal period.

Judge Skipworth, in affirming the three-year sentence, expressed sympathy with Schermerhorn, and said: "I would have no hesitancy in granting a parole if you alone were involved, because I feel you have learned your lesson." The court remarked: "There is no question of passive guilt. He was there, and knew what was going on." The court reiterated that the defendant was the dupe of Fehl, and "was sheriff in name only, and it was never intended to be otherwise."

HIGGINS VISITS STRIKE SCENE

Latest reports on the strike situation in Portland were brought to Medford this week by Ted Higgins, district manager in southern Oregon for the General Petroleum corporation. The big tanker "Tejon" of the General Petroleum tank fleet, which has figured prominently in recent news, was visited by Mr. Higgins in company with At Horn, division manager in Portland.

"While in Portland, Mr. Horn emphasized the fact that the General Petroleum corporation has taken no sides in the strike controversy," Higgins said today. "Our company has unloaded fuel oil and other petroleum products actually needed for institutions, such as hospitals, absolutely dependent upon them. It is with the idea of this public service, rather than any effort to weaken either side in the strike that General Petroleum has unloaded products at the Portland docks."
