Fugitive Lovers

All the sensations of a rapid, thrilling cross-country trip are promised in "Fugitive Lovers," starring Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans, which opens at the Studio theater today.

In addition to authentic scenes shot from a great Greyhound bus as it actually sped from New York to Hollywood, the audience will also see the most daring prison break and thrilling man-hunt ever screened.

Today's program will also include the Billy Symphony technique sequel to "The Three Little Pigs," "The Big Bad Wolf," which has two new members in the cast, Little Red Riding Hood and Grandma.

"House of Rothschild" Opens at Craterian Today

"The House of Rothschild," which comes here heralded as the outstanding success in George Arliss' successful career, opens its three-day run at the Craterian theater today. The film, which traces the rise of the famous European banking family from obscurity in Germany, to the position of national prominence it had gained at the end of the Napoleonic wars, presents George Arliss in two roles—first as Mayer Rothschild, the father of the five brothers who made the name celebrated, and later as Nathan Rothschild, the brother who founded the English branch of the family.

Featured in support of Arliss are Boris Karloff, as the wicked Baron Ledrantz, Loretta Young who plays his daughter, and Robert Young, his fiancée and aide to the Duke of Wellington. Others in the impressive cast are C. Aubrey Smith, Helen Westly, Arthur Byron, Florence Arliss, Reginald Owen and Alan Mowbray.

Roxy Is Showing "Berkeley Square"

With Leslie Howard playing the leading role in which he originally created a sensation on the London and New York stages, "Berkeley Square" opens at the Roxy theater today.

Unique in its theme, a fervid love story intermingling fantasy and reality in a romance which bridges two centuries and overcomes the barriers of time, "Berkeley Square" was produced on the lavish scale.

Leslie Howard who has a difficult role to portray, is said to give an inspired performance that outdoes any of his former roles. Heather Angel who is seen opposite Howard plays her most important role.
