

STRIKE VIOLENCE AND FOOD FAMINE LOOM ON HORIZON

tion of more than 600,000, stood in imminent danger of complete physical isolation in case the fast spreading strikes extended to ferry transportation agencies. Already the highways leading into the city from the southward were blocked by strike pickets determined to stop commercial activity.

The southward entrance to San Francisco, being a peninsula scarcely four miles wide between the bay and the ocean, was a virtual bottle-neck which could be closed with ease.

Supplies Scarce
The city had enough fresh meat, fruit and vegetables to last perhaps three days, and enough tinned and other non-perishable food to withstand a siege of 20 to 30 days. Milk trucks still were running and bakery wagons continued to operate, but there was no assurance as to how long this would continue.

Two thousand California national guardsmen continued to hold the state-owned San Francisco waterfront in a military camp. Scattered instances of violence continued elsewhere in the city and the police mobilized for extra duty. The plans of Acting Governor Frank F. Merriam were awaited anxiously as to whether he would extend the national guard lines farther into the city in case of recurring disorder.

Besides the striking longshoremen and marine workers, more than 6000 union men already were on strike in the bay area, about 5000 more were ready to join them Saturday and the Central Labor Council's strike "strategy" committee called a session at mid-afternoon to determine its recommendations for the 65,000 union men in the city. A general strike recommendation was commonly expected.

The east bay cities, including Oakland and Alameda, were similarly situated, with thousands of union men already on strike and others awaiting advice from the Alameda County Labor Council as to their future course. There are about 45,000 union men in the east bay district.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—(AP)—Urging immediate acceptance of arbitration by the striking maritime unions, President Roosevelt's labor disputes board today declared that if the strikers and employers cannot be brought together some other means must be found at once to avert a complete tieup of bay district cities, already menaced by the shortage of food and gasoline supplies.

"We have got to get them together on arbitration at once or find some other solution," declared Oscar K. Cushing, San Francisco attorney and member of the board, as it began further conferences with the maritime trades representatives.

Expect Word Soon
Cushing said the board expected to hear from the employers shortly on whether they would submit to arbitration involving all the striking organizations. The employers previously had agreed to arbitration on the controversy with the International Longshoremen's association, concerning wages, hours and the operation of the hiring agencies.

Acts of violence continued, while the strike spread with 2500 taxicab drivers and chauffeurs walking out at 5 a. m. The taxicabs were absent from San Francisco streets, giving the thoroughfares, decorated with flags and gay bunting for the recent Knights Templar convale, a strange appearance.

At Oakland a mob described by police as hoodlums and alleged communists, stormed six theaters and restaurants. The men made futile attempts to enter three Chinese cafes, then forced operators of Talks Bar, to close their doors.

Attorneys File
Girls at a burlesque showhouse at Eighth and Washington streets fled to safety with the approach of the hoodlums and the manager locked the doors. Four youths, alleged members of the mob, were arrested and charged with inciting a riot.

As shelves of grocery stores here were depleted, 15 cases of dysentery in a Leavenworth street apartment were reported by Dr. J. C. Geiger, city health officer.

Dr. Geiger blamed the malady either on "antiquated food from dusty shelves" or contaminated water. "Unless people are very careful this strike is going to cause a lot of food poisoning," Dr. Geiger warned.

Ray of Hope Seen
A ray of hope for the labor disputes board was seen in a statement issued by Thomas G. Plant, representing the waterfront employers, who declared they would meet the unions for purposes of collective bargaining. Plant insisted, however, the unions should determine who should represent them.

The longshoremen and sailors have insisted upon control of the hiring halls and the labor disputes board was reported as endeavoring to get concessions on the matter. As they began a conference with the board, however, some representatives of the maritime workers intimated there was no absolute necessity for the hiring halls.

But they insisted the company-controlled agencies, derisively called "pink halls" by seafaring men, must be abolished before. Only 25 percent of seamen hired on the Pacific coast obtain their jobs through the halls, they said.

GAS AND OIL CO-OP ORGANIZED HERE TO AID FARMERS

cept to the grocers and farmers who belong, and all savings and profit, over and above operating expenses, are returned to the members in the form of dividends.

Mr. Carpenter reported this morning that completed plans for the local cooperative will be brought about next week, and expressed the hope that all persons and firms actually engaged in the production of crops in Jackson county will become associated with the organization. Arrangements have been made for the securing of a plant, equipment, trucks and gas and oil.

During the past two days, the establishment of a cooperative was completed in Eugene, and by virtue of the success which these organizations have had in the three western states, since their inception, it is believed that the local organization will be equally successful, it is said.

"Every farmer and orchardist to whom we have spoken regarding our future plans has been very enthusiastic," stated Mr. Carpenter this morning, "and we have every reason to believe that we shall have no difficulty in signing up a big majority of those engaged in agricultural pursuits in Jackson county, for the reason that the cooperative will be of extreme benefit to our farmers and orchardists."

Anyone interested in joining is asked to wait a few days until further announcements are made. Those sponsoring the new organization here include: Leonard Carpenter, Harry Marx, Paul Scherer, Richard Straum, A. S. V. Carpenter, Col. Gordon Voorhies, Captain S. M. Tuttle, A. E. Brookway, H. S. Deuel and Charles A. Wing.

OWEN DEFIES JINX; CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

James H. Owen, general manager of the Owen-Owen Lumber company was honoring his birthday today on Friday the Thirteenth. He was born on Friday the Thirteenth, in Wisconsin—the exact number of years ago, he refuses to state. Friends say it is close to 65 years. He has never regarded Friday the Thirteenth as an unlucky day.

Owen attended a dance and party of the 4-L's last night and he was forced to stay until after midnight. So those in attendance, including most of his employees, could congratulate him.

Burns and Allen Now at Craterian
With George Burns and Gracie Allen careening their dizzy way through hilarious adventures, Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians producing their incomparable music, Yolanda and Veloz whirling through intricate dance steps, and Joan Marsh and Ray Milland billing and cooing, "Many Happy Returns," which opened last night at the Craterian theater, is a veritable four-ring circus of motion picture entertainment.

What a lot of trouble our Gracie finds her way in and out of this time! When the picture opens she's busy tearing a department store down to make a sort of an annex to the zoo. She explains to her father that she thinks it would be a cute idea to build a bird sanctuary to replace the store.

Baffling Mystery "The Lone Cowboy" At Roxy Saturday

"Lone Cowboy," the story of a killer's regeneration through the love of a child, which has tow-headed Jackie Cooper of "Sappy" fame as the star, is coming to the Roxy theater.

In addition to young Cooper, the picture, which was directed by Paul Sloane from his own original story, suggested by Will James' famous book, features Lila Lee, Addison Richards, John Wray and Gavin Gordon. It tells the story of Scooter O'Neil, played by Jackie, who is lifted suddenly from his tenement home in Chicago to the wide open spaces of Nevada.

Here he is reluctantly accepted by

"The Lone Cowboy" At Roxy Saturday

With characteristic childlike innocence, Scooter tries to prevent a murder, almost at the cost of his own life, and wins himself a lifelong place in the heart of the man who has learned to love him.
