Clever Comedy Team at Craterian

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, in days when knighthood was in flower, Wheeler and Woolsey proceed around the last week. Among the crowd with Thelma Todd and Dorothy Lee, Noah Berry offers a big surprise in staging a number with gusto and a fine voice.

W. D. Coburn spent the week end with his family. Harry McIntyre has joined the Union-Creek CCC.

Little Billy Coburn, who tries his best to fulfill his daddy's place during his absence, has waged a campaign against coppers raiding the family garden. Billy uses poison barley and finds it highly effective, but was surprised when he discovered one of their 60-pound porkers sacrificed for the cause.

James Thomas is helping Gus Dittworth with his haying.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vaughn and sons attended a birthday party honoring Mrs. Vaughn's mother, Mrs. Dave Pence, last Sunday.

It is reported that local camp grounds are enjoying increased business over the last several years. Flashing is also steadily improving and good catches of steelheads are now being made.

A love story, vividly human, packed a fine sentimental wallop and taking fine advantage of many lesser elements, is what you can expect in "Glamour," now at the Rialto theater. It is both romantic and dramatic, yet not lacking in comedy.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kurta, are located in Mr. Hogg's cabin by the bridge, where they are contemplating making their home for the coming winter. Mrs. Kurta is a sister to Dale and Jim Sawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. DeHaas, here recently. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Moore of Butte Falls were recent callers here.

Miss Burdette Dunnington and Miss Frances Clark have returned from a camping trip at Central's swimming hole.

John Huemera and crew have been busy the past week and this week threshing his crop of wheat and barley.

John Coffman of Yuba City, Cal., visited relatives here the first part of the month.

M'ADDOO DIVORCE TOO FAST, THINKS SUPERIOR JUDGE

One of the outstanding points in the picture's realism, dealing with a situation which almost every man and woman has either experienced or dreamed about. The story opens with a girl who wants both a career in the theater and, at the same time, loved. Constance Cummings, in the role of Linda, a small-time chorus girl, manages to achieve a friendship with Paul Lukas, a successful and glamorous composer. Comes fame, romance, marriage and a baby. A big timer now, she is attracted to Phillip Reed, playing the part of Lorenzo Valenti, whom she discovers in a Bohemian cafe, and induces the manager to give him a job in her show. Lukas sacrifices his hopes for happiness when the two confess their love and consent to divorce. Then to London, where Valenti's success and mode of life parallels Linda's rise to fame. Then comes the punch of the return, in which Linda, disillusioned, returns to America only to find everything in a turmoil.

Has injured spine—F. H. Baker of Gold Hill is in the Community hospital receiving treatment for an injured spine, suffered yesterday afternoon when he fell 25 feet, at a gold mine in that section. He was reported resting easily this afternoon.

Henry Orvi, attorney for Mrs. McAdoo said: "Each step was taken according to the rules of court and law. Under the rules it could have been done even faster. If Judge Collier wants to investigate he is perfectly at liberty to do so."
