

BARTLETT PICKING IN FULL SWING BY MONDAY MORNING

Harvesting of the Bartlett crop of the Rogue River valley is scheduled to start in all the orchards of this section next Monday and final preparations were underway today, among the trees, and in the packing plants. Distribution of lug boxes was made this week. In some of the light soil orchards in the Central Point district, and the northeast sections picking started yesterday and today.

Packers and growers state that most of the cannerly Bartletts have been sold at prices ranging from $30 to $35 per ton. Most of the cannerly pears went at the higher prices. The Bartlett tonnage for canneries is estimated at 15,500.

County Horticulturist Lyle P. Wilcox estimates that there will be less cullage in the pears than last year, and says the pears, all varieties, are in exceptionally good shape and of high quality. It is his opinion that more better grade pears will be packed and marketed this year than in the past five years.

The worm pest this season, the county horticulturist says, has not been especially bothersome.

Horticulturist Wilcox also estimates that the apple crop this season will be larger than last season—between 400 and 450 cars. The apples are now assuming good sizes, are free from worms, and have color and quality.

Threshing of wheat and barley is now underway in many sections of the valley. The crop output varies in different sections from below normal to above normal.

Cocktails used in moving pictures are made with colored water.

Large Lawn Party Honors Mrs. Hamill

Mrs. Louise A. Salade, Sr., and Mrs. Salade, Jr., are entertaining this afternoon with a 1 o'clock luncheon and bridge at their country place at Seven Oaks, in compliment to Mrs. Phillip W. Hamill of New York, who is visiting in the valley.

For the luncheon, one long table was placed on the lawn and Mrs. H. D. McCaskey artistically arranged as a centerpiece a medallion of stinnies with rows of gladioli extending the length of the table.

Sixty guests have been invited for the afternoon, including all of the members of the Colony club, and a number of other friends.

Garden Club Display At Grants Pass Attractive

The gladioli show at the chamber of commerce in Grants Pass, being conducted by the Garden club of that city, has been attracting much attention since the opening yesterday and a number of Medford people, including members of the local Garden club, are among those viewing the exhibit.

Of the show, Louise DeVoe of the Grants Pass Courier has written: "The two varieties are the 'Mother Machree' and 'English Wonder'. The latter is a soft and faintly striped purple, but the former is as 'changeable as the sunset' to quote one of the growers of 'Mother Machree', is indescribable. Somehow it calls to mind pusanwylows in January, an angry ocean at dawn, and the calm of Whistler's painting of his mother.

Even the men who depend upon growing gladioli bulbs for their living stop to marvel at 'Mother Machree'.

"The 'glad' show will be held probably until Saturday, as a number of the growers have agreed to replenish the flowers when the first ones have become wilted. Mention has also been made of giving complimentary bouquets to callers the last day of the show."

LAMPMAN WILL SETTLE ESTATE

E. A. Lampman, aged Beagle resident, who was in an auto with his wife, Rusha Lampman, when she sustained fatal injuries in an accident at Agate Junction ten days ago, was yesterday named administrator of her estate. A daughter, Mrs. Beulah Jones, lives at Minerva, Ore., and is the only other heir. Preliminary papers in the settlement of the estate were also filed.

An order was also filed authorizing the acceptance by the estate of a settlement by Goetz and McEwan, owners of the truck, for damages in the crash. The motion stated the settlement was for the best interests of all concerned, "it is doubtful if any liability rests with the truck operators."

SCHERMERHORN SLATED FOR JOB ON PRISON FARM

Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff and long time resident of Jackson county who yesterday entered the state prison at Salem to serve a three year sentence for ballot theft, complies with the official promise of a conditional pardon at the expiration of six months, will be assigned to work on the prison farm, according to word received by local authorities. He will be held in the "fish cell" for a week to become accustomed to prison routine and rules.

The prison farm is in charge of Toke Brous, who as a boy played around a Hitler stable owned by Schermerhorn here. Farm work will take the former official out into the open and give him the same employment at which he spent many years of his life. He knows horses and farm machinery.

Schermerhorn left on a Wednesday evening auto bus after bidding good-bye to friends. He accepted the conditional pardon at the court house and assured acquaintances that he would return, as the court asked him, "with his head up."

Thomas Brechen, former Ashland resident, and formerly one of the "county jail's star boarders," sentenced to serve 18 months upon a plea of guilty to ballot theft, will complete his sentence the first week in August, when he has served a year, and is eligible by authorities to be released.

Brechen was credited by authorities as "an outside guard" on the night of the ballot theft, and one of the "heavy thinkers" in its planning.

Local authorities report E. H. Fehl, Walter J. Jones, former mayor of Rogue River, and J. Arthur LaDieu, business aide of L. A. Banks, have all made formal application for parole. Granting of same until they have served the minimum of their four year sentences, is held unlikely. LaDieu is regarded as a model prisoner, and is a valuable worker in an important position.

Curt Burnside, eccentric dancer and vocalist, and Rene Secant, comedian, will also present a ventriloquist act.

Japan annually harvests from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 of raw sea products, including kelp, seaweed and other plant and animal life.

NEFF WILL GO EAST IN EFFORT TO SPEED IRRIGATION REFUND

Attorney Porter J. Neff, representing the Medford irrigation district will leave this week-end for Washington, D. C., where he will participate in the effort to speed the Reconstruction Finance corporation re-funding plan, amounting to $400,000.

A clerical force has been engaged all this week in preparing charts, and other information which Attorney Neff will carry for presentation to the R. F. C. board.

Oien Arnsperger, general manager of the district, and directors, and others interested feel that by having a man on the grounds much time will be saved in making the final approval. It will eliminate the time and expense of writing and writing between this city and the national capital, on minor details, that can be supplied by Attorney Neff.

All concerned are interested in concluding the project, which has been underway for several months.

Irrigation authorities estimate as much as 165,000 gallons of water evaporate daily from an irrigation ditch 10 miles long in southern California during warm weather.

French air rules recently were made more strict because of accident fear on the part of the air ministry.

Becomes 'Iron Fist' In Hitler's Regime

The sheriff's office continued today to appoint and swear in special deputies as a "purely precautionary measure to protect orchard property and packing plants, and the produce thereof. Sheriff Walter J. Olmscheid said that ere the day was done, close to 250 special deputies would be named.

All of the special deputies are employed in orchards and packing plants, and serve without pay. Many have homes and families, and are substantial citizens.

Oregon law gives the sheriff the right to appoint special deputy sheriffs. Sheriff Olmscheid today again stressed the point that the action is only one of safety first, and to prevent any "possibility of an infraction of the peace and prosperity. It is now the policy of all Pacific Coast points, with harvests at stake, to take similar emergency steps," he said.

It is the consensus in the county, which includes a majority of the workers that the fruit crop should not at this time be imperiled by discord or agitation. All classes are emphatic that no turmoil, sabotage, or agitation nonsense be tolerated. The mood of the majority is calm, recognizes the rights of all, but feels, it is well to be prepared. A similar tenor is reflected in the attitude of many interested in the formation of the "Agricultural and Cannery Workers' Union," by a Douglas county organizer. They have publicly declared they sanction no violence, or untoward act, and all they want, "is a

SHERIFF ADDING MORE DEPUTIES TO INSURE PEACE

Many orchardists have stated that they would be willing to pay a higher wage if possible, but that financial, marketing and other conditions make this impossible. Many workers realize this position of the orchardists and have shown a helpful spirit.

Constituted authority has announced that the first signs of any fruit harvesting or marketing will be dealt with firmly under the laws made and provided.

Orchardists and packers have announced they will employ only local help, and report there is plenty of it.
