

PICKETS FAIL IN EFFORT TO HALT GAS DELIVERIES

marked here, and they will be counted by the mediation board, which will announce the result.

Although it had been anticipated that harbor work might be suspended here during the balloting, police headquarters this morning sent squads of regular and special officers to the waterfront where special operations were planned.

Preparations were being made, police said, to load lumber on the steamer Wisconsin, to move general cargo on the freighter Walter Luckenbach, to continue loading the British steamer Victor City and the steamer San Julian; to put a crew on the McCormick ship Point San Pedro, to unload freight cars at terminals, and to supervise movement of gasoline.

Pickets made a short-lived attempt to halt delivery of gasoline today. After truck drivers had been stopped by pickets and warned not to continue deliveries, orders came from the seamen's union not to interfere with the movement of trucks. It then appeared that no difficulty would be encountered in replenishing the city's fuel supply. Restricted deliveries were made Saturday and Sunday.

One picket was arrested on a charge of obstructing traffic after he had laid down in front of a tank truck in an attempt to halt it.

Miss Stadelman Wed to Mr. Quast of Central Point

An out-of-town wedding of much interest throughout Oregon was that at which Miss Joan Stadelman became the bride of Thomas Quast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cordt Henry Quast of Marysville, Wash., solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stadelman of The Dalles. Father O. Nooy read the service last Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock before the fireplace banked with greens and white gladioli and lighted with white tapers in silver candleabra. Mrs. Carlotta P. Williams sang preceding the ceremony and Miss Prudence Patterson played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a princess style dress of ivory satin brocaded in silver and made with a train and her tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of silver leaves. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias. Her attendants, the Misses Ruth Williams and Christine Rice of The Dalles, wore similar frocks of moss crepe made with short puffed sleeves and flared trains, the former in turquoise blue, the latter in dusty pink. Both wore coronets of silver leaves in their hair and carried arm bouquets of gladioli. Mr. George Gutermusen of Seattle acted as best man.

At the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. C. P. Williams, Mrs. Edward Seufert, Mrs. Ben R. Liffin and Mrs. G. C. Moore presided in the dining room. Serving were Mrs. George P. Stadelman and the Misses Geraldine McGrath, Edna Lois Maxon, Mary Condon and Margaret Hodges. Mrs. Stadelman, mother of the bride, was in eggshell satin with a jacket of matching lace, and wore a shoulder corsage of Tullismania roses.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Quast will be at home in Central Point, Ore., where Mr. Quast is in business.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Green, Mrs. Harry E. Northrup, Mrs. Robert Turner, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ebling, Mrs. W. E. Walther, Miss Harriet Kistner, Miss Marge Leonard, Miss Josephine Jenkins and Miss Allie Howell of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Silkmitter of Oakland, Calif.; Miss Bette Church of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. George Clagg and Mr. P. J. Stadelman of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tait and Mr. and Mrs. Teunis J. Wires of Hood River, Mr. George Gutermusen of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Cordt Henry Quast of Marysville, Miss Florence Quast of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mr. Griffith Williams of San Francisco—The Oregon Journal.

Miss Woolridge Weds Douglas Finch Sunday

As a pretty home ceremony, Miss Rachel Woolridge and Douglas Finch of Lakeview were married at a two o'clock service Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Warner on Ivy street. Rev. W. H. Eaton, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony.

The service, held in a room decorated with many lovely blossoms, was attended by the immediate families and close friends of the couple. A reception was held for the 24 guests, immediately afterward.

The groom, who is with the forest service, is a brother of Mrs. Warner.

Miss Brommer Guest in North

The Oregonian of Sunday reports the visit of Miss Louise Brommer of Medford in Portland.

"Miss Amy Jane Congdon and Miss Barbara Ungerman were joint hostesses at a bridge party Thursday night complimenting Miss Louise Brommer of Medford, who is a visitor in the city. Miss Brommer's marriage to Arthur Small of Portland will be an event of September 12 at the bride's home in Medford."

Interesting Program For Ladies' Aid Meet

An interesting program has been arranged by members of the Loyalty Circle, who will be hostesses at a meeting of the Ladies' aid of the First Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the church parlors. The nomination committee will give a report and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. As this can best be accomplished, when the entire Ladies' circle is present, it is desired that every member be there on time. Visitors are welcome.

LEGION JUNIORS OUT OF RUNNING FOR AREA TITLE

Medford's American Legion Juniors were knocked out of the running in their district over the week end by losing two out of a three-game series with the Klamath Falls Juniors on the latter's home diamond.

After dropping the first contest Saturday 4 to 5, when the Klamath Falls boys finally broke a tied game, the local team came back with a 12 to 4 win Sunday morning. Wilson pitched and St. Johnston received in this fray for the locals, while Semler hurled and Schuler and Bonigato worked behind the bat for the Klamath Juniors.

In the third and deciding battle, played Sunday afternoon, the scoring ended at 4 to 7, after a tie in the fifth was broken with a squeeze play by the Klamathites. Pepper pitched until the sixth for the Medford nine, and was relieved by Wilson, who hurled four strikeouts in the next two innings, but it was too late for the locals to redeem themselves. Johnston received also in this game. Reber pitched for Klamath and Crapo did their catching.

SAFETY FOR ANIMALS URGED ON MOTORISTS

For the safety of animals within the city, Jackson County Humane society officials today urged motorists to be particularly careful about speeding within the city. The warning was issued as a result of a dog being run over at the corner of Geneva and Main street this morning.

Those in charge of the Humane Society were pointed out that should a animal be struck, the driver should try and find it, in order that medical attention might be given in case it is needed.
