Galloway, who returned from the national capital today.

Galloway, with Elmer R. Goudy of the state relief committee, were sent to Washington after the governor had been informed by the federal emergency relief administration that Oregon's share would cease after July unless the state had contributed more than already had been done in the past.

JUNGLE THRILLER HEADS ROXY BILL

With the unrelenting ferocity of animals untamed, and the uncompromising cruelty of the jungle itself, "Devil Tiger" crashed across the screen of the Roxy theatre today.

It is the record of a group of people who cut their way through the tangles of the Asiatic jungle, woven by untouched nature for thousands of years.

Colonel Tim McCoy again turns in a sure-fire performance in "Speed Wings," the second feature. Instead of simply presenting a hodgepodge of aerial stunts, this production has a logical, effective theme—the efforts of a band of aviators to win the world's speed record for the United States.

That they succeed—but only after six men have died trying—is due to Colonel Tim McCoy, who is not only an expert aviator, but an inventor of motors as well.

The administration is known to favor development of the nation's air arm along modern lines.

The army chief of staff, General Douglas MacArthur, was at work today whipping together suggestions to hand to President Roosevelt and Secretary Dern, when they return in mid-August. They are expected to form the nucleus of a redrafted air corps program.

NEW FISH LAKE ROAD STARTED IN MORALS TRIAL

Construction started today on a new forest service road from Robinson Butte, west of Big Elk ranger station, which is near Fish Lake, to Dead Indian Soda Springs, Karl Janouh, supervisor of Rogue River National forest, announced today.

The road will shorten the trip from Medford to Fish lake and Lake of the Woods by approximately 30 miles, as all the north and south driving to and from Butte Falls will be eliminated. Construction will extend south of the Soda Springs along the present Dead Indian road, and will afford a fine road to the attractive Soda Springs resort, as well as open a new recreational area.

The main purpose of the road, Mr. Janouh stated, is for fire protection, and in construction it will resemble the new road from Butte Falls to Lake of the Woods.
