

DAVIS CUP HOPES OF AMERICA REST ON SIDNEY WOOD

Drawing for Play, U. S. and Britain Sets Stage for Duel Between New Yorker and Fred Perry, Is View

LONDON, July 27—(AP)—The draw in Davis cup play to begin Saturday between the United States and England today placed Frank Shields against Henry (Bunny) Austin in the first match and Sidney B. Wood against Fred Perry, English ace, in the second match.

In doubles at Wimbledon Monday George Lott and Lester Stoeffen of America will meet Perry and George Patrick Hughes.

Tuesday's first match sees Shields battle Perry. Starting times will be the same as those during the interzone finals matches.

Officials reported a complete sellout of reserved seats.

The experts were pretty well agreed that the job of regaining the Davis cup for the United States rested squarely on the shoulders of slim young Wood.

The magnificent play of the blonde New Yorker in beating Jack Crawford, world's No. 2 ranking star, in the key match of the interzone finals with Australia, leads the critics to believe that Wood, and Wood alone, has a chance to beat Fred Perry, ranked at No. 1 over the world's courts, when England and the United States square off in the challenge round here Saturday.

They concede the United States a doubles victory for George Lott and Lester Stoeffen against any combination of the British on a master. They believe that Henry (Bunny) Austin, England's second ranked star, and Perry can beat Frank Shields, Wood's lanky singles partner. They believe that Wood can beat Austin.

The stage is set then, or so they figure, for a duel between Wood and Perry for the odd match in five and the cup the United States lost to France in 1927. The bookmakers have made the English pair a 2 to 3 favorite, with even money quoted against the Americans' chances.

Putting Practice With A Blindfold. Mary Brownes Idea

CLEVELAND, O.—(AP)—If you are losing nickels and dimes because of your putting you might take the advice of Mary K. Brownes of Cleveland, former Ohio women's golf champion, and one time national tennis title holder.

Miss Brownes insists that the way to learn to putt effectively is to practice blindfolded.

The Cleveland star says she finds that by putting blindfolded she just swings the club, letting the left hand control. She does not close her eyes while putting in real competition, but declares that through her practice she is able to influence the subconscious mind and that she can do a better job on the green in actual play.

Kohler Strikers Routed By Cops

KOHLER, Wis., July 27—(AP)—Seventy-five special deputy marshals of Kohler village today smashed the picket lines besieging the Kohler Manufacturing company, where a strike was in progress, and cleaned out field headquarters of the strikers.

The pickets offered comparatively little resistance, most of them fleeing before the advance of the deputies.

Pickers and packers' tally cards, in large or small quantities, ready for delivery at Job Department Mail Tribune, 25-30 N. Grape.

MARJORIE GOFF TO TEACH SWIMMERS CLASSES AT NAT

Miss Marjorie Goff, former supervisor of the Ashland playground, has accepted the position of assistant supervisor of the local SERA recreational project, under Miss Golda Boone. Miss Goff has been placed in charge of the swimming classes held at Merrick's every Monday and Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m.

Beginners are instructed from 1 to 2, intermediates from 2 to 3, and swimmers from 3 to 4 p. m. An adult class has been organized, which meets from 7 to 8 p. m. Mondays and Thursdays. Each adult must pay a fee of 10 cents for use of the tank, as must children, and both groups are asked to furnish suits and towels.

Either "Sad" Sam Lethers, 207-pound greppier from Dallas, Tex., who took two straight falls from "Broccoli King" Bob Kruse of Oswego, 269, or Al Karasick, 190½-pound Russian muscle-mangler, who took two out of three from Harry Kent, O. S. C. grid star, 236, in the double main event at the Armory last night, will meet "Jumping Joe" Savoldi, ex-Notre Dame football star, here about August 15, after they battle it out between themselves.

This is the plan of Promoter Mack Lillard, who is staking two elimination cards to furnish an opponent for Savoldi.

Lethers used figure-four head scissors to win his match last night, taking the first fall in 14 minutes and the second in four, after knocking the polish off Kruse's performance by literally stepping out of his wristlocks. The tall Texan walked all over the Portland farmer, using his legs principally in making and breaking holds.

He started the show by swinging his lanky left leg over his opponent's head to get free from one of the farmer's painful arm holds, and when Kruse applied another on the mat, the Dallas man proceeded to rub-nose his way out of that one. Lethers again showed how to use a pair of legs when he stood flat-footed on the mat, planted one foot under the brocoli farmer's chin, worked him down to the canvas, and applied the other leg for one of the best arm stretches local fans have seen.

In the first half of the card, Karasick took the odd fall in 45 seconds when he clamped a hammerlock on Kent's arm, weakened by the same hold in the second fall, after 19 minutes of colorful mauling. Kent won the first fall in nine minutes with a series of Sonnenbergs.

Karasick spent a good portion of the bout lying on the canvas with a dangerous gleam in his eye, keeping the Oregon Stater at a loss as to what to do with this type of adversary. The Russian made no bones about applying his teeth to tender portions of Kent's anatomy, and frequently rained flats about his head.

With their double win over Shaw-Bertram last Sunday, Ewauna chalked up their fourth straight victory and will be the decided favorite to trounce a Medford team that has lost its last three games by decisive scores.

At Klamath Falls, the battle for second place will see Clyde Carlson from Ewauna hurling and Blana catching, with a badly shot Medford team nursing Jack Hughes on the mound and Coy back of the plate.

With the 1934 Southern Oregon league pennant safely tucked away as a result of their 5-5 win over Medford last week, Ken Williams' Grana Pass Merchants will entertain Shaw-Bertram next Sunday in the next to last game of the schedule and Medford will journey to Klamath Falls to tangle with the fast stepping Ewauna Red Sox, holders of second place a game in front of Medford.

With nothing to lose, Grana Pass will probably have Frankie Karhart, the promising young southpaw, on the mound, with Bill Nelson, their ace hurler, taking a much earned rest.

At Klamath Falls, the battle for second place will see Clyde Carlson from Ewauna hurling and Blana catching, with a badly shot Medford team nursing Jack Hughes on the mound and Coy back of the plate.

SKYLINE TRAIL IS NEAR COMPLETION

L. H. Smith, recreational technician for the forest service with headquarters in Medford, returned today from Cat Hill lookout station, in the Blue Canyon region, and announces that the skyline trail is now practically complete from the California line to Mt. Hood.

One of the most important recreational areas in the Rogue River national forest is made available by the recent construction of new sections of trail in the Heavenly Twins district, which closed the gap, Smith said.

A crew of 12 men are at present improving the trail from Heavenly Twins north to Snow lakes, opening an area between the southern boundary of Crater Lake National park and Four-
