

PROWLERS RIFLE STRANGS OF FAGS, MONEY, NARCOTICS

Thrd Visitation to Store by Burglars Is Accomplished With Chisel Through Rear - Loss Placed at $125

Merchandise, chiefly narcotics, estimated at a value of $125 was burglarized from Strang's Drug store Friday night. The robbers entered by breaking through the rear door and made a systematic haul from show cases and cabinets.

Over $50 worth of narcotics was taken, the lock of the cabinet in which they were contained being jammed. Other merchandise consisted of perfumes, fountain pens, pencils, and miscellaneous articles such as shaving gum, combs and cold cream.

The robbers, evidently familiar with their surroundings, chiseled the molding from one of the double doors, broke out the glass, and bent back a metal grill, leaving an opening big enough to crawl through.

In securing their loot, the burglars apparently crawled to the front of the store behind the showcases, leaving the windows of which open behind them. The narcotic cabinet was in the rear, where the merchandise was evidently accumulated before the men made their getaway.

City police report that a member of the force forced the front door six times during the night, and noticed that the safe, with the night light burning over it, was unmolesated. The policeman also is said to have passed through the alley several times, but as the rear entrance is blocked off by a shed, the operations of the burglars remained unobserved.

Charles Strang, owner of the store, stated that this is the third time burglars have entered the building, once through a skylight, and the other time by prying off the front door, and it is thought the same men may have returned for Friday night's robbery.

COVER SPRAY ERE AUG. 3 ADVISED

A third cover spray for the control of second brood codling moth worms so be completed by August 3 is thought advisable and is so recommended by L. G. Genter, entomologist, southern Oregon experiment station, and L. P. Wilcox, county agent.

The moth flight has been comparatively high during the last four evenings and beginning about the date mentioned above large numbers of young worms are expected to be attempting to enter the fruits.

Late varieties of pears, all apples and second picking Bartlett should be given protection against these worms.

On apples use arsenate of lead, three pounds to the one hundred gallons of water. On pears the amount of arsenate of lead may be reduced to two pounds to the one hundred.

MCKINLEY SURVEY CITY GOVERNMENT NEAR COMPLETION

Charles McKinley of Portland, representative of the League of Oregon Cities which is conducting a project to gather information on methods used in city government, reported yesterday that his work in Medford, chosen as the "model" city for the class of 10,000 population or over, will be completed Monday.

The league committee, Mr. McKinley said, divided the cities of the state into two other classes, the first consisting of towns approximating 3000 population, and the second of towns of 5000 to 6000 population.

The purpose of the project, he said, is to obtain concrete information on the division of responsibility in these cities' governments, relation of city departments to one another, selection and terms of personnel, and methods used by each department in carrying out its functions, including recording systems.

This information when compiled, will go to the central headquarters in Eugene, where it will be used in answering questions and solving difficulties which arise in other cities. In this way, Mr. McKinley said, the project will be of definite service to the entire state.

From here, where Mr. McKinley has been stationed since Monday, he will probably go to Oregon City, which has been chosen to represent the 500 to 6000 class. He has not been advised what city has been chosen for the smaller classes.

Mr. McKinley stated that he has received most courteous cooperation from local officials, to whom he expressed his appreciation.

MEMORIAL STAMPS ON SALE MONDAY

The stamp is of the three-cent denomination, and pictures on a purple background the landing of the French discoverer, Nicolet, on the shores of Green Bay, Wis., in 1634.

Of interest to stamp collectors, Mr. DeSouza said, is the fact that some of the new stamps are not perforated along the tops or sides, as they are manufactured in sheets of 50 without perforations on these edges.

YOSEMITE COLD FAILS TO CHILL BUSY FIRST LADY

YOSEMITE, Calif., July 28.—(AP)—The park rangers have met just about all known varieties of the genus tourist, but those who escorted her are agreed to a man they never saw one quite like the energetic Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now that the first lady has departed for an unknown destination, and the ban of secrecy is lifted, the story is leaking out around the valley how she spent her three-day "rest" among the lofty mountain crags of this national park.

She helped set up camp, in the first place, at Young's Lake, in the remote Tuolumne Meadows region, and took an interested part in arranging living quarters for herself and her companion, Miss Lorena Hickok of Washington.

After sleeping the first night in her tent, she emerged bright and early in bathing-suit for a dip in the snow-fed waters of the lake.

While she splashed about in apparent enjoyment the braver of the five rangers making up the camp party ventured to follow suit—but only for one morning. The two mornings subsequent she splashed about in the icy swim.

The second night Mrs. Roosevelt abandoned the shelter of her tent, got out her sleeping bag and said, the rangers reported, she "preferred to sleep under the stars." It is cold sleeping in Tuolumne Meadows, but she remained out the third night also.

Of course there was lots of horseback riding, at which the first lady is a veteran. But she said she would like to try a bit of hiking, also, and set off at such a brisk pace the rangers were astonished.

The price for the lumber was to have been delivered in the Panama canal zone, was said to have been $40,249.19.

FIRE REPORTED ON BLACKWELL HILL

Headquarters of the state fire patrol here received word yesterday that a small repetition of the Kane creek fire southeast of Gold Hill evidently starting from sparks flying across a road and covering six or seven acres, chiefly grass and brush, was burning last night below Blackwell Hill.

It was believed that the fire was not serious and could be controlled before doing any damage.

COOL WIND HALTS COAST HEAT WAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—(AP)—Cooling breezes in the inland empire around Spokane and a 10-degree drop in temperatures in southern California checked today a wave of scorching heat which drove the mercury far above the 100 mark in several places yesterday.

Hot weather still was present in the northern area, with thermometer readings at 100 or above in some places but the temperature drop and increased humidity in southern California aided 2,000 fire fighters as they completely surrounded the menacing brush blaze near Pasadena. This fire had threatened the Mount Lowe resort area yesterday.

A light sprinkle of rain fell in Los Angeles and vicinity today, bringing the temperature reading ten degrees below yesterday's high mark of 93.

LABOR WAR RACKS THIS MODEL TOWN

KOHLER, Wis., July 28.—(AP)—Steel-helmeted national guardsmen tonight enforced the peace in this "model" industrial community, torn by strike rioting last night which saw one-time shoulder-to-shoulder workers fighting each other with shotguns and clubs—leaving two dead and 39 wounded.

Picketing continued at the Kohler company where a strike has been in progress 13 days, but the sabotage which set off the blaze of gunfire near sea attack and hand-to-hand fighting was missing.
