

YOUTH, 15, INJURED ACCIDENT DURING FIRE, IS CRITICAL

Robert Robinson Sustains Broken Leg When Caught In Unwinding Hose— Young Ladies Escape Mishap.

Robert Robinson, 15, son of Glenn V. Robinson, garage man, 311 South Oakdale, is in a very critical condition at the Sacred Heart hospital, suffering from numerous fractures and a severe gash in the leg, as an indirect result of a fire at the Hotel Medford Friday night.

Young Robinson was sitting on a bicycle at the curb on the corner of Main and Ivy streets near the hotel when the fire broke out. In answering the call, rounded the corner, stretching hose from another truck which was stopped on Ivy street. The hose pulled taut against a street sign post and dragged Robinson under a car owned by G. W. Keith, which was parked on Main street in front of the hotel.

Dr. A. F. W. Kresse is attending the injured boy.

Mary Van Dyke, 311 North Peach, suffered slight injuries to her arm, also having been hit by the fire hose. Marjorie Puythian, 828 Minnesota, who was standing near Miss Van Dyke and Robinson, managed to evade the hose and was unharmed.

Dr. Kresse stated last night that the condition of young Robinson was "very critical" and that Dr. James C. Hayes of this city and Dr. Eugene Hickey of Portland have been consulted, the latter by telephone.

GLEEMEN REHEARSAL FOR FALL CONCERTS WILL START TUESDAY

In preparation for the regular fall program, the first rehearsal of the Medford Gleemen will be held Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 8 o'clock. Captain M. B. Down of the state police said he knew nothing about it. According to the rumor, the shooting occurred when a state trooper attempted to halt a speeder. The speeder so the story went, resented the interference of the law, and opened fire, escaping in the darkness.

The state police department was kept fairly busy all Saturday morning, denying the wild tale.

It was the first rumor, of any consequence, since the primary election.

EAGLE MEMBERSHIP LIST INCREASING

The membership campaign being conducted by the local Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is meeting with a splendid response according to George Coats and Jack Hueston, directors of the campaign.

Last Friday at the regular meeting of the local lodge thirty new members were accepted into membership and approximately 20 other applications were received which will be voted on at the next meeting. Officers of the local lodge believe this is a good indication as to the final outcome of the campaign with almost fifty members signed up as a result of four days efforts.

"There never was a more opportune time for men to join the Eagles" stated A. H. Barwell, worthy president of the local Aerie, "and the many benefits which go with a membership in the organization should insure us of at least one hundred members during the next two weeks."

Following the meeting last Friday the ladies auxiliary under the leadership of Madam President Thurston entertained the Eagles with a splendid luncheon which was followed by an impromptu dance.

The present membership campaign will conclude on Friday, August 17 and on that night a big initiation ceremony will take place followed by a large dance. Time and place for this affair will be announced later.

HOTEL ROOM FIRE DAMAGE SLIGHT

Fire of unknown origin starting in the linen room of the Hotel Medford, about nine o'clock Friday night, was quickly put under control by the fire department, with practically no loss. The fire was confined to the linen room, and the damage was confined to sheets and bedding, and the woodwork. The linen room is located on the top floor. Many guests of the hotel did not know about the incipient blaze, until Saturday morning. It attracted a large crowd of sightseers, however.

True Fish Story—Lewis Ulrich has a true fish story to tell, which shows that truth is in fact sometimes stranger than fiction. He reports that while fishing in the Rogue at Hardy rifle Friday, he landed a 24-pound chinook salmon on a number six Royal coachman fly. As it is a well-known fact that chinook salmon very rarely take a fly, the feat is a most unusual one. Salmon, it is said, do not eat food from the time they enter fresh water. Friday's incident is the third of its kind that Mr. Ulrich has known in 35 years of fishing experience. He made the catch on a five and one-half ounce fly rod with a small leader, and reported that the fish was full of fight, as it took one hour to land.

$11.25 TON FIXED AS MINIMUM FOR CANNERY TOMATO

Price Applies On Contracts After August 2, And Ex- clude Culls—Growers Pay Control Tax.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A minimum price of $11.25 a ton, delivered, for canning tomatoes contracted for after August 2, has been set by delegates representing 80 per cent of tomato canning and processing plants of Oregon and Washington, it was announced tonight.

Morton Tompkins, chairman of the control committee of the Oregon-Washington melon and tomato marketing agreement, made the announcement.

The price of $11.25 a ton is for field run tomatoes, excluding culls. Contracts previously made will not be disturbed, Tompkins said.

The committee levied a tax of 35 cents a ton on tomatoes to cover committee supervision costs. This tax will be deducted by the canners from checks given growers. The minimum price setting is authorized under the provisions of the agricultural adjustment acts of the two states.

Representatives of the growers on the joint control committee at the recent meeting were: C. Tompkins of Dayton, Ore.; C. Wesley Williams, of Roseburg; H. N. Hampton of Kennebec, Wash., and C. D. Dills of Wapato, Wash.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 4.—(AP) Prices for filberts were set at a meeting here today of representatives of the North Pacific and Oregon Nut Growers' associations, the Eugene Fruit Growers' association and individual growers.

Prices on a delivered basis to the trade were set for the 1934 crop as follows:

Barcelonas—Large, 14¢; fancy, 12½¢; baby, 11½¢.

Duchillys—Large, 16¢; fancy, 14¢; baby, 13¢ per pound.

These prices range about 3 cents less than last year and are based to considerable degree on the competition of nuts imported from Italy to New York.

The Oregon filbert crop is large this year and quality good, officers of the association said.

RESTAURANT CODE OF STATE FACES VALIDITY TESTS

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Injunction to prevent enforcement of the marketing agreement affecting restaurants in Oregon, is asked in a suit filed in circuit court here late today on behalf of R. A. Sawyer, Portland restaurant proprietor. Governor Meier, Max Gehlhar, director of agriculture, and I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general, are made defendants.

Sawyer alleges that the marketing agreement and the act of the special legislative session under which it was adopted, are both in violation of the constitution of the United States with particular reference to the "due process" clause, and of the Oregon constitution, referring specifically to the contract obligation clause. A number of other legal objections to the act and the marketing agreement are cited in the complaint.

Sawyer sets forth that he has not applied for a license under the marketing agreement and is under threat of being prevented from operating his business for this reason. The suit was filed by George A. Rhoden, Salem attorney.
