HOLY GHOST HELD NECESSARY BASIS IN CHURCH POWER

Speaking from the topic last night, "The Prophet's Message on the Divine Spirit," from the local Church of the Nazarene pulpit, Fred M. Weatherford, pastor, challenged the powerlessness of the church today.

Referring to the tireless and extensive missionary labors of the Apostle Paul, he said: "The secret of his success lay in the fact that he was baptized of the Holy Ghost, and his message seized the hearts of the people, like the flash of a timber fire. Paul hurled this question as a challenge to the feeble church at Ephesus, 'Have you received the Holy Ghost since you believed?'

"The Holy Ghost in the spiritual power of the church and without Him it is powerless to effect the work it is called to do. He is the executive of the Trinity in the earth—and the supernatural working power of Christendom. He illuminates the life with the radiance of God and puts glow and romance in Christian service. He is the power that preserves man's union with God.

"The Holy Ghost is to the church what water is to the dynamo. Without it the machinery is powerless, but because of it, light comes to every home, and the wheels of commerce move.

"Picture yonder a beleagured fortress and a besieging army. The defensive bulwark of the enemy is unyielding, save by the firing of the mighty power plant. What fire is to the powder, and ball in the cannon, the Holy Ghost is to Christendom. Without the fire the cannon is nothing more than a cold metallic machine.

"The church is powerless to rescue the world from the snares of atan, except by the crushing, disturbing power effected by Holy Ghost indwelt personalities.

"On the railroad track taands a locomotive—the iron horse of human genius; it is a wonder in its mechanism, and a marvelous thing in its display of power. When we inquire into the secret of its power we discover it to be steam pressure made available from a roaring fire in the firebox. The engine's response to the throttle control of the engineer is determined by the fire in the firebox. Without the fire it is a helpless heap of assembled mechanism. The church without the fire of the Holy Ghost is nothnig more than a socialized formal organization. The thing that will save this world is personality indwelt by that supernatural impelling and propelling Holy Ghost fire, both from the pulpit and the pew."

There was a generous response to the evangelistic appeal of the speaker.

ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY AT BANQUET

The Melody Boys orchestra, under leadership of Reg Pifer, will supply the music during the banquet being sponsored by the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce on Thuraday night, it was announced this morning.

Chamber of Comerce officials desire that those who intend to be present make reservations immediately so that the hotel authorities can be notified of the number who will attend.

This morning seven reservations were made from Grants Pass and indications point to one of the largest meetings which the chamber has sponsored for a long time. A meeting of the committee appointed by B. E. Harder, chamber president, to conduct the affair will be held tomorrow morning at the Chamber of Commerce, at 10 a. m., it was announced by A. S. Fight For Parks Won

"We have won the greater part of the fight to obtain and to retain these great public park properties for the benefit of the public. We are at the threshold of an even more important battle, to save our resources of agriculture and industry against the selfishness of individuals."

Upon reaching the Two Medicine lake retreat last night with Mrs. Roosevelt, Senator Wheeler of Montant, and Secretary Ickes, administrator of the two billion dollar public works program, the president was formally adopted by the Blackfeet Indians, "Lone Chief" was the title given the president, a name of one of the tribe's greatest chieftains.

Mrs. Roosevelt was referred to constantly by the Indians as the "Grand White Mother" and she was given the tribal name of "Medicine Pipe Woman."

Secretary Ickes was adopted as "Big Bear."

MINOR DISPUTES IN STRIKE TALKED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Representatives of shipowners, longshoremen and marine workers met here today to attempt a settlement of minor differences so that only major issues will be left for arbitration by the national longshoremen's board.

The union men who last Tuesday ended a strike that had tied up Pacific coast maritime commerce for 83 days will be represented by H. P. Melnikow of Los Angeles, director of the Pacific coast labor board. The shipowners have chosen Herman Phleger, San Francisco attorney, to represent them.

Melnikow expressed the belief several matters, probably even wages, hours and working conditions might be cleared up without resort to arbitration.

Members of the Texas supreme court habitually postpone their vacations until after the primary election because questions of election law invariably come up for determination at the last minute.

Carpenter's Class Cheer Gains Roosevelt Visit

By Leonard Carpenter

When I knew that the president was to land at Portland I made up my mind to see him. The last time I had seen him was when he was assistant secretary of the navy in 1916, so I did not expect that he would recognize me. However, I consulted with another classmate, Curtis Bailey, and, each with a purple badge pinned on our coats, we proceeded to the pier. When the Houston was about ten feet from the dock Bailey and I gave the class cheer and the president, standing with his son James, on the top deck, recognized us.

I knew that only about a dozen people were to be allowed on the Houston and so was much surprised after all the notable had come off the battleship to have General Martin and a presidential aide deliver an invitation for us to come aboard.

The president seemed glad to see us, introduced us to Mrs. Roosevelt and we talked for about twenty minutes together while we ate a buffet luncheon. I do not remember that there were any other guests except General Martin.

The president is brown and healthy looking. He has a great zest in everything that he does, is happy and overflowing with good spirits. He works joyously and those who come into contact with him recognize his courage.

I went to Bonneville with Mr. Jackson of the Portland Journal and Mr. Carter, the Fort Worth publisher and great friend of the whole Roosevelt family. The great work on the dam and power house at Bonneville is just getting under way but it is possible even now to visualize what an immense engineering project it is. It will cost 31 million dollars; develop six hundred thousand horsepower of electricity and be completed in December, 1937.

The president said during his Bonneville speech that it will be operated by the government for the benefit of this and future generations.

JOHN WILKINSON, 10, PNEUMONIA VICTIM

SOUTHERN OREGON WATER OUTLET IS URGED AT HEARING

by a deep-water harbor at Crescent City, saying that three Oregon counties and Del Norte county of California had 48,510,000,000 feet of virgin timber, a large proportion of which must eventually move through the harbor.

"Within a comparatively short time," Lea said, "this lumber will be needed. It would be a mistake and a short-sighted policy to judge the need for a harbor development at Crescent City by present conditions. The harbor should be built for the lifetime of the community.

Natural Outlet

"It is the natural and sensible outlet for the region. Transportation developments, roads, railroads or harbors, undertaken along the natural lines of communications are imperishable."

Lea said Grants Pass, Ore., and Crescent City, Calif., residents were ready to bear a fair share of the burden of the improvement. He said the agriculture hinterland to be served by the project ranged back to the Klamath Falls, Ore., area.

Local interests, Lea said, originally talked in terms of a 24 or 26 foot depth, but the 30 foot depth, sufficient for ocean going steamers, was the logical development, he contended. He said it would not be necessary to undertake construction of the $1,171,000 south jetty immediately, if the board felt the present needs would not justify the entire cost.

LABOR HEAD FOR RESTORING CWA

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Declaring that the executives of all large cities are viewing with alarm the unemployment situation next winter, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, expressed himself today in favor of restoration of the civil works administration.

He said unemployment was still a major problem and estimated 10,000,000 remain unemployed.

Green, who is here to attend a 10-day conference of the eexcutive council of the A. F. of L., said the council will draft many of the reports to be made at the annual meeting of the A. F. of L. in October.

SALEM, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The 20-man control board, chosen by districts to administrate the prune industry marketing agreement in Oregon and Washington, resumed its discussions here today, with minimum price rates still to be fixed.

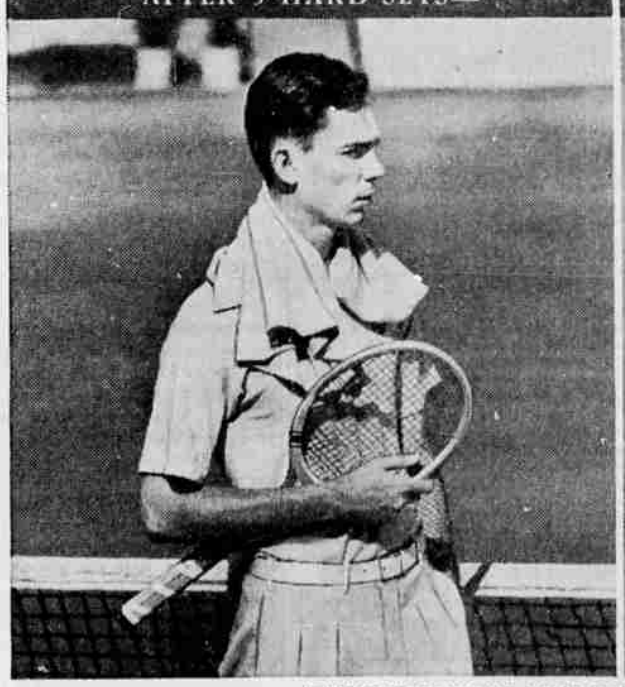
ELLSWORTH VINES, JR.
AFTER 5 HARD SETS—



—and then he Smoked a Camel!

AT THE TOP OF THE HEAP IN TENNIS! That is the enviable position of Ellsworth Vines, Jr., the spectacular young Pasadena athletic star who holds the U. S. National Championships for 1931 and 1932, and has now swept through the 1934 professional ranks as well!

YOU'LL enjoy this pleasing "Energizing Effect ___"

When you've used up your energy at work or play—smoke a Camel and notice how soon you feel your flow of natural energy snap back.

This experience, long known to Camel smokers, has now been confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory. Camel smokers enjoy a positive "energizing effect" ...a healthful and delightful release of natural, vibrant energy. Millions have found this to be true. A typical Camel experience is this, Ellsworth Vines, Jr. speaking—

"Championship tennis is one of the fastest of modern sports. After four or five sets, you sometimes feel that you just can't take another step. That's when a Camel tastes like a million dollars. Not only does the rich, mellow fragrance appeal to my taste, but Camels have a refreshing way of bringing my energy up to a higher level. And I can smoke all the Camels I want, for they don't interfere with my nerves."

So, whenever you want a "lift," just smoke a Camel. You can smoke them steadily. For the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.
