

LAFFOON LEADING FIRST ROUND PLAY IN HAGEN TOURNEY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Ky Laffoon, Denver's golfing "typhoon," apparently is not yet through with the par-cracking campaign that has made him a sensation this year.

Colorado's gift to the game shaved three strokes off perfect figures for the Oak Hill Country club's course with a fine 68 yesterday to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the 72-hole Rochester Centennial-Walter Hagen tournament.

Laffoon's score was all the more remarkable in that his card showed two sixes—the first at the par five fourth, where he lifted his head as he chipped for a birdie, and the second at the 15th, where his drive found a creek.

Tom Newlove, a comparative unknown from Syracuse, carded a 69 for second place, while Gordon Taylor, Toronto amateur, and Leo Diegel, taut-nerved pro from Philadelphia, tied for third with 70's.

Hagen, in whose honor the tournament is being held, took a 72. Olin Dunne needed 76 and Denny Shute, former British open champion, 77.

The second 18-hole round will be played today and the final 36 tomorrow.

MONROE WINS NOD OVER NEGRO BOY

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Frankie Monroe can come back to Portland and fight again.

In fact, by vociferous acclaim fans invited the Klamath Falls fighter to return next Tuesday and attempt to duplicate the sensational win he scored last night over Leroy Gibson, Wichita negro.

Monroe entered the ring, to the notions of fans, just a game lad who would put up a good, though probably hopeless, fight. But he unleashed such a heavy bombardment that even the clever Gibson was bewildered.

Frankie Gallucci, 123, and Al Mustoni, 126, both of Portland, fought a string draw.

Bill Overby, 148, Spokane, was too much for Benny Cordova, 153, Vancouver Barracks, who was stopped in the third of their scheduled six-rounder.

Another slated six-rounder went only four when Al Spina, 119, Portland, scored a technical knockout over Sammy Blackwell, 122, Baker.

PUHL UNDISMAYED BY 35-5 DEFEAT

Even if "Scop" Puhl's Rinky Dink did hold Ray Henderson's heavy-hitting All-Stars to 35 runs, they came out at the end of their game last night, on the South Ivy street diamond, at the short end of a 35 to 5 score.

Manager Puhl's head is unbowed, however, and he still is willing to meet any ball team available. It is said that he will have to remodel some of the homes near the end of South Ivy street, as the roofs were fairly shattered by home-runs in yesterday's contest.

Ray Lazerson, Rinky Dink pitcher, was hit freely and consistently for three hours. "The Stars" hurler, Ray Singer, was touched for four hits.

OAKS REFUSE TO CAVORT IN MUFTI

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Oakland baseball club was practically asked Tuesday as far as baseball wearing apparel was concerned, and the Oakland-Portland game had to be postponed.

Because of circumstances which the management could not fathom, the players' trunks (steamer, etc.) did not reach the city in company with the team. In the absence of pants, shirts, caps, Sox and spiked shoes, the Aobras voted down a proposal that they cavort in business attire.

The postponed game may be made up later this week. The Portland club has decided that all remaining games this season will start at the old time of 2:45 p. m. There'll be no more night games this year.

BUD HAFEY SOLD TO CHICAGO WHITE SOX

By the Associated Press.

Even if Gabby Street's Missions don't win the Coast league pennant—and try to tell the Sergeant they won't—the former National league pilot can count his far western managerial debut a success.

Sale of Bud Hafey, 30-year-old Mission outfielder, to the Chicago White Sox yesterday was the third transaction sending a Red to the majors since street took charge of the Missions. Earlier Johnny Batish was sold to the Brooklyn Dodgers and Wayne Osborne, another young pitcher, to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Both Osborne and Hafey will finish out the current season in the Coast league.

Miss Irene Dunne played golf on the local course a week ago, according to a story which leaked out today. The beautiful young lady was accompanied by Mr. Donald Holt of Worcester, Massachusetts.

When Jack Hueston, the local pro, who is also an enthusiastic movie fan, saw the name of one of his favorite actresses, he accepted the greens fee, with even more than his usual grace, adjusted his butterfly tie, and as soon as the attractive couple had departed hopped to the phone.

Here was a case for Verne Shangle the club photographer, and good golf club publicity for the Pacific Coast Golfer.

"Irene Dunne is playing golf out here!" Jack broadcast to Verne, "hop in your car and come out—make it snappy!"

Verne grabbed his hat in one hand, his camera in the other, and stepped on it harder than Moose Muthread, responding to a Gold Hill fire alarm.

"Where is she?" he shouted to Jack as he reached the caddy house.

"Over on No. 4," said Jack.

Verne started cross country, as fast as HIS legs could carry him. Sure enough there they were and there was Miss Irene Dunne.

"Just a minute," said Verne to the handsome escort, "may I take the ladies' picture?"

"Sure," said the escort. The beautiful young lady at first demurred but finally consented. Snap went the shutter—another pose on the tee—snap again.

"Many thanks," said Verne, and he retraced his steps, still in high skillfully banking on the turns, to keep his white pants away from the tar-seed.

"I got her!" he shouted to Jack as he jumped in his bus and beat it for the dark room. "It's in the bag!"

The attractive young couple soon returned—or as soon as attractive young couples USUALLY do. Jack the perfect host to movieiland, was there to greet them.

"Did Miss Dunne enjoy her game?" he asked.

"She did," replied the handsome escort. "What magazine will the picture appear in?"

"In the Pacific Coast Golfer," "Could you send us a copy?"

"Sure," said Jack, "what address—'Hollywood!'"

"Oh no—Miss Dunne lives in Greenwich, Connecticut, what is the address, Irene?—oh yes—3459 Elmwood avenue, Greenwich, Connecticut. Thanks very much."

"Err-r-r," said Jack, "err-r-r, isn't Miss Dunne the well known—actress?"

"No she isn't, but she's a darn fine girl, and it's swell of you to get her picture in the Pacific Coast Golfer—Bye-bye, we'll be seeing you in the funnies!"

And so that's that. Verne Shangle has two nice "personality" portraits of Miss Irene Dunne of Greenwich, Connecticut swinging gracefully on the 4th tee, and Jack Hueston has decided when Greta Garbo of Three Rivers, Minnesota, or Joan Crawford of Prairie Dog, Kansas, come to play golf, he will call up George Hunt, the movie magnate, before he calls up Verne Shangle!

GOLF QUEENS UPSET BY ORDER AGAINST SHORTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Feminine wielders of the mallet and the niblick were plunged today into an argument that threatens to shake the ancient Scottish pastime to its foundations, and it has nothing to do with mashes and niblicks, either.

The Women's Metropolitan Golf association sitting in solemn assembly yesterday decree that henceforth no woman may wear shorts in any tournament play under its direction.

The association's statement did not make clear whether the objection of its members rested on moral or esthetic grounds. It merely announced that "due to the fact that various member clubs and other associations have expressed their disapproval of shorts or abbreviated knickerbockers, the Women's Metropolitan Golf association requests that all contestants refrain from wearing such apparel in future tournaments in deference to these wishes."

Maureen Grevitt, one of the game's leading players on the feminine side, opened the rebuttal. She said she would obey the ruling, but added "it is going to be hard on those ladies who have reduced their hips or who have secured a beautiful leg tan."

Beatrice Gottlieb, one of those who helped make a burning issue out of the shorts question by wearing them at a recent association tournament, took the setback more seriously.

"Most of us appear in bathing suits before the public," she said. "I don't think that same public would be shocked. I'm all for shorts. They are the only sensible thing and they are about the only thing that makes the heat endurable in Florida or the drought states."

OWNEY PATTON JOINS PRO BASEBALL ASSN. ON OLD PALS' URGING

Owney Patton, manager of the Groceries parking service, had a surprise caller Monday in the person of "The" Walters, who 30 years ago was "lead-off" man for the San Francisco baseball team. Both Patton and Walters are old-timers when it comes to the subject of baseball, and stories of the old days were in order after the two had exchanged cordial greetings.

Mr. Walters was interested in having his friend apply for membership in the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America, with headquarters in Los Angeles. After the two had agreed that Russ Hall, another old-timer who is secretary of the association, is the right man in the right place in looking after the "old boys" who played before the present crop of ball-players was born, Mr. Walters insisted on having Mr. Patton send in the application, which is now on its way to Los Angeles.

Mr. Walters and family are stopping over in Medford for a few days to see the "Great Country," and he and his friend are having a fine time in going over the baseball play and players of the long ago.

CAMPS DETERMINED TO SETTLE DIAMOND FEUD

CAMP ANNIE SPRINGS, CCC, Aug. 8.—(Sp.)—It may be a matter of weeks before the camps can get together again, but the Applegate and Annie Springs CCC baseball teams still plan to finish their ball game.

The Applegate team journeyed to Annie Springs Sunday and were leading 2 to 0 in the second inning when a fire call came in. The Annie Springs outfit dropped their bats, picked up fire equipment and headed for the fire. Applegate visited Crater lake and then returned home.

Lieut. John H. Gordon and 41 men from Applegate made the trip. They have scheduled a game with Camp Rand for next Sunday, but plan to book another with Annie Springs so the postponed contest can be finished.

HINSDALE, Ill., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The 32 qualifiers in the annual western junior golf championship tournament plunged into match play today with two 18-hole rounds of match play on the schedule, which will bring the tournament down to the quarter-finals by tonight.

Four youngsters, Karl Johnson of Bloomington, Ill.; Fred Hazz of New Orleans; Elton Hill of Urbana, Ill. and Ralph Ackerman of Chicago, tied for medal honors yesterday with 71's.

ACTIVE INTERNATIONAL OBJECTIVES EXPLAINED

Mr. McAllister gave a comprehensive talk on the organization of the association and compared it with the work of the local club.

Woodrow Smith and Victor Milnes, both of Medford, were guests at the meeting.

LUMBER INDUSTRY OF COAST GROWS UNDER NRA CODE

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Employment in lumber mills and logging camps of the Pacific northwest has increased from 50,000 in 1933 to more than 55,000 persons at the present time, and wages have shown an increase as high as 200 per cent in some sections, it was said here today by W. B. Greeley of Seattle, secretary-manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

Colonel Greeley, former chief of the United States forest service, said that in the state of Washington wages have shown an increase during the past year of 306 per cent, and the number of days of work has increased 86 per cent. In Oregon the wage increase was 141 per cent, he said, and work-days gained 65 per cent.

All this has been accomplished, Greeley said, since adoption of the NRA lumber code, and he gave the code credit for the change.

"Up to a year ago last May," Greeley said, "the lumber industry had lost 66 2-3 per cent of its employment. The high salaries on which the industry prided itself had gone into the discard, and the desperate cycle of unemployment."

He explained that as soon as the lumber code was agreed upon, the minimum wage of 42½ cents an hour was enforced. In May, 1933, the minimum was 25 cents an hour, generally, and in some sections it was even less. The average wage in the mills, Greeley said, was 58 cents an hour, and 64 cents in the camps, under the code regulations. Before adoption of the code, he said, camps paid 35 cents, and mills averaged not over 39 cents.

AGE-LONG HATRED BEHIND ALGERIA'S RELIGIOUS RIOTS

SAVAGE riots, such as started at Constantine, Algeria, last Friday, are the result of age-long hatred between Moslems and Jews.

Fights between Moslem and Jew are fierce while they last. Firearms, torches, knives and clubs are used ruthlessly. No quarter is given, and in every flare-up of the ancient animosities between the ill-suited neighbors there are instances, some well authenticated, of barbaric cruelties.

Even the great European powers, striking sternly with modern weapons, cannot suppress the bitterness of a hate which took root centuries ago. They restore quiet, but they do not establish peace.

The fundamental differences between Jew and Moslem are racial and religious.

Jew and Moslem differ everywhere, but the heart of the quarrel and the symbol of the historic dispute is the wailing wall at Jerusalem. Acccso to this bit of unimpressive masonry has been the direct cause of several riots.

LUMBER CODE BROKEN BY SMALL OPERATORS IN SOME AREAS CLAIM

PORTLAND, Aug. 8.—(AP) Citing what he described as violations of the lumber code by small operators in certain sections of Oregon, J. B. Fitzgerald, secretary of the joint committee on labor, today outlined the requirements all mill owners must meet.

Wages of lumber employes under the lumber code, Fitzgerald said, must be paid in full when due, and in cash or check, less any proper and legal deductions such as board, room and commissary furnished by the employer.

Fitzgerald emphasized that workmen cannot be required to accept lumber or fuel wood, or other considerations as full or part payment of wages, nor is it permissible to withhold part of their wages and let the remainder accumulate on the books as credit.

Under the lumber code, a worker must be paid at least the minimum of 43½ cents an hour.

Butcher Freezes Wife's Friend In Late Night Call
MADRID, Spain, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A butcher in suburban Gracia returned to his home at night and, planning to retire, locked the freezing room in his adjacent shop.

The next morning he opened the big ice box to get his meat, then hastened to tell police what he found inside the room. It was a man, a friend of his wife, frozen to death.

ers have started buying stamps for the melon tax, which are handled by the county agent's office.

Chief Inspector Howard of the wheat control commission is here today checking up on the local wheat acreage inspections. A survey was recently made to determine the amount of wheat grown and if the growers had complied with their wheat reduction contracts, preparatory to making the second federal payment which will run from $19,000 to $17,000.

County Agent Fowler reports the yield was good, the growers had complied with all regulations, and that the harvesting and threshing of the wheat crop is practically over for this section.

"Farmers, not orchardists, are having a lull, if you can call it that," the county agent declared.

have seen and that you have helped to accomplish, the restless spirit of science prompts you to see new visions of achievement. As you have pointed out so often in your predictions of what humanity may expect from medical science in the future, progress is only at its beginning.

"In the further development of the curative art, in the discovery of new means for the prevention of disease, in the creation of methods by which all of the people may be made aware of the knowledge of hygiene and public health developed in the laboratory clinic, your vision offers promise of a greater nation and a happier people.

"Those of us who are concerned with the problems of government and of economics are under special obligation to modern medicine in two very important respects," he continued.

"In the first place, it has taught us that with patience and application and skill and courage it is possible for human beings to control and improve conditions under which they live . . . and it has taught us . . . how devotion to the public good, unselfish service, never ending consideration of human needs are in themselves conquering forces.

"Democracy looks to the day when these virtues will be required and expected of those who serve the public officially and unofficially."

Traveling across Minnesota last night and through Minneapolis, the seat of the troublesome labor dispute of this section, Mr. Roosevelt inquired into the problem but without any indication of personal intervention. Federal mediators are already at work.

ANCIENT TREES OF CRATER BARED BY HIGHWAY BUILDING

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore.—(Special.) Quite a number of carbonized logs, the result of volcanic activity when volcanism was at its height in southern Oregon unknown years ago, have been found along the new Union Creek-Diamond Lake highway not far from Crater Lake, but a find of a different nature was reported this week to park authorities by Nelson Reed, National Reemployment Service manager, of Klamath Falls.

The logs, found up until this time had all been in a flat position, but a log discovered by Mr. Reed was in an upright position, buried under 80 feet of volcanic overburden. A small portion visible from the highway led to the discovery. An investigation by Ranger-Naturalist Warren Smith, a member of the University of Oregon faculty and doctor of geology, leads to the belief it was buried by explosive material from old Mt. Mazama, the ancestral mountain of Crater Lake, and had been in its present position for more than 20,000 years.

It is also thought, as a result of the investigation, that the overburden may have once been far deeper but during the passage of time had eroded away, victim of the never ceasing processes of the elements.

The discovery recalls the highly important find made last year by D. S. Libbey, park naturalist and assistant superintendent, of a tree inside the rim of Crater Lake. These discoveries are regarded as of great importance in the preparation of an accurate theoretical history of the Crater Lake area based on these evidences. The carbonized tree, found by Mr. Libbey, is an important link in the history, and coupled with the second upright tree, adds greatly to the dim information of the past of the region.
