NINTH CORP AREA CHIEFTAIN VISITS

Major General Malin Craig, commander of the ninth corp area, and Mrs. Craig were visitors in Medford Friday evening. They continued north on their 4200-mile motor trip Saturday morning. General Craig, whose success in organizing the CCC program in the ninth corp area has been regarded as an outstanding example of military administration, spent part of an hour in conference with Major Clarence H. Armstrong, commander of the Medford CCC district. General and Mrs. Craig are driving their own car on an inspection trip of the ninth corp area. "The Medford district has been running very smoothly and I am well pleased with the showing that has been made here," General Craig said. "The national park and forest service have been accomplishing wonderful results in their handling of the work projects and the army's handling of the camps has assured comfortable, healthful living conditions for the men."

Although General Craig, as commander of the ninth corp area, is responsible for the administration of all army activities in the 12 western states and Alaska, one of his greatest interests is the civilian conservation corps project.
