"Little Man" Opens at Craterian

With Margaret Sullivan, the girl who made such an instant hit in "Only Yesterday," in the leading role, "Little Man, What Now?" taken from the Hans Fallada novel of the same name, plays today and Monday at the Craterian theater. Douglas Montgomery has the role of the "little man."

Coming at a time when the nation is emerging from the depression, and thousands of "little men" and "little women" are seeing a ray of hope for the future, "Little Man, What Now?" graphically portrays the hardships.

At Rialto Today

Loretta Young, raised to starring position, has the lead in "Born to Be Bad," at the Rialto theater for today and Monday. Cary Grant has the chief male role opposite.

Strictly adult entertainment, and not recommended for the children, "Born to Be Bad" shows Miss Young as a hard-boiled "customer's girl" in the cloak and suit trade, luring buyers into ordering the latest style creations in the hope of an amorous return. Into this sordid life comes Cary Grant, wealthy and desirable, but already married, who falls in

Arliss at Studio

"The House of Rothschild," opening at the Studio today, which traces the rise of the famous European banking family from obscurity in Frankfurt, Germany, to the position of international prominence it had gained at the end of the Napoleonic wars, presents Arliss in two roles—first as Mayer Amosel Rothschild, the father of the five brothers who made the family's name celebrated, and later as Nathan Rothschild, the brother who founded the English branch of the family.

'Scandals' at Roxy

Bigger, better and more magnificent than any of the productions that have annually amazed Broadway's musical playgoers, George White's "Scandals" opens at the Roxy theater today.

Throughout this array of comedy, beauty, dancing and songs, runs a romantic tale of interest and genuine suspense. It is the love of the two principals in the show, Rudy Vallee and Alice Faye.

THE GRANGE

Lake Creek.

At the last meeting of Lake Creek Grange, after a brief business session, Master Floyd Charley introduced a representative of the Shell Oil company who explained the Gasoline co-op plan so much talked of in Grange circles. The remainder of the evening was given over to recreation, starting with a grand march which was followed by old-fashioned dances. All who attended report an enjoyable time.

Among the welcome visitors were Mrs. A. F. Wilson of Sams Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Perry Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harnish, Mrs. Price and Sam Harnish all of Eagle Point.

Quite a large number of visitors from the Lake Creek community were also present.

Luncheon was served by the Home Economics committee.
