

COURT POWERLESS TO CLOSE DANCES AT UNIFORM HOUR

No further action will be taken by the county court in the matter of uniformly in dance closing hours in Jackson county, Commissioner R. E. Neeson said yesterday, "because there is nothing the county court can do."

The county court endeavored to have all close at midnight, but discovered it was up against several legal stumbling blocks, public opinion, state laws, and city ordinances.

At one stage of the negotiations the county court considered the feasibility of removing the law and allowing all to remain open until 2:00 o'clock in the morning, as do Jacksonville and Gold Hill. They discovered here also that they were confronted by the law and bonds.

Jacksonville and Gold Hill are incorporated towns, and the county court has no jurisdiction. The Jacksonville dance has remained open until 2:00. Gold Hill recently assumed the late hour dances. In Medford, and unincorporated towns, the closing hour is midnight. Beer refreshment parlors, with dance floors, stop dancing at midnight, but under the state law can sell beer until 1:00 o'clock. Under these closing hours there is a rush to Jacksonville and Gold Hill dances after midnight. The rush is not as terrific as it used to be, as many of the waiters linger where they are to lift the flowing bowl.

The Jacksonville council conferred with the county court, but finally voted that inasmuch as the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the dances, had hired the orchestra for August, nothing could be done until September.

The same problem confronts the courts of other Oregon counties. It is probable that the next session of the legislature will be called upon to pass a uniform dance closing hour law, and remove some of the conflicts in the present laws.

HAINES MANDATE IS FILED BY D. A.

The supreme court mandate in the appeal of Ted Haines, former Red Top district resident serving three years in state prison for a statutory offense involving a 15-year-old girl, was formally filed today by the district attorney's office. Haines has been in state prison since last October.

The high court mandate upholds the findings of Circuit Judge H. D. Norton, and overrules the defense contention that errors were committed during the course of the trial. Briefs in the case for the state were prepared by District Attorney George A. Codrington and for the defense by Attorney Rawles Moore.

The case aroused considerable interest and feeling among Red Top district residents. The defense alleged that residents of the district had induced one of Haines' bondsmen to withdraw, and that the attorney had received telephonic threats.

PIPES OVERRULED IN DAMAGE CASE

An order, overruling a demurrer sought by A. W. Pipes in the suit against him by Bertha E. Sawyer, for alleged injuries received in a fall down the stairs of the Liberty building several months ago, was filed in circuit court yesterday. The plaintiff alleges that as a result of suspended elevator service she was compelled to walk down an assertedly ill-lighted flight of stairs, and fell, sustaining foot injuries. The accident is the basis of the damage action.

The case is expected to be docketed for trial at the September term of circuit court.

The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Don R. Newbury and the defendant by Attorneys George M. Roberts and William McAllister.

Free Methodist Revival Gaining Great Interest

Interest is increasing at the Free Methodist revival being conducted by Evangelist J. Lewis Arnold of Seattle. The Rev. Mrs. Rosella Douglass and the Rev. Jacob Stocker of Grants Pass were out-of-town ministers who took part in the services last night. Tonight Rev. J. R. Stewart of Salem, newly elected district superintendent, will be in Medford and have a part in the service adding new interest to the meeting.

The evangelist will answer the question, "Why I Believe in a Literal Coming of Christ to This Earth." A description of what may be expected to happen when Christ returns will also be pictured, said the Rev. E. N. Long, pastor. Special singing conducted by the singing evangelist, Rev. L. H. Shepherd of Seattle, will be another added attraction to tonight's service.

173 AGE PENSIONS ISSUED BY COUNTY; 28 STILL PENDING

Jackson county, to date, according to the records of the county court, has issued 173 old age pension certificates, and 28 applications are held pending investigation. Twelve applications have been granted, but are awaiting signing of reimbursement contracts, which the old age pension law requires. The average amount of the old age pension warrants is between $11 and $12. The number of old age pensions granted is on a par with other Oregon counties, but the amount is higher. The average monthly payments in a number of eastern Oregon and Willamette valley counties is slightly more than $8 per month.

Total number of old age pension applications since January 1, last, when the law went into effect, is 318. There has been rejected 105 applications, chiefly for lack of required length of residence in the state, below the age limit, or other source of sufficient income. A number of inmates of the county poor farm have applied for the pension, and the requests were denied because of the present state of the county finances. The purpose of the law is to eventually do away with the poor farm, with its attendant humiliation.

Lillian E. Roberts, Red Cross aide and welfare worker, is now on her vacation, a soon as she returns the county court, acting as a pension board, will take final action on pending applications.

GIRL'S COMPANION ON AUTO RIDE IS HELD AS SLAYER

ing which she was choked, scratched and beaten, an autopsy report said. The spot where she was found was more than a mile from where Taylor said she left his automobile after an argument.

Taylor, viewing the body, denied any part in the girl's death. "She was unhurt when she ran into the woods from my car," he said.

Cain collapsed when he looked at the dead girl. To Chief Luther Hollums before the body was found, he said: "I love Pape and want to marry her."

Detectives checked both men's stories. Taylor continued to assert his innocence. Detective McCoy Helton said Taylor's shoes fit perfectly tracks leading from the ditch where the body was found.

Suddenly, at 11:30 p. m. last night, Chief Hollums announced Taylor was en route to county jail, charged with murder.

Today the girl's grief stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon New, will accompany their only child's body to their old home in Heflin, Ala., where funeral services will be held.
