

BENTLEY WINS, 5-4, IN OPENING MATCH OF COAST AMATEUR

Ashland Golf Club's Star Faces Dr. Rosenblatt of Portland in Today's Play On Gearhart Course

Gearhart, Ore., Aug. 30.—(P)—Hubert Bentley, athletic postal employee of Ashland, Ore., and medalist in the qualifying round, defeated Sargent Gethins, 5 and 4, in a match play in the men's section of the coast amateur golf tournament started here yesterday.

Bentley, in the "over 32" division, today faced Dr. Millard Rosenblatt of Portland who went four under par at 68 yesterday to eliminate C. B. Stephenson 6 and 8.

Two older division matches went to the final green where E. L. Green defeated Ralph Mills and Luke Saxe-net disposed of George A. Warren.

Dr. J. R. Skivington of Sacramento, Ar., defeated Dr. E. P. Steinmetz of Portland 4 and 3. William Zimmerman, Cottage Grove eliminated Dr. John B. Loudan of Yakima 2 and 1; W. A. Taylor of Longview won from George Arenz of Portland 6 and 5, and Arthur Mills defeated Miles Standish 3 and 2.

Women resumed play today after idleness yesterday. In the "under 32" men's division several recent Oregon junior starts had success. Defending champion Jack Paulson of Portland, ex-Oregon junior titlist, gained a shaky one up victory over Jim Johnson of Uortland.

Harold Salvador eliminated Norman Tauscher, one up, while his brother Wilfred beat Medalist Dick Hedges in an extra hole clash.

CCC HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT TO OPEN NEW COURT

Medford's new horseshoe pitching courts, among the most modern in Oregon, will be formally opened Monday, Labor Day, when the Medford District CCC horseshoe tournament is staged here.

L. O. Vavv Wegan, president of the Medford Horseshoe club, under whose direction the courts are being built, is rushing the work so that the CCC championship meet can be staged in Medford. The courts are located at the corner of North Bartlett and Fifth streets and will provide seven covered courts designed for championship play.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Medford club, made up of Vavv Wegan, president; Thomas Pose, vice-president; and Hadley Arthur, secretary, the club voted to sponsor the CCC tournament and Vavv Wegan has accepted the chairmanship of the meet. All members of the Medford club are invited to attend the CCC tournament and assist in the scoring.

The new courts are built to official measurements and will have green grass between the pegs, with 20-inch walks on each side for use of the players. A small office room has been built in one corner of the shed. Each of the 20 CCC camps in the Medford district has been asked to send its champion pitcher to the tournament and camp meets are being held this week. Horseshoe pitching has proved one of the most popular sports among the CCC camps.

The tournament is but one of a series of district meets planned to select champions in various sports, according to Major Clare H. Armstrong, district commander. A swimming meet is to be held at Ashland Monday and a baseball tournament is under way.

SAVOLDI AND WIFE VISIT MEDFORD IN AIR JAUNT NORTH

"Jumping" Joe Savoldi, one of football's greatest contributors to the wrestling game, halted here briefly this morning en route north by plane with his wife, a beautiful Kentucky brunette. Met at the airport by Promoter Mack Lillard, and taken into town for breakfast, the Savoldis revealed to a representative of the Mail Tribune that they were eager to return here for a rest and opportunity to view some of the famed southern Oregon scenic spots. Savoldi will come to Medford Sunday, September 9 and will wrestle here the following Monday evening.

The famous exponent of the "drop kick" as a means of flattening an opponent, explained that his training for the high jump in high school and college, enabled him to later perfect the spectacular maneuver where he springs into the air, throws his body horizontal and plants both feet on an adversary's jaw, neck or upper breast.

Savoldi, besides his original ideas in wrestling tactics has some unique recommendations for attainment of physical perfection. "The idea that weight lifting, exercise with machines and other paraphernalia will build muscle, is correct to a certain point," said Jumping Joe, "but a good result can be obtained simply by opposing one muscle against another in systematic exercise and in addition the danger of strain, always present in weight lifting, is overcome."

The wrestler is one of the finest specimens of manhood in the ring today and when he throws off his dressing gown ready for a match, a chorus of "Ah's" invariably goes up from the fans.

Asked how long he expected to stay in the game, Savoldi said, "only a few years more. The terrific battering, prolonged exertion and continual traveling take too much out of a man, in the present stage of wrestling." He continued: "London is about through and so are all the other veteran big shots. If they had started wrestling under conditions as they prevail now, they would have been through long ago."

Mrs. Savoldi travels much of the time with her husband, preferring air journeys to any other, although she confessed a dislike for much winter flying. Because of his friendship with Promoter Lillard, Savoldi readily agreed to wrestle here, despite the fact that his managers had been reluctant to sign the date and had been sidestepping Medford for several weeks.

KRUSE AND STEELE GRAPPLE TO DRAW

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 30.—(P)—Bob Kruse, 210, Oswego, and Ray Steele, 213, Glendale, Cal., wrestled one hour to a draw in the major event of a wrestling program here last night. Clean, fast grappling all the way gave Portland fans a chance to see wrestling, for once, that was not a matter of rights to the chin or rubbing blinding fluid into the opponent's eyes.

In the other main event on the program, Cliff Olsen, 210, Minneapolis, was unable to return to the ring after losing the first fall to Joe Malocwita, 208, Utica, N. Y. Olsen attempted a flying tackle in the first round, but the New Yorker caught him in mid air and twisted him so that he landed heavily on his neck, and was immediately pinned. Rube Wright, 225, Houston, Texas, beat Jack Donovan, 214, Salt Lake City, with a rolling head scissor in the opener.

At Headquarters Here—Captain Harold G. Newell, commanding officer of Camp Hill, and Captain William G. Ryan, commander of Camp Indian Creek, were visitors at the CCC headquarters Thursday.

SCHOOLBOY MOUND ACE GLAD TENSION BROKEN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—(P)—A dream of 17 straight wins and a new American league pitching record has shattered at the feet of Lynwood (Schoolboy) Bowe, but the 22-year-old Detroit twirling ace says he's "not especially disappointed."

"I'm relieved," he said quietly in the Tiger locker room after being bombarded from the box yesterday by Athletics' batsmen. "At least the strain is over."

"I have no excuses," the youth added. "I just didn't have what it takes." One thing he can't figure out, though, is how Bing Miller was able to turn a curve ball into a double with the bases loaded in the fifth, or how Pinky Higgins lambasted a fast one "up around his chin" for a circuit-clout.

Those two hits sent Rows to the showers, sharing the illustrious "18-straight" niche of Joe Wood, Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove.

Although Rows offered no excuse for his part in the 13 to 5 loss before a crowd that set a Shibe park record. Manager Mickey Cochrane found plenty of reason for what happened. In a radio talk, he blamed "an army of well wishers" for making the youth's life "miserable."

"Rows only averaged about two hours sleep per night in the last three nights," he said.

LETHERS, WILSON READY FOR HARD GRAPPLING BOUT

Sad Sam Lethers, limber-legged Texan, and George Wilson, ex-football star and wildcat grappler, will tear into each other in the main event of tonight's wrestling bill with Promoter Mack Lillard's promise that the one who "looks best" tonight will definitely tangle here Monday, September 10, with Joe Savoldi, jumping-jack of the grip and grapple art. Lillard arranged the match when Savoldi stopped here this morning en route north.

With such prospects, tonight's main battle should be a gruel to the finish, as both Lethers and Wilson are eager to meet the famous Savoldi. Lillard stated it will not necessarily be the winner of the contest who will be called to wrestle "Jumping Joe" but the one who exhibits the best form and promises to be the most suitable opponent.

So Wilson, 1925 All-American half-back, is sorting out his bag of tricks for tonight's fray, and limbering up his spectacular flying tackle, while the giant southerner is rubbing down his nimble legs for an exhibition of the deadly rolling and rucking clamps that have given him a reputation as one of the most formidable and popular grapplers ever to appear in Medford. A show of a different kind is set for the semi-final one-hour bout, when Referee Ray Frieble turns loose two demons of the ring, "Awful Al" Karasek, Russian grappler, and "Bad Boy" Billy Newman of Denver, who will also pulverize the platform for one hour, or two out of three falls. This pair are well known for their unorthodox grappling, and promise a bang-up event to start the evening. Lillard has continued his popular low admission rates with all downstairs seats reserved.
