PREPARATION FOR COMING OF CHRIST TOPIC OF PASTOR

Speaking from the topic "Preparing for Christ's Coming" from the local church of the Nazarene pulpit last night, Fred M. Weatherford, pastor-evangelist, said in part as follows:

"My text tonight is found in Amos 4:12, 'Prepare to meet thy God.' These are five of the most meaningful words that can be presented to man. Our attitude toward this challenge fixes our destiny. I want to discuss this text from three points of view—preparing to meet God, why, how and when.

"In answer to the question why we should prepare to meet God, would be conclusively answered from the fact that God commands it. That God commands us to prepare, is sufficient evidence that man is unprepared to meet him. The thing that disqualifies man to meet God is sin. Sin has involved the entire human race. A preparation is necessary because man is lost.

"In answering the question how man prepares to meet God, is found in the divine economy to salvage the human race. The Greek word in the New Testament rendered justification is dikaiosis which is a New Testament term of acquittal for the guilty sinner. Justification is that governmental act of God by which on condition of the sinner's repentence and faith in the atoning Saviour, God pardons his sins and remits the penalty, restores him to the divine favor, and thereafter treats him as if he had not sinned.

"'A lost man to be recovered must be repossessed, or his loss will be eternal. The new deal of which we stand most in need is not an economic genius to recover industry, but a spiritual genius to recover life.

"The matter of when to prepare to meet God is found in the Word of God, in these words—'Those that seek me early shall find me.' Every sin forms an added pillar in the blocade that separates you from God. Every day after a certain point in life, adds to your fortification in sin, and thereby renders your position of yielding to God more difficult. If you are to be saved, there are limits beyond which you must not pass. You cannot be saved if you pass by your probationary time limit yet unsaved. Christ exhortation is 'now' for the day of His visitation is uncertain. He said, 'Be ye also ready for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh.' Whether or not we are prepared for it, our day of meeting God is certain."

A number responded to the pastor-evangelist's appeal by accepting Christ as their personal Saviour.

RED LITERATURE PEDDLER NABBED HERE BY POLICE

them he was selling the literature "for what I can get out of it," and intended to visit valley orchards and the potato fields of Klamath county on his tour.

The prisoner claims Virginia as his place of birth.

Pugh was arrested under the Oregon syndicalism law, which prohibits the sale or possession of literature or documents advocating the overthrow of the American form of government through force. His favorite field of operation was the hill districts and rural areas, authorities say.

Pugh is the second person to be detained in the county jail on criminal syndicalism charges. The other is James E. Stockman, local resident, arrested last July, following a raid when similar reading matter was siezed.

MARTHA FORGEY PASSES, AGED 72

Martha Forgey, aged 72, passed away at a local hospital Sunday at noon, after a short illness, due to a stroke of paralysis. She was born at Springfield, Ill., March 1, 1862, where she spent her early youth, and when a young woman, moved to Kansas with her parents; coming west in 1888. Martha Elizabeth Young was united in marriage to Alexander Forgey, July 26, 1896, at Dayton, Wash. Mr. Forgey passed away May 2, 1926.

During her residence of the past 12 years in Medford, she has acquired many friends, who will mourn her passing. Mrs. Forgey was known to everyone as "Aunt Martha."

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Hazel Redman of Medford, four grandchildren, Byron of Salem, Earl and Clarence and Pearl of Creswell, Ore., one niece, Mrs. Tom Carter of Grants Pass.

Funeral services will be held at the Perl Funeral Home Tuesday, September 11, at 1:00 p. m., Rev. E. N. Long of the Free Methodist church officiating.

EX-POSTMASTER GIVES SELF UP

PORTLAND, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Edward VanHorn, former postmaster at North Portland, voluntarily surrendered today at the United States marshal's office here and was ordered held on $2500 bond by Judge John McNary.

VanHorn faces a charge of embezzling $3,860 in postoffice funds in a period between July 3 and August 22, 1933. According to Eugene C. Libby, his attorney, VanHorn spent most of his time at Atlanta, Ga., and in Florida.

VanHorn had been sought since September 20, 1933, when he failed to return to his post at the end of a vacation period.

STATE EQUALIZATION BOARD SLATES MEET

SALEM, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The state equalization board will hold a two-week session here starting next Monday, members of the state tax commission announced today.

The board will discuss valuations placed on public utility properties, and appeals from valuations placed on local properties by the county equalization boards.

Night Swim Interrupted — When six masculine members of Medford's younger generation took it upon themselves Saturday night to go swimming in Twin Plunges at Ashland, despite the fact that it was nearing the hour of midnight, when the pools were closed, they discovered that nocturnal swimming has its disadvantages. Their antics in the moonlit waters were suddenly interrupted by the appearance of a city policeman, who soon found himself busy trying to round up elusive towel-clad figures from behind trees, rosebushes and telephone poles throughout the neighborhood. All six of the culprits were taken in due time to the station, however, where they were relieved of an admission price of 25 cents each, despite objections that the Plunges had not furnished lights or swimming paraphernalia.

NEW CHANCELLOR CHOICE NARROWED BY BOARD SURVEY

coming election may determine what can be done in this matter, he said.

The committee members are interviewing candidates, however, and have asked the respective presidents to submit recommendations of men to be considered. Chancellor Kerr is also assisting the committee in this respect, Sammons said. The chairman hopes to be able to report further progress at the October meeting. Other members are B. F. Irvine, Portland, and Lief Finset, Dallas, with President Willard Marks of Albany as ex-officio member.

Sammons' statement came at the close of a meeting devoted to a number of matters needing clearing up before the opening of the institution this fall, as well as other routine items included in an unusually short budget. Every member of the board excepting G. B. McLeod was present.

Student Fee Optional

The board decided not to resist or ignore the action of the attorney general in holding that it had no authority to impose directly or indirectly a compulsory student activity fee on students registering, and hence will notify prospective students that purchase of an associated student ticket at the various campuses will be optional with them.

Chancellor Kerr presented recommendations of the graduate managers on this matter, which were that if the board was going to place the activity fee on a voluntary basis, that the regular full-privilege ticket be $5 a term and that $1 be charged where only the privilege of membership and voting power in the student body be desired.

The board voted, however, that such arrangements will be wholly in the hands of the associated student organizations and they can charge what they please.

Asking budgets for the coming biennium have been pared down according to the action of the board in August, Chancellor Kerr reported, and with the elimination of $260,000 they are now ready for submission to the governor on the same basis on which the institutions are now operating.

COAST LUMBERMEN ADMIT 'CHISELING'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10, — (AP) — While the NRA was preparing to "crack down" on a group of southern operators charged with selling lumber at 12½ per cent below code prices, it was learned from a reliable source today that a private survey of the west coast area reported approximately 81 per cent of the Douglas fir operators admitted they were selling below code prices.

The informant said the survey also showed that the number of western pine operators who are violating the minimum cost-production prices of the code represented a slightly smaller percentage of that division of the industry.

IRRIGATIONISTS TOLD PROGRESS AT STATE MEET

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Progressive strides toward attainment of objectives by the Oregon Reclamation Congress were described in the president's report at the start of the organization's two-day meeting here today.

Robert W. Sawyer, president, from Bend, declared that the National Reclamation Congress actually originated in this state. He noted that Marshall Dana of Portland had, as president of the national association, virtually saved reclamation in the west.

Sawyer told how federal appropriation offered the way out for irrigation districts facing financial difficulties but that in Oregon many districts lacked the means of obtaining the great volume of information necessary to get help.

Fourteen irrigation district loans have been granted in Oregon, he said, totaling more than two million dollars. Eight drainage districts have received loan approvals.

CREDIT BUREAU MEETING OPENED

GRANTS PASS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Thirty-five members representing 27 Oregon cities met here today as their two-day eleventh annual convention of Oregon Credit Bureaus, Inc., was opened by W. M. Moses, Grants Pass, president.

Frank T. Caldwell, national organization representative, will be guest speaker tonight at a dinner sponsored by the chamber of commerce. Tuesday morning businessa sessions will conclude with election of officers and selection of the 1935 convention city. In the afternoon members will be guests at the Oregon Caves.

ROAD TO TEXTILE MILL DYNAMITED

(By the Associated Press)

Dynamiting of a road leading to a mill intensified the textile strike situation in North Carolina today.

Several dozen mills, north and south, which the strike had closed, resumed operations.

At Cherryville, N. C., a bomb destroyed some of the main highway leading to the Howell mill, the only one of 104 in Gaston county which attempted to operate.

In Washington the textile mediation board heard George A. Sloan, president, explain the Cotton Textile Institute's viewpoint on arbitration proposals of the United Textile Workers.

SAVOLDI UNABLE HEAVE STONE IN CRATER'S WATER

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore., Sept. 10.—(Spl.)—Deceiving distances baffled "Jumping Joe" Savoldi, famous wrestler, when making his first visit at Crater Lake yesterday afternoon. Savoldi, whose brawn has overcome countless adversaries of the squared circle, attempted to put one over on Crater Lake.

Gazing into the blue depths of the silent sea, he declared it would be simple to hurl a boulder into the water, seemingly just a short distance away. He picked up a sizeable piece of lava.

"Ha!" he exclaimed, "this will be easy." His mighty arm described a circle and the rock flew far out into azure space, higher and higher and farther and farther away. The rock was lost to sight.

"I struck the water," Savoldi declared, and other members of the party gathered around, but a ranger declared he did not come close. He tried again and again, and each time the rock went farther out. Savoldi established a record for long distance heaving that will probably stand for many years, but the water was untouched. The lake is all of one-quarter of a mile away from the point where he threw the rocks.

Although he did not strike the water, he put in some good training for his match in Medford tonight with Sad Sam Lethers, Texas champ. Savoldi was accompanied to Crater Lake by Mrs. Savoldi, Promoter Mack Lillard and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Boitano, Mr. and Mrs. A. Garibbo and Jack Penny of Klamath Falls.

Savoldi is planning on making trips in the future to Crater Lake, and was deeply impressed with the pristine grandeur of the mountain scene.

The worst forest fire on record, according to the U. S. forest service, was the Miramichi fire of 1825, which burned 3,000,000 acres of timberland in Maine and New Brunswick and caused the loss of 160 lives. The record number of lives lost was in the Poshtago fire in Wisconsin where, in 1871, an area of 1,280,000 acres was burned and 1500 people lost their lives.

ROGUES AND G. P. PLAY 15 INNINGS TO 1 TO 1 DRAW

Hal Haight's Medford Rogues journeyed to Grants Pass yesterday and battled Ken Williams' state champion contenders to a 1 to 1 tie in a 15-inning game, the longest played in southern Oregon this year, and probably the best.

The game was a pitcher's battle all the way through, with Woodie Woodward, Medford's ace pitcher opposing Earhardt. Earhardt, however, tired in the seventh inning and gave way to Nelson, who finished the game without being scored on.

Woodward was in exceptionally good form, holding the hard-hitting Cavemen to but six hits during the entire 15 innings, and fanning 19 batters.

Medford's lone run was scored in the second inning when Donavan doubled, reached third after Reinking walked and scored on Woodward's drive to right field. Grants Pass tied it up in the eighth inning on two hits and an error. Hoffard was the day's leading hitter, driving out a triple, double and single.

The two teams will meet again September 23. Next Sunday the Rogues go to Yreka for the final game of their three-game series with the Northern California All-Stars. Each team has won one game, to date.
