Good progress was made Saturday night towards Prohibition, whenever and wherever Opportunity offered. Quite a number of females and juve-niles were out acting the fool, and in many instances were not acting.

Oregon faces the dire possibility of even (7) candidates for Governor.
Political ambition cannot be controlled like the wheat, the hogs, the corn and the cotton, but there must be a way to fix their self-starters so they won't work.

The paranola of Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana has calmed down, after a week of tantrums. Many of the beat guessers of the land are predicting that the Senator, with his dictatorial capers, is gradually working himself around to the day when he will be asking the state prison wants his shirts

Our attention is called to a paragraph entitled "Eastern Oregon," in the column written for the Sunday Welcome by Portland's city commis-sioner Clyde. Mr. Clyde writes: "I have just returned from a short

The Last Call

THE Mail Tribune's "bargain week" closes tonight at ten o'clock. After that time the yearly rate will be, by carrier, $7.20 instead of $5; and by mail $5 instead of $3.50.

In the past so many subscribers have bitterly complained because they weren't allowed the bargain rate after the time limit had expired that we are advising all, who wish to take advantage of this material saving, to do so, before ten tonight.

If unable to come to this office, they can send check or oney order in an envelope, which if mailed today, will be deepted.

In the July, 1932, Issue of California, for work for days or weeks. Now that the oney order in an envelope, which if mailed today, will be deepted.

The bargain period has extended over ten days. It was publicly announced many weeks before, and the time limit has been broadcast, day after day, through the columns of the paper.

The Mail Tribune feels that under such circumstances the responsibility for failure to take advantage of the bargain rate rests with the subscriber, not with this newspaper.

This is in the shape of a warning and a last call. The bargain rate will positively not be extended after ten o'clock tonight. There will be no other "bargain week" until September of next year.

There is still time to get in under the wire. Those who fail to do so will have only themselves to blame.

Some Press Agent!

WE have been much interested in the work of Joe (Airflow) Dunne's press agent in the news columns of the Oregonian.

This boy,-whoever he is-is doing a grand job. In practically every issue he makes the front page, which is something few press agents can do. And to say that he is "selling" Joe to the Oregon electorate in true Barnum and Bailey style is putting it mildly indeed.

Today we read, for example, that "Dunne was warmly welcomed" over in Malin. The great man talked twice before 'crowds of farmers' and told them that the development of the Klamath irrigation district from a sagebrush flat into a rich country was one of the "sagas of the Oregon country."

This was sufficient to justify M. Kalina, mayor of Merlin, declaring that "his people will support Senator Dunne," against all other candidates.

FEW days before the genial G. O. P. candidate was in A FEW days before the gennic Airflow Joe Oregon City, In that flourishing metropolis Airflow Joe opened war on "swindle ranks". He informed the pop-eyed proletariat that if he is elected governor all "swindlers and crooks must go to jail."

Joe's faithful Boswell- added this telling statement: "The epublican nominee was in fine fettle, and his spirit took hold immediately in the crowd who cheered his remarks." Think of a gubernatorial candidate having the courage to open war on swindlers and crooks, in OREGON CITY!

The day before Mr. Dunne was at North Bend. Here he ssued his challenge to the reactionary press, which he said were 'merely tools of the powerful petroleum interests" and dared not speak out for "what they must know to be right." This must have referred to that iniquitous organ of plutocracy and special privilege the Oregon Journal!

THEN on September 4th, Joe was over on the coast where 4 "farmers, workers and inhabitants of the famed Curry county coast line from Brookings to Langlois were greeted by Senator Joe E. Dunne." That term "and inhabitants" is good!

Here Joe, according to the bouncing press agent, made a ten strike among the old timers. R. N. Price, 80 year old pioneer of Port Orford, said "a bunch of us old pioneers are figuring on There was a strike of Communistic coming in for your inaugural in January, and we are getting workers in Butgaria Priday, and, as your democratic friends to give you a boost in November, so we trike in Portland.

But Grandpa Price was not the only venerable optimist. There was Ophir R. W. Miller, head of the clan of Millers "who (Hulling LaGrande Observer)—If this is said to be related to nearly everybody in Curry county."

Clan Leader Ophir had a friendly talk with Lorentz and a long ride re-Clan Leader Ophir had a friendly talk with Joe when he (not

Joe) "had finished his task of milking the cows this morning." To which the press agent added this gem of shrewd political

Mr. Miller, independent for all his 81 years, finally agreed to let the man he says will be the next sovernor of Oregon help him carry his milk a quarter mile to the dairy house."

That certainly gives Joe not only the pioneer but the "Independent" vote!

And so it goes on Page 1 of the Oregonian, day after day.

We can't blame the other Republican candidates for being a triffe sore at the free publicity Joe is getting, and the slight notice they receive.

Rut they have no research a consider the product of the page 1. They have no research to consider the page 1. They have no research to page 1. They have no research to consider the page 1. But they have no reason to complain. They should get busy and returned a square-toed country boy. Fairbanks, 14 months abroad, and hire themselves a press agent,—one who can make the first page of the usually cagey and conservative Oregonian, day after day throughout the country the control of the state. I whisk through pages day throughout the campaign,-get a million dollars worth of of description at a glance. I'm readvertising and not pay a dime for it!
