Craterian Stars

"Dames" newest and most spectacular musical comedy romance comes to the Craterian theater, with an all-star cast headed by Joan Blondell, Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler.

Three hundred beautiful girls dance and frolic in beautiful and complicated ensembles that are said to be the most novel and most sensational yet created by that master of special numbers, Busby Berkeley.

The picture contains a number of the catchiest songs of the year. These are sung by Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell and Phil Regan, radio's "Singing Cop."

The story carries a definite plot, one of the most hilarious on record. Joan Blondell bids the cast in the role of a chorus girl masquerade delights in embarrassing dignified gentlemen, and who eventually wed a millionaire moralist.

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler furnish most of the romance as a pair of lovers whose match is anathema to their families. Three famous comedians, ZaSu Pitts, Guy Kibbee and Hugh Herbert, provide a large share of the comedy.

Virginia Bruce Is Star Rialto Drama An authentic version of a grand old classic came to the screen of the Rialto theater yesterday when "Jane Eyre" opened its run there, with Virginia Bruce and Colin Clive in the leading roles.

Virginia Bruce, in the title role, probably gives the finest performance of her successful career. She is a typical "Jane Eyre" and portrays her part with all of the winsome sweetness of her literary counterpart. Colin Clive also gives a remarkably faithful picture of Mr. Rochester, the English gentleman who brings the first breath of romance into the life of the orphaned Jane.

'FAIR' VOTE MAKES VIRTUAL DICTATOR OF NOISY SENATOR

certain that the election was "fair and peaceful." Walmsley added to his police force, also to insure a "fair and peaceful" election.

Despite the martial threat, the city witnessed a quiet election. By the Associated Press

Some shifts in present political lineup occurred in yesterday's primaries in eight states but generally national figures were renominated by their respective parties.

Returns indicated the "new deal" issue played a big part in the outcome but local controversies predominated in many contests, particularly in Louisiana.

Close races for the democratic and republican senatorial nominations in Washington gave Lewis B. Schwellenbach a lead over the democratic field, with John C. Stevenson running close behind. Reno Odlin, Olympia banker, who trailed at first, was ahead of the republican candidate for the senatorship.

Washington's six democratic congressmen were re-nominated in the largest democratic vote ever polled in a primary in that state, indicating a swing toward the "new deal."

In the northeast, however, Senator Warren R. Austin, republican anti-new dealer, was re-nominated in Vermont. He will face Fred C. Martin, democratic contender, in November.

New Hampshire Democrats apparently renominated Representative William N. Rogers in the first district in a "new deal" test. John L. Sullivan, democrat, and H. Stiles Bridge, republican, were nominated as candidates for governor.

At Hartford, Connecticut republicans in convention re-nominated Senator Frederic R. Walcott for the senate. He will oppose Representative Francis T. Maloney, the democratic selection made recently at a convention.

Detroit voting strength was thrown behind Arthur J. Lacy, attorney, in his race for the Michigan democratic gubernatorial nomination against Gov. William A. Comstock, reversing the lead formerly held by the state executive, but leaving the outcome in doubt. Frank A. Picard, the republican nominee, in November. Apparently all the incumbent Michigan congressmen had been renominated, although Representative Harry W. Muselwhite was being pushed by Stanley J. Rick. All four democratic representatives in Colorado were renominated. Governor Edwin C. Johnson, after trailing Miss Josephine Roche in the democratic gubernatorial contest, forged ahead on late returns.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst, veteran Arizona democrat, had a close race with Sidney P. Oeborn for the senatorial nomination but gained in new tabulations. Representative Isabella Greenway was renominated as the democratic candidate for the house.

Olin D. Johnston was nominated for governor of South Carolina over Cole L. Blease in the democratic primary run-off, assuring his election in November. All the representatives were renominated previously.

Representative Wilbur Adams was nominated by the Delaware democratic convention to oppose Senator Townsend, republican.

Frank Roesler Passes Aged 79 Frank Roesler, aged 79, of Talent, passed away at a local hospital early Tuesday morning. He leaves no relatives so far as is known.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Conger chapel by Rev. Father Meagher at 10:30 Thursday morning. Interment in the Medford I. O. O. F. cemetery.

SPENCER TRACY STAR OF STUDIO COMEDY One of the funniest plays in the history of the modern theater, often called "comic in laughs," is now playing at the Studio.

FERRY TELLS OF STAY IN ENGLAND

John Ferry of Poota creek, who recently returned from a year and a half stay in England, gave the principal address last evening at the meeting of the Active club, held at the Hotel Medford. Mr. Ferry was with the British Medical Research council while abroad.

He told the Active club of the American vocabularies, the class system, and the new thought in advertising in England, compared with that used in the United States.

Chester Hubbard, class president, announced an attendance contest for the next six weeks, naming Dr. Dwight H. Findley and O. Hilding Bengtson as leaders for the two sides.

Next week's meeting will be held at Durighe's Italian dining hall, on the old Pacific highway. John Ferry and Frank Perl were guests of the club.
