Announcement of the American Iron & Steel Institute that steel production for the current week was at 22.3 per cent of capacity against 20.9 in the previous week helped to dispel some of the gloom, but the speculative atmosphere was still rather murky and many operators continued to hug the sidelines.

PLEA FOR SAFETY IN AUTO DRIVING VOICED AT KIWANIS MEETING

K. S. Parsons, field association for the Oregon Kiwanis, met Monday, today addressed members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon held at the Hotel Medford.
"Let's quit killing," was the theme of his talk, and Mr. Parsons emphasized the need of bringing before the people the necessity of observing laws and making highways and streets safe for travel.
Since the first of the year, 59 persons have been killed in Portland, and 167 in the state, his figures showed. He told the Kiwanians that speed is the greatest contributing cause and data proves that by excessive speed an average of only five minutes time is saved.
He suggested that all safety appliances be checked regularly, and that drivers should be sure of good tires and good brakes.
He urged that the number of accidents be reduced in this part of the state, and said that more people had been killed in the United States by autos than all wars.

Charlie Chan Is Coming To Rialto

Charlie Chan, portrayed by Warner Oland, solves another blood-chilling mystery in "Charlie Chan's Courage," coming to the Rialto theater tomorrow.
Who threw the deadly knife that killed a faithful Chinese servant? Why did a pet parrot scream, "Bird! Murderer!"? Who killed the help, alienating the scream forever? Who had been murdered at a millionaire's lonely desert mansion... and where was the body?
These are the questions bristling forth from the Earl Derr Biggers story "The Chinese Parrot," that have to be solved by the enigmatic detective on the screen by Warner Oland. It is one of his most baffling mysteries.
The leading feminine role has been given to beautiful Drue Leyton, talented star of the Broadway stage, who makes her debut in a leading motion picture role in "Charlie Chan's Courage." Donald Woods has the juvenile lead opposite her.

Gable, Colbert In Excellent Picture

"It Happened One Night," which is now playing at the Rialto theater, co-starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, is definitely a must-see. It surpasses every expectation and no matter what kind of production you usually like, "It Happened One Night" is sure-fire entertainment of the highest caliber.
Gable is cast as an adventurous newspaperman who hauls his women first and loves them afterwards. Miss Colbert is a rixing society heiress accustomed to riding roughshod over the rest of the world. Just what happens when these two are forced to spend a week together... but the story's too good to be handed about. You'll thank us for it later—see if you don't.

Scarlet Empress Is Lavish Film

Something vividly different in motion picture entertainment was brought to the screen of the Craterian theater yesterday when Marlene Dietrich's new starring vehicle, "The Scarlet Empress," opened its three-day engagement.
Lavishly mounted, filled with a splendor and a magnitude that is seldom seen on the screen, "The Scarlet Empress" likewise offers Marlene Dietrich a chance to do something in the way of acting. Her portrayal of Sophia Fredericks and later, Catherine the Great, is one of her best.
In many ways, "The Scarlet Empress" has subtle uses of silent day technique to make its action even more pronounced. The musical score is a treat for music lovers. Particularly is this true of the sequence which features the famous "Kaminioi-Ostrow," a triumph of instrumental, choral and ringing melody.

TEAR GAS FAILS FRIGHTEN BEARS IN YELLOWSTONE

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UP)—Harried by unceasing raids of hungry bears, Yellowstone Park rangers admit they are stumped when it comes to stopping bruin's petty pilfering.
The rangers seek a way to discourage over-friendly black bears, and to drive them away without inflicting permanent injuries—thereby saving the contents of well-stocked larders.
Park Rangers "Gyp" Wylie and Frank Childs thought they had found the solution in the use of tear gas. Three black bears, ranging in age from two to five years, were selected as subjects for the experiment.
The first bear was fired upon at a distance of 25 feet. The tiny ten-inch gun almost leaped from Wylie's hand. The gas sprayed the head and one side of the bear, but only startled him by the loud report, and he hopped away slowly.
Bear number two received the full charge in his face at a distance of ten feet. At the detonation of the 12-gauge shell, the bear jumped, ran a short distance and then quipped unconcernedly, returned to the meat scraps he had been eating.
Finally a five-year-old mother was approached. Meat scraps enticed her within five feet of the spot where Wylie stood with the tear-gas gun. Childs stood by with a camera to photograph results. The bear sniffed at the lunch and looked inquiringly at Wylie.

"Boom," went the tear-gas gun, while the camera clicked. But the bear did not go; she simply flinched, glanced at her cubs, and then settled down to enjoy the meat scraps.
