

GRAND JURY TOLD HAUPTMANN GIVEN LINDBERGH MONEY

(Continued from page one.) The grand jury room, informed them that the presence of sixteen was necessary to convene the jury and that a majority of twelve was necessary to vote an indictment.

Lindbergh to Appear Colonel Lindbergh is expected to appear before the grand jury Wednesday and one of the witnesses expected to be heard today is Colonel Henry Breckinridge, counsel to Lindbergh who took an active part in the search for the kidnaped baby.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh left Winslow, Ariz., today, resuming their flight from the west coast. They had alighted quietly out of Saugus, Cal., yesterday morning and spent Sunday night at Winslow.

The first witness called before the jury by District Attorney Samuel J. Foley and his assistant, Arthur Carey, was Gregory F. Coleman, Bronx newspaperman and close friend of Or. John F. Condon, the "Jafse" who paid the $50,000 ransom to a supposed emissary of the kidnapers.

After his testimony had been given, the jury took a recess for luncheon. Capt. John J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police, was scheduled as the first witness at the afternoon session.

Dr. Condon Called Other witnesses scheduled to be heard today by the grand jury, of which Patrick J. Dwyer, a builder, is foreman, are Dr. Condon; Walter Lyle and John Lyons, employees at the gasoline filling station where Hauptmann is alleged to have passed the $10 gold certificate that led to his arrest.

Hauptmann, meanwhile, was led from his cell in the Bronx county jail, placed in an armored sheriff's van equipped with bullet-proof glass, and taken to Bronx county magistrate's court, where his case, on a short affidavit charging extortion was adjourned for one week, until Oct. 1.

Hauptmann's case was the first call before Magistrate Bernard McGillesky and when the prisoner entered, the crowd there on business in connection with other cases, scrambled to benches to get a better view. Court attendants ordered the throng back to seats.

Prisoner Silent The prisoner appeared refreshed after a good night's sleep. He said not a word during the proceedings, which required only about two minutes, but stood staring straight ahead as the magistrate, He was clean shaven and wore the same wrinkled suit he had on when arrested last week. His hair was carefully groomed and he wore a white shirt with no tie.

Beside Hauptmann stood a man who later was identified as Bernard Meisels, an attorney associated with James M. Fawcett, attorney for Hauptmann.

Assistant District Attorney Andrew C. McCarthy, requested the postponement. Magistrate McGillesky granted the request, made a notation on the back of the short affidavit, said "No bail," and Hauptmann was led away. Hauptmann passed to the van thru a crowd of about 400 curious persons who vied for vantage points on both sides of the courthouse.

Doubt Kirsh Story A New Jersey state trooper, who has worked on the Lindbergh case from its beginning today characterized as "just another eccentric" Helen Kirsh, 56, who told Atlantic City police she had heard a discussion of the Lindbergh kidnaping on the night it took place.

The woman was held by Atlantic City police as a material witness after she told them she had heard underworld characters discussing the kidnaping in a small side avenue hotel in Atlantic City. The state trooper, Louis Borman, arrived in Atlantic City early today, questioned the woman for more than an hour. He said her story was without foundation and suggested that she be given a mental test.

Paulin a Romancer Lieut. John J. Sweeney, of the Newark, N. J., police, termed "a born romancer," George Paulin, Ohio state convict who said he had received a code message telling of the plan to kidnap the Lindbergh baby. Sweeney assisted the state police in checking Paulin's story when the convict was taken to New Jersey two and a half years ago. He said today that police were told of the note then, but said it was not shown to them.

However, Amanda Thomas, mail censor at the prison, insisted that Paulin's claim to acquaintanceship with Hauptmann was bona fide. Miss Thomas said the comment by officials in the east that the Paulin angle was "a bust" was an "insult to my intelligence."

It developed today that Paulin carried a promise of a pardon from Governor George when he came to New Jersey in 1932 to tell authorities of the code note.

SPECIAL TRAIN LEAVING FRIDAY WITH CCC MEN

First Lieut. Edward M. Aikire of Camp Tye, will command the special train which will leave here Friday with CCC members who are to be discharged in the middle-west.

First Lieut. Andrew J. Hemstreet will accompany the train as mess officer and First Lieut. Hjalmer T. Gentle will be medical officer.

The train will carry 410 members who will be discharged at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. They will include 68 members from Camp Tye, 63 from Camp China Plats, 83 from Camp Tiller, 49 from Camp South Fork and 60 from Camp Rand. This includes members who do not wish to be re-enrolled and others who have completed the allotted time in the CCC.

The second special train will leave Medford October first with Captain Carroll H. Sawyer in command. It will carry a group of members for discharge as well as the colored enrollees who are being sent back to their original corps areas.

Lieut. Reginald K. Kennedy will accompany the train as mess officer and Lieut. Francis K. Smith, navy medical officer, will be train surgeon. The discharged members will be replaced soon with new CCC men from the same corps areas.

PLAN AIR PHOTOS OF 27 CCC CAMPS

Aerial photographs of all CCC camps in the Medford district will be taken during the next two months, according to Major Clare H. Armstrong, district commander.

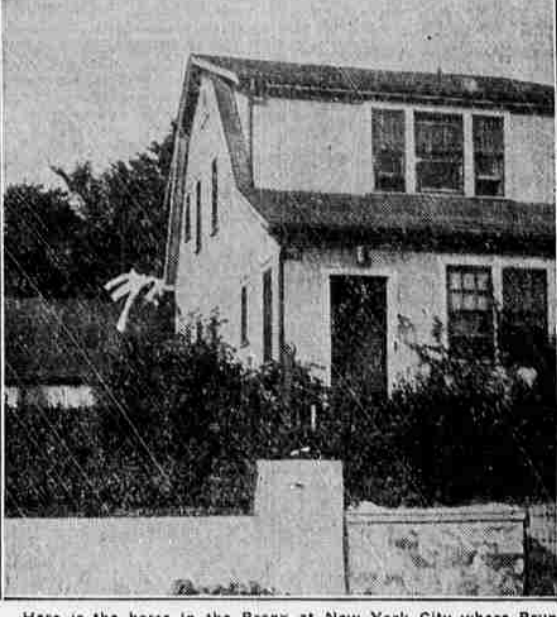

Captain Eastley R. Farley, air reserve, who has been on CCC duty here for several months, has completed arrangements to photograph the 27 winter camps in this district. Captain Farley will fly his own plane and will utilize the services of an aerial photographer from Portland.

The project will supply the headquarters with a complete aerial survey of the camps in this district. It will be financed by sale of the pictures to the officers and men desiring them.

The schedule for the flights will be drawn up at headquarters to permit all of the men in each camp to appear in formation in the pictures. Captain Farley is an experienced aerial photographer as well as a flyer.
