

HUGE CRAB PILE WAITING ELKS AT TEMPLE TONIGHT

Thirty-six dozen crabs, fresh from the salt-washed beaches along the coast of northern Oregon, will furnish the main part of the feed at the Elks' temple tonight as a part of the "blowout" which will celebrate the fact that the Medford lodge was organized just 25 years ago today. The crabs, which were obtained near Marshfield, make a considerable stack in the Elks' kitchen, and will be required in short order tonight to stock up on shells and piners by a crowd of lodge members and friends estimated to exceed 400.

The crab feed will be but the first part of a gala celebration prophesied to be one of the largest and most entertaining ever staged in local Elksdom. E. N. Butler, exalted ruler, stated today that plans are running smoothly for every feature of the event, which is scheduled to include band music, a billiard contest and a gigantic CCG smoken, besides the 6 o'clock feast.

Mentiment to the tunes of Wilson Wait and his Elks' band will settle down to a serious enough level directly after the banquet to witness the challenge billiard match between John Tumlin and H. C. Armstrong and Reg. Flier and J. V. Watson, in a 10-point, three-cushion affair. Tumlin and Armstrong will be set to call the challenge of their opponents.

Then the smoker will get the spotlight, with six four-round matches scheduled and arranged by Jerry Jerome, to furnish some of the best talent offered in all of Oregon's CCG detachment.

Leroy Smith, colorful fistuff king from Camp Wingasasa, will clash gloves with Rudy Lenzar, pride of the ring from Camp South Fork of the Rogue, in the main event. Both contestants, who strip at 185, have yet to meet their better among the civilian corps.

This bout will top a list of fighters which will demonstrate all kinds of boxing, from haymaker type to high-stepping parlor variety. The semi-final bout will feature the former kind of mitwork, when Walter Szumanski, 160, of South Fork, tangles with Tom Walker, 156, of Applegate.

The other four matches will also furnish their shares of colorful boxing, in a card which is scheduled to set a merry pace before the evening is over.

Capt. John R. Merrill of Camp Wingasasa will referee. Dr. Hjalmer T. Gentile of district headquarters will be attending surgeon. Lieut. Henry F. Phelan of Oak Knoll and Lieut. Roy Craft of headquarters are arranging the card, under the direction of Maj. Clare H. Armstrong, district commander, who plans to attend as a guest of the lodge.

Famous Grid Player Of 90's Reappears

Patrick John O'Dea was found in California living as Charles J. Mitchell. O'Dea is one of the immortals of football, holding many records for his punting and all around gridiron ability while playing for the University of Wisconsin from 1896 for four years. O'Dea said he found his football reputation a handicap after settling in San Francisco so he changed his name to Mitchell in 1919 and lives in Westwood, Cal. (Associated Press Photo) and said nothing during the brief proceeding, which required five or six minutes.

His plea of "not guilty" was voiced by his counsel, James M. Fawcett, after Judge Patterson had opened "the case of the state of New York against Bruno Hauptmann and his several aliases." The court announced that the arraignment was made on a bench warrant handed down yesterday at the same time that the Bronx county grand jury filed its indictment.

Bail Fixed at $100,000.

Judge Patterson fixed bail at $100,000.

Fawcett then made application for the bail to be reduced to $5,000. Court adjourned and the prisoner was led away.

Judge Patterson said that the arraignment this morning automatically scrapped the short affidavit on which Hauptmann had been held.

Fawcett disclosed today that he had received two anonymous letters threatening him bodily harm if he did not withdraw from the case. He said one was from Asbury Park, N. J., and the other from Rochester, N. Y. Fawcett said he considered them of no importance and was not even having them investigated.

Police continued their persistent work on the Hauptmann home in the Bronx with carpenters today, tearing the simple frame structure to bits.

Continue Search.

Since the discovery of $13,750—the original Lindbergh ransom cache—in the garage, both house and garage had been searched minutely; a search that was crowned yesterday with the discovery of $840 more in ransom notes, and a pistol, hidden cleverly in a crevice of the garage.

Confronted with the money and the weapon, Hauptmann answered stolidly:

"Yes, that's mine. I bought that pistol from a German-American a few years ago. The money is part of the Lindbergh ransom money. You should know that."

Under a fire of questions from District Attorney Samuel J. Foley, he said, "You won't find another penny if you take the house apart," and clamped his lips shut.

"Well, now we'll take the house apart," said the prosecutor.

CROWD TEARS MRS. ASTOR'S DRESS

A shoving, pushing crowd of 2,500 which jammed the street in front of the Church of Heavenly Rest in New York caused the dress of Mrs. John Jacob Astor III (center) to be torn as she left the church after the wedding of Miss Joan Blake and Henry Herman Jarles, Mrs. Astor, who was a bridesmaid, exclaimed "Oh, mercy!" as her dress was torn and people got in her way as she left. VAN DYKE MAKING RAPID RECOVERY

Verne Van Dyke, Medford deer hunter lost for 48 hours in the Umpqua divide country, is recuperating rapidly at his home from his experiences, in which he lost 15 pounds in weight, and two nights sleep. All he does is eat and sleep, and he hopes to be back at work at Lamport's by the end of next week. His principal food to date has been orange juice, chicken broth, and eggs. His stomach suffered from deer meat cooked over a campfire on a stick, without salt.

Friends acquainted with the wild country in which Van Dyke was lost, say he escaped perishing largely thru using his knowledge of the woods, and what to do when lost. As soon as he realized he was lost he stopped and built a fire, instead of wandering until dark came.

Since his return Van Dyke has been the target of a number of good-natured "wise-cracks." They issue chiefly from those whose faces were longest when he was missing.

by way of replies to foes; perhaps an elaboration of the president's opinion that some business leaders have too many "inhibitions."

Issue Up to Industry

This feeling of his that industry should take more of a position of leadership in the recovery drive was underscored yesterday in an interview in which he made it plain that he planned no direct reply to the list of questions propounded to him by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The queries sought a statement from him on expenditures, budget balancing, currency stabilization and the government's part in business. The chamber's open letter spoke of public "apprehension." Although the president plans no direct reply, some observers felt that he would seek in his radio speech to assure some business leaders that they are needlessly nervous.

The president will go on the air at 7 o'clock, Pacific standard time, speaking for about 20 minutes.

Do You Really Want To Stop That Cough?

You can do it with a couple of doses of Broncholine Emulsion—with half a bottle anyway. It's no pleasant tasting sweet sugar-cough syrup, but it's one with a real kick. As a matter of fact, it feels great going down. Gives INSTANT RELIEF. Soothes a hacking, racking cough almost while you are swallowing it. Money back if it doesn't give you relief. Jarvin's Drug Store and all other good druggists guarantee it.
