Secret Witnesses Give Authorities Important Clues

and they flatly denied that Hauptmann had been at their home or in their company at any time of the day or night of April 2, 1932, when 'Jafel' handed the box of ransom money over a cemetery hedge to a man resembling Hauptmann.

"On further interrogation, it is said, the man and woman gave authorities some important information regarding Hauptmann and his friends, the nature of which has not been disclosed. Officials have indicated, however, that this information has a vital bearing on the damaging case being constructed against Hauptmann by the prosecution."

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A civil engineer today said he saw Bruno Hauptmann within a few miles of the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

The engineer is William B. Dennis, 48, and he told newspapermen he would repeat his assertions to a jury.

COMING OF DEANS SPREADS FEAR IN LAIR OF BENGALS

The battle will be on and the lid off for perhaps one of the old game's most spectacular big shows from the moment that the spearhead of the Cardinal outsiders, Pepper Martin, steps up to the plate in the first inning of the opening game, grins at his old foe — Mickey Cochrane, the king-tigerman—and takes the first heavy swing at the home offerings.

From the sidelines, jamming every segment of the arena at Navin field, close to 48,000 onlookers will let loose the old familiar roar for the send-off to the first Tiger team in 25 years to fight its way into the final round of the major league battle.

Seats All Sold

Every available reserved seat, totaling 28,000, has been sold. Twice as many could have been disposed of, if they had been available to meet the extraordinary demands from a pennant-hungry populace in the world's motor-car capital. By tonight it was assured the long lines would be formed by the hardy seekers of $1.10 bleacher tickets, 20,000 of which go on sale early tomorrow morning.

The American league champions, reared and ready, will be backed by one of the most uproarious rooting sections in the last decade of baseball warfare. They call it the "team of destiny" heretofore, but it will take plenty of base-hits and strong-armed hurling to give Old Man Denton a decision over the coming "miracle men" of St. Louis, heroes of one of the greatest uphills triumphs in the history of the game.

Odds on Cards

Betting men today favored the Cardinals to pick up where the New York Giants left off a year ago and keep the world championship in the National league. On the basis of the cold figures and all analysis of the comparative "dope" it appeared likely to be a knock-down-and-drag-out fight, but such was the confidence in the present momentum of the St. Louis outfit that many close observers looked for a short, decisive engagement, with the Dean brothers in the leading role. In gambling parlance, the Cardinals are unquestionably the "hot choice" until actual events on the ball field prove to the contrary.

Unless there's more to the pre-battle juggling of pitching prospects than seems warranted by logic, it will be Jerome Bernard (Dizzy) Dean, elder of the famous brothers, against Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, 22-year-old Tiger ace, in the first game—a hurling "natural" of the year between two of the greatest young right handers baseball has ever produced.
