CARDS TIE UP SERIES BY 4-3 WIN

By PAUL MALLON. (Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon) WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—There can be no doubt about the confidential efforts now being made by the most prominent new dealers to effect better understanding with business.

All the details being offered at the White House and elsewhere are of or diplomatic purposes.

That is what seems to have been behind President Roosevelt's own publicized meetings with business and financial men at Hyde Park and on the Astor yacht at the cup races.

Also what is behind the dinner conferences which Mr. Moley is holding from time to time with business men in New York and elsewhere.

What seems to have happened is this: The Tugwellian wing of the brain trust here has been saying all along that the fears of business men were not sincere; that business was just bleating because the new deal was interfering with its greedy purposes.

The more practical brain trusters, particularly Moley, could see there was more in the business attitude than that. They thought it might be merely a case of misunderstanding and they are trying to make it clear to do, at any rate, was to try and find out what was wrong.

No one here believes the administration has any idea of sacrificing any of its policies. The only purpose seems to be for business and government to work together so each can have a better knowledge of the other's problems and ideas.

It is quite true, as stated by the White House and Mr. Moley, that he is acting on his own initiative. But it is also true that anything of importance heard by Mr. Moley during these dinners also will undoubtedly be heard later by the president.

The administration is having considerable trouble away down deep with the progressive Republicans. These progressive boys were satisfied with the careful, helpful attitude taken by Mr. Roosevelt regarding their present campaigns for re-election to the house, senate and the gubernatorial chairs.

FINE DEFENSIVE PLAY SAVES GAME FOR YOUNG DEAN

St. Louis Wobbles At Start But Finishes Strong — Schoolboy Rowe Hit Hard — Title Game Tomorrow.

NAVIN FIELD, DETROIT, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals after cracking miserably at first, rose to the most brilliant heights of the world series today to drive to victory behind young Paul Dean, defeat the great Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and win the sixth game, 4 to 3, tying the count at three games each.

The Cardinals got young Dean, who allowed but seven hits, five of them of the scratchy variety, into all kinds of trouble in the early innings. Then they pulled him out with a great defensive play that reached its height in the seventh, when Frankie Frisch, the chief offender, cut off a run with a fine throw to the plate and Bill Delaney, playing grand ball all the way, nipped Jo Jo White trying to steal second to end the inning.

Again in the eighth, when the Tigers piled on Dean for two straight hits, Jim Collins ended the inning with a great catch of Hank Greenberg's foul near the seats in front of the short left field stand.

The Cardinals, led by Leo (Libby) Durocher, whose bat was silent except on two previous occasions in the hectic battles, led the Cardinal attack with three hits and scored two runs while young Dean, winning his second game of the series and putting the Cards back on even terms, drove in the winning run in the seventh a single to right after Durocher had doubled to the center field wall.

The Cardinals touched Rowe, pitching hero of the second game, for two hits, and Goose Goslin, steady plod warhorse of the American leaguers, added to his troubles with a wild throw to the plate in the fifth, allowing Durocher to score safely with the first run of that inning, after singling and being sacrificed ahead by Dean, and allowing Pepper Martin, who singled Durocher in, to reach third on the mislay. Martin scored a moment later when Rothrock grounded out.

The paid attendance was 44,551, highest for the three games here, and receipts were $243,660 as the hysterical Detroit fandom, out for the final kill of the series, packed the stands under perfect weather conditions.

'DIZZY' AND 'DAFFY' LIKE FAN MAIL

COOKING SCHOOL GIVES HOUSEWIFE NEW ZEST FOR JOB

One of the outstanding events of the year for women is here. A cooking school it is, to be sure, but what a cooking school. This year's cooking is done in a kitchen much different from that of grandmother's day.

There are hours and hours less time needed in cooking—there's less work and more fun. Today's kitchen is a real "Happy Kitchen"—or ought to be. If your three meals a day seem struck out—by P. Dean 2 (White 2), Greenberg, Rowe), Rose 3 (Delaney 2, Medwick, Collins, Martin). Time of game, 1:58.

LABOR APPROVES 30-HOUR WEEK TO AID EMPLOYMENT

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Amid thunderous applause, the American Federation of Labor went on record at its convention here today as favoring the five-day 30-hour week, with no reduction in wages, as the only constructive remedy for relief of unemployment.

Without a dissenting vote, the convention floor voted to approve the report of the committee on the shorter work day which provided that the A. F. of L. executive committee spare no efforts in obtaining the enactment of legislation providing for the six-hour and five-day week.

HUGE HOMESTEAD PLAN PROPOSED IN COULEE DAM ZONE

Removal Of 60,000 Families From Sub-Marginal And Slum Lands Of Western States To Rich Area Aim.

By H. C. HUNTER Pacific Northwest Correspondent WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A plan for the removal of 60,000 families from submarginal and "slum lands" of the western states to the rich lands of the Columbia river basin in central Washington, has been outlined to President Roosevelt and reclamation officials here by Frank T. Bell, Washington commissioner of fisheries and farm operator.

Bell's plan contemplates self-maintenance homesteads of 20 acres each, the completion of the high dam at the Grand Coulee project, the irrigation of lands as needed for homesteads, the delivery of 10 horsepower electric energy from the dam to each family to run appurtenant to the land, and the repayment by the settlers of all costs within a period of 10 years.

Give Employment Bell declared under his plan "gainful employment" would be furnished thousands of persons for years and open the way for thousands of families to become self-sufficient.

As outlined by Bell today, the government would purchase the 1,200,000 acres of new arid land in central Washington at not more than $10 an acre. This land would be divided into 20-acre units and sold to settlers to be paid for within 10 years.

The settlers would receive weekly wages for labor on the homestead projects, one-half to be paid in cash, the remainder to be applied by the government on payment for their land, electric and water rights.

"This weekly work plan," Bell explained, "would allow the purchaser sufficient time outside of work to improve his land for irrigation."

Take Ten Years The commissioner contemplated that it would take at least 10 years to bring the land under irrigation and said that during this time the settlers would be self-supporting and all prepared for water when the project was completed.

The plan calls for government advances of from $500 to $1000 for materials for improvement of land, dwellings and other buildings, for each homestead. The loans would be repaid on the same basis as the purchase price of the land.

Marshall Dana And Plane Sustain Slight Injuries When Forced Down In Mountainous Region.

ELK CITY, Idaho, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Marshall Dana, Portland, and Bert Zimmerley, his pilot, walked into Elk City this morning, leaving their wrecked plane 10 miles east of here. Both were bruised, but not badly hurt.

Their ship was forced down in heavy timber by motor trouble a few minutes after their take-off from here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Lewiston. Dana, northwest director of the public works planning board, had been conferring with Governor C. Ben Ross, Representative Compton I. White (D. Idaho) here yesterday.

Zimmerley said the trouble developed in the motor soon after he began getting altitude for the climb over the high mountains surrounding this mining hamlet, and he was forced to land in the timber. A casual inspection of the ship did not reveal the extent of the damage to it, but the wings and fuselage were badly torn.

Red River hot springs is 27 miles east of Elk City. In one of the most rugged sections of the Nez Perce National forest. A forest highway runs to the springs, and it was assumed here that the two men would be brought out by automobile.

Dana and Zimmerley left Elk City at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and when they had not been reported by nightfall it was assumed they had been lost. Searching parties set out from here and other places, and ground forces were on duty throughout the night. Fred Zimmerley took to the air at daybreak.

SPANISH REBELS LOSE TWO CITIES

MADRID, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Spanish government forces today recaptured the important cities of Oviedo and Gijon, earlier taken by the rebels after fierce battles.

Oviedo, an important munitions center in northern Spain, was regarded as vital to the government because of the arms and munition it contained.

Gijon, on the Bay of Biscay, was captured by the rebels early today. Government infantry forces entered Oviedo under a barrage of field artillery fire, scattering the rebels in disorder. The revolutionists attempted to collect their scattered forces in the waterworks building, but were driven out into the surrounding mountain area by machine gun batteries.

MARTIN WOULD MOVE NEAR JOB

SALEM, Oct. 8.—(AP)—"If I am elected governor, I will come down here and make my home with you in Salem," General Charles H. Martin told members of the chamber of commerce at the regular Monday noon luncheon here.

"I am buying no bargains and making no promises unless I can go into office with clean hands, he governor for all the people without regard for factions. I do not want the office," Martin declared, and reiterated previous statements that if elected governor he intended to exercise rigid control over the finances of the state.

The democratic candidate for governor of Oregon made some first hand observations upon conditions over the state as he had found them, during the course of some 6000 miles of travel during the past two months.

COLONEL IS AMONG 24 WITNESSES IN GRAND JURY'S QUIZ

Widow Of Lindbergh's Butler Is Among Those Giving Important Testimony In Hearing In New Jersey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—James M. Farwell, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, said today he was prepared to introduce witnesses "in any court" to show that Hauptmann was not present at either the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh or the transfer of the $50,000 ransom money.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP)—An indictment charging Bruno Richard Hauptmann with murder in the kidnaping of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was returned today by a Hunterdon county grand jury.

The grand jury returned to the courtroom at 4:07 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The grand jury, composed of 20 men and three women, began its deliberations at 10:29 a. m., after hearing testimony from Supreme Court Justice Thomas Trenchard.

Its actual deliberations and hearing of evidence consumed four hours and forty-two minutes. The fourth witness called before the jury was Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who made his second visit to Flemington to relate before a Hunterdon county grand jury a story of the kidnaping of his infant son two and a half years ago.

The occasion of his first visit was a little more than two years ago when he was a witness before the grand jury that later indicted John Hughes Curtis, confessed boaster in the kidnap case.

In all today's grand jury heard twenty-four witnesses. Among them was Mrs. Gille Whitley, widow of the Lindbergh butler, and the woman who was with Betty Gow, the kidnaped baby's nurse, a few weeks after the kidnaping when they found the infant's metal thumb guard on a newly built gravel road leading from the Lindbergh house to the main road to the estate.
