GRID GUESSER EVASIVE ON WEBFOOT-HUSKY CLASH

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Donning iron helmets for protective purposes, and operating on the theory that the best defense is a strong offense, football prognosticators plunged anew into their weekly task today.

Utterly disregarding the explosions of last week, here's how the slate for today and tomorrow shapes up so far as can be discerned from this neutral corner.

ZIMMERMAN HERE CAMPAIGNING FOR GOVERNOR CHAIR

Peter Zimmerman of Yamhill county, independent candidate for governor, is spending the week end in Jackson county making speeches, shaking hands and building political fences.

Earl W. Snell, Republican candidate for secretary of state, is the only other political "big shot" to visit the valley this week.

He was here Thursday renewing old acquaintances and passing out cards.

To date, neither state or county candidates have succeeded in stirring up any political interest, though nobody has tried. The voters are "apathetic," and showing no signs of becoming frenzied.

beaten in their debut last week. Strictly on a hunch, this particular guesser leans in the general direction of Notre Dame.

Ohio-State Illinois—Perhaps as close a ball game as the card offers, but this ballot goes to the Buckeyes.

Navy-Maryland—Another for Tom Hamilton's sailors, but it may be close.

Yale-Penn.—Both beaten last week, but the Elis showed more against Columbia than Penn did against UConn. A vote for Yale.

Cornell-Syracuse—Cornell isn't as bad as the defeat by Richmond indicated, but Syracuse's veterans get the call.

Army-Drake—Well, it's a nice ride to West Point.

Temple-Indiana—There's scoring power to burn in Pop Warner's Temple eleven and the odds are favored.

Michigan State-Carnegie—Garnegie hasn't opened up with its full bag of tricks, but State looks much stronger.

Harvard-Brown—There's considerable doubt whether Harvard is ready for this one.

It seems to be the general opinion that the next two weeks will see a grand awakening all over the state, and that the political fur will fly until election day two weeks from next Tuesday.

Interest shown to date locally concerns the gubernatorial contest and the 20 per cent tax limitation measure.

Presbyterians to Meet—Tonight there will be a meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church to confer with an advisory committee from the Presbytery on plans for the future.
