

LELAND CLARK IS NEW CHAMPION OF PAT TOURNAMENT

Defeats Walter Leverette 4 and 2 in Final Play—Picture Magnate's Putter Fails At Critical Time.

Through 36 holes of gruelling golf, Leland Clark shot his way to a 4 and 2 victory over Walter Leverette Sunday, winning the silver championship trophy of the annual P. A. T. tournament after climbing through a field of more than 100 contestants who entered the regular 11 event at the Rogue Valley course two months ago.

Clark landed his second shots on the green unerringly, and coupled with accurate putting, his approach work showed up better throughout the match than that of his opponent. Leverette's margin of defeat lay in his putting, which faltered on crucial holes.

Clark led at 18 holes. After ending the first nine all even, Clark forged to a 3-up lead at the close of the morning's 18 holes. Leverette carded 91 for the first round, while Clark took a 75.

Leverette had been shooting beautiful golf throughout the tournament, and Sunday was never out of the running until the climax. His putting, although not up to usual standards, was slightly better than consistently poor, with frequent deadly shots showing up.

Clark Hot at Start. The match started with Clark grabbing a neat 4-0 on No. 2, a birdie three on No. 3, and pars on No. 5, 6 and 9.

Leverette continued his average of one over par for the next nine holes, while Clark turned in four pars and a birdie four on No. 6.

Weather Favors Tourney. The tournament was met with fine weather throughout most of the six days it has been underway, and has been featured by close contests, which are a credit to the work of the handicap committee and Pro Jack Hueston.

TRIO OF COACHES TAKE BOWS FROM COAST GRID FANS

Stagg, Mitchell And Pecarovich Endow Teams With Ability To Upset Dope Bucket—Bears Look Bad.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Football fandom on the sunset side of the Rockies snapped out of a week-end headache today to offer a toast to a grand old man of a great game.

In addition to Stagg, the far west saluted Clarence "Brock" Mitchell of Nevada and Mike Pecarovich of Gonzaga, whose combined ages fall far short of the three score and ten and more full years that make up the life of the oldest coach of them all.

Stagg's fine young College of Pacific team that looked far greater in defeat than did California's giant Golden Bears in winning by the margin of one point, 7 to 6.

Stagg may have feared Purdue in his 40 years at Chicago, but those who root and root for the blue and gold of California don't know why.

The Pacific boys showed the result of careful coaching and thorough fundamentals, while the fantastic formations and brilliant passing attack they combined in goalward rushes had Bill Ingram's Bears in a nervous frenzy throughout the afternoon.

MEDFORD, EUREKA GAME FURNISHED THRILLS APLENTY

18 to 14 Victory For Tigers Result Of Machine-Like Play—Loggers Threatened In Final Minutes

(By Harold Grove)

With perfect weather conditions prevailing, and playing on a magnificent field, the Medford high Tigers clawed their way to a 18-14 win over a tricky Eureka high school eleven last Saturday night in Eureka before a crowd of some two thousand persons.

California's still shaky Bears met their "little brothers," the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, who act like they might get tough about it. The Bruins disrupted Montana, 16-0, last week.

BRONCOS DEFEAT LOYOLA 9 TO 0

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Santa Clara university's football Broncos remained among the nation's leading unbeaten teams today and thankful for every point of their hard fought 9-0 victory over Loyola here yesterday at Gilmore stadium before 20,000 persons.

Santa Clara's touchdown came on the first play of the second quarter when Joe (Salty) Saltino salted away the game by circling left end from the four inch line. Then with only one minute to play Bob Boeshardt completed the Bronco's scoring with a field goal from the 22 yard line.

He outdistanced all pursuers and forced officials to hold up the last minute of play ten minutes while they obtained a new ball.

At the request of the state relief commission, the Texas prison system arranged to butcher and can up to 100 head of drought relief cattle for an indefinite period.

Medford started a march for the Eureka goal line at the opening kickoff. The Tigers toog the oval on a series of line plays through tacking for constant gains, Bill Bates carrying the ball. But they were soon halted when they approached scoring territory. Eureka took the ball and brought it back to midfield. Medford again took the ball and marched down to Eureka's two-yard line, where Ghelardi on an off-tackle play zoomed like a bullet through the line for the first touchdown. Brown, on an attempted place kick, failed to convert.

Eureka Takes to Air. In the second quarter the Loggers were forced to punt three times to Medford's once. In the last two minutes of the second quarter, Eureka opened up with a passing attack that could be matched with that of any college eleven and flew to a touchdown and on a double fake reverse, or something like that, went over for the extra point. At this point the fans couldn't hold themselves any longer. They went wild with excitement. As the Eureka were on another march to the goal line the whistle sounded, ending the half.

The kickoff of the second half marked the continuation of anybody's ball game. Eureka had outpassed the Tigers but the Medford boys gave a better account of themselves on line plunging. Medford halted for a time the victory cry of the Loggers by smashing their way to two touchdowns in quick succession in the third quarter.

Eureka Scores Second. However, in the fourth quarter, the Eureka seemed to take the aggressive side of the question. On a thrilling passing attack, the Loggers tore down the field for their second touchdown and another double fake reverse scored the conversion. The quarter was still early with only three minutes gone. Medford elected to kick and Eureka started another passing attack that was cut short by Brown, who intercepted a pass that, if completed, would have spelled defeat for Medford. But this wasn't the end of the football game by any means, for the heady little Ghelardi called for a pass on the second play. It was intercepted by Ball of the Eureka team and, with the aid of three of his own team, started on a race for the goal line. Ghelardi showed them he was a defensive man as well as an offensive man by getting tangled in the feet of the interference men and halting the whole affair. Medford took the ball after the Loggers' fumble and punted. Eureka had possession of the ball when the game ended.

The boys have declared this the opening drive for the state championship. Marafield is the next opponent.
