Scout Leaders Form Association

The Girl Scout Leaders' association has had its first meeting to discuss problems and to make plans for the coming year.

Some of the leaders who arrived early played ping-pong, after which the meeting formally opened with the election of officers.

A very interesting project will be the learning of handicrafts such as raffia weaving, soap carving, sewing, puppets, dish gardens, silhouettes, paintings, and many other things which will help to make a troop meeting a lot of fun.

Some time in the near future they plan to have a talk on camping and trailing, and day and overnight hikes by Mrs. Chas. Bateman, who attended a training camp this summer in Washington.

A committee was appointed by the president to arrange these interesting meetings for the current year.

Going to camp is a big moment to the Girl Scout and it should also be to her leader, it was pointed out. At a training camp the leader should get many new ideas, learn new things and experiences the true joy of girl scouting.

Mrs. Bateman urged the leaders to make plans now for camp next summer.

The hostesses for the evening were Miss Vera Humphrey, Miss Ruth Meusel and Mrs. Velma Jennings.

The following leaders attended the meeting: Mesdames R. E. Van Valzah, Drysdale, Bengtson, Jennings, Misses Humphrey, Aileen Latham, Helen Bullis, Marjorie Plake, Goff, Ruth Clark, Meusel and Neal. Mrs. Bateman, Mrs. Goodwin Humphrey, a member of the community committee, who obtains the leaders for the troops, and Mrs. Soderberg were guests of the evening.

MANY GET LIMIT OF PHEASANTS ON SEASONS OPENING

With all its clamor, pheasant season opened this morning and most of Medford's male citizenry picked up shot guns big and little to try their luck with the first glimpse of the sun.

There were lots of birds, but it is the opinion of those who saw highways and byroads lined with cars and fields bristling with a steadily moving array of guns, that there were more hunters.

Although many returned in time for the day's business, some with their game bags crammed full, others are still beating through the thickets this afternoon with the intention of starting the season out right by making a day of it.

More than a few hunters succeeded in bagging the limit in short order, and nearly everyone returned to the city with some proof that he had been hunting.

Al Piche and Floyd Jenkins, veteran hunters, are among the successful early risers today, having each bagged the limit on the foothills of Roxy Ann. They report flushing 12 pheasants in one bunch, and running into hunters in even greater numbers.

Another party took to the fields east of Central Point, Al Seakate, Glenn Fabrick and Chester Hubbard, returning to the city with a bag of six pheasants. Fred Scheffel, accompanied by Lee Garlock, succeeded in bagging three this morning, while Capt. M. Milton Potter had good luck south of Eagle Point at the edge of the desert, also reporting a large number of hunters.

Although the crack of gunfire awakened Medford from all sides this morning, the firing has not been as heavy and as steady as it was last year. Many scattered gunshots could be heard, with occasional rapid firing telling that some bevy of quail was scurrying to cover, but the action seemed to take place in bursts, rather than a steady deluge.

State police were busy this morning, patrolling roads and checking licenses and game bags. They reported several arrests, mainly for shooting from roadways or bagging more than the one female Chinese pheasant allowed by the law.

Officers expected to make a complete check of hunting during the day, and to put a stop to all law-breaking.

Among the hunters who took to the fields this morning and sent up a vast cloud of smoke that added to the all ready lowering skies, were: Mayor George Porter, Major Clare H. Armstrong and Dr. E. C. Mulholland, John Wilkinson, T. E. Daniels, Bert Rostel, Fred Robinson, J. V. Watson and Jimmy Moore. Gene Childers, Jack Moran, Leland Brophy, E. K. Littrell, Steve Stevens, Dr. D. W. Stone, Henry Pringle, Charles Pitenett, Leonard Christine, Chester Webb, George Carvin, Cleve Clevengrub, Ernest Beer, Frank Boon, L. J. Holbrook, Clarence Ends.

Herman Burgoyne, Carl Burgoyne, Chester Young, and Carl Young report bagging a good share of pheasants, while Tom Robinson, traffic officer, says he got the limit with little trouble in the Table Rock district, also shooting several quail. John Yaunza reports bagging one rooster in the fields south of Medford. Dale Fornbrook, L. D. Fornbrook, and Elmo Dunlavy had good luck on the foothills of Roxy Ann.

SCIENTIST WOULD TRY REVIVING EXECUTED MEN

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 15.—(AP)—A request that he be permitted to attempt to resuscitate executed criminals in the interests of science was made today to the governors of Arizona, Colorado and Nevada by Dr. Robert E. Cornish, who successfully revived a clinically killed dog in experiments to restore life.

Dr. Cornish, who put a mongrel dog to death in his laboratory last April 13 and revived the animal, asked the governors' cooperation in carrying out his proposed experiments.

Should such permission be granted, Dr. Cornish stated that legally such an executed prisoner, if revived, be free, but he added the prisoner probably would consent to serving a life term.

In his letters to the governors, Dr. Cornish declared he would not proceed without the consent of the prisoner, his attorneys or relatives.

AIR LINE LOSES BATTLE AGAINST CANCELLING MAIL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP) The government succeeded today in the supreme court in turning back an attack on the constitutionality of the cancellation of airmail contracts last February.

The court refused to review a case brought by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. Lower courts had held it must be dismissed because the government could not be sued without its consent. The decision stands.

In addition, the court refused to aid Alphonse Capone, convicted Chicago gangster recently removed to the Alcatraz federal penitentiary, in his effort to obtain freedom.

It declined to review the refusal of lower courts to affirm him. The court also affirmed an injunction, granted by the lower court against a section of the New York milk control act which prohibits milk dealers from selling their product purchased outside the state for less than the same grade produced within the state.

A special three-judge federal court had held the section unconstitutional and enjoined its enforcement.

CHRISTS MAJESTY TRANSCENDS ALL ASSERTS PASTOR

Speaking yesterday morning from the text 2 Cor. 8:9, "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor; that ye through His poverty might be rich." Fred M. Weatherford, pastor-evangelist of the Church of the Nazarene, said in part as follows:

"What spectacle presents the most sublime picture in the known world? Can it be found in the magnificent splendor yielding attractions of nature: in the beautifully shaped Alpine heights of Switzerland; or in the rugged grandeur of the massive Rockies which lift its hoary peaks to etch their majestic forms against the falling shades of a western sunset glow; or in the dizzy altitudes of the lofty Andes; or would we find it in the cathedral-like giant forests; or can it be seen in the picturesque variegated landscape?"

"No; there is something more infinitely beautiful and resplendent; more wonderful and sublime than all these. When we behold the majesty of Christ, the brilliant radiance of His glory, whose footstool is the earth—Jesus, the God-like man who died for us—that is the most sublime picture in the known world.

"But this picture goes beyond the beautiful and the esthetic—no mother's love can feature in competition with His love. He who related to us His love, Himself laid down His life for His friends. Yes, and much more—He dared lay down His life for His enemies. This depicts to us that unparalleled sacrifice of immeasurable worth.

"He was rich in wisdom and mercy toward a sin-bitten, corrupt world that had spurned and defied guidance of a beneficent loving God.

"He was rich in His magnificent power of condescension and pity. It was He who demonstrated to the world its most striking example of voluntary poverty, when 'though He was rich yet for your sakes He became poor.' Yes for us, a poor, depraved, abject, heaven-divorced world; floating on the merciless river to eternal despair, with no way-point terminals. He became poor that He might become a life savior to us.

"Never has man known anything that so completely obliterates every mark of human exaltation as Christ self-impoverishment—His poverty was to the purpose that we might have the riches of His grace and salvation here, and the riches of His glory hereafter."

U. S. STANDS FIRM ON SILVER POLICY IN SPITE OF CHINA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The United States, promising consideration to the Chinese government, nevertheless stood firmly by its silver policy today as a tax wall arose around China's supply of the white metal.

Secretary of State Hull, in a note to the Nanking government, said that the policy under which the United States is buying silver in world markets was laid down by congress and cannot be changed, in its broad objective, by the executive.

"Although he said that so far as may be possible," the United States will avoid "disturbances to the economy and public finances" of China, that nation put into effect a tax of 10 per cent on silver exports.

This was designed to keep the Chinese supply of the white metal intact. The oriental government—which is on a silver standard—had protested that American buying threatened to sap her reserves, besides damaging Chinese business by causing a "harsh deflation."

The Chinese minister, Sao-Ko Alfred Sze, in a note dated October 2, told Hull that the rise in the price of silver due to American buying discourages the export of Chinese commodities "and thereby impairs China's purchasing power for imports."

CAMAS BOY DIES IN HUNT MISHAP

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 15.—(AP) Frederick Hennings, 17, of Camas, Wash., died in a hospital here last night as the result of a hunting accident.

"THE SECRET OF SPEED IS CONTROLLED POWER"

says DEAN B. CROMWELL OF U.S.C., WORLD'S GREATEST TRACK COACH

"I use Red Lion gasoline because it has the same Controlled Power principle that gives athletes speed. I've found out it doesn't waste energy with sudden bursts of power but gives a steady, smooth drive on the piston head for the full stroke. That's why the pistons in my motor car work as smoothly and effectively as a record breaking track man."
