

KIDNAPERS WIFE CAPTURED WHILE MAKING RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Clegg were arrested.

Brutally Treated

Mrs. Stoll was put to bed as soon as she arrived at her home last night. She was brutally treated at times during her imprisonment, but was said by a physician to be in fairly good condition. The physician would not allow anyone to question her, with the result that details of her captivity are not known.

Father Got Money

In compliance with the ransom note left by the kidnaper the money was sent by express to Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., father of the accused kidnaper. The father was named as intermediary in the first ransom note.

The money was delivered to Robinson's Nashville home by a federal agent posing as an express company employee. The father took the package to his daughter-in-law Monday afternoon, following instructions received in another note in which Mrs. Robinson, Jr., was named as a second intermediary.

Mrs. Robinson Jr., took a train for Terre Haute, Ind. During these transactions both Mrs. Robinson and her father-in-law were under observation by government men. Even the number of her train reservation was known.

Trail Often Broken

There are several gaps in the story of how the trail was followed. It would appear from the sketchy details made known by the federal men that the trail was lost and picked up again on at least two occasions.

In Terre Haute, government agents hoped to be led to the place where Mrs. Stoll was being held. An agent, acting as a taxicab operator, saw to it that his cab was available and convenient, should Mrs. Robinson need such a vehicle. She did not use it, however.

Apparently the trail was lost there, but it reappeared yesterday in Indianapolis.

At 3:30 yesterday afternoon two women appeared at the residence of Rev. Arnold Clegg (no relation to federal agent H. H. Clegg who carried out the Nashville investigation).

"I'm Alice Stoll," said one of the women to Mrs. Clegg—a cousin of Mrs. Stoll—"and this is my friend."

Telephoned Home

Mrs. Stoll asked permission to call Louisville. She was in communication with her home and asked that the way be cleared so she could return "sometime tonight."

Mr. Clegg, who was calling on the head of the women's state prison at Indianapolis when his wife received the visitors, was summoned. Upon request he agreed to take the two women to Louisville in his car.

Meanwhile the telephone call to the Stoll home here had been traced to Indianapolis (wires to the house have been frequently reported to have been tapped) so when the four started, a carload of operatives was nearby and they trailed along behind.

Simultaneously another detachment moved out from Louisville to intercept the Clegg machine.

Auto Is Stopped

At Scottsburg, Ind., the federal car from Indianapolis overhauled the Clegg machine. Melvin H. Purvis, who led the Dillinger chase for the department of justice, took charge.

He took the Cleggs to the home of relatives in Jeffersonville, Ind., and brought Mrs. Stoll back home. Mrs. Robinson was taken to a local hiding place.

Later last night Nathan called news offices and gave the number and description of the automobile in which Robinson is believed to have fled. It bore Illinois number plates and a Chicago motor vehicle tag.

The elder Robinson is generally regarded here as being innocent of complicity in the crime. He is reported to have talked with his son who phoned from Indianapolis, and to have urged that he drop the entire idea. A madman's laugh was the only reply. The father is being questioned in Nashville.

CHANGE IN ZONE ONLY ORDINANCE PASSED BY 'DADS'

Only one ordinance, changing the zoning of the Butler residence, on East main street, at the request of the city planning commission, was passed Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the city council. However, several other matters were referred to committees, prior to further action.

Victor Tengwald, appearing in behalf of the Lions club, informed the council that the members of the local service club, both individually and collectively, pledged their support to the city in observing all traffic rules and regulations, in connection with public safety.

It was suggested that a public safety campaign be carried on by the city in order to impress upon the children, and their parents as well, that the children should not play in the streets, nor follow the fire truck. The matter was referred to the public safety committee.

The matter of a request for the refund of license money, by Jack Gilliam, was placed in the hands of the license committee, and the same committee was requested by Mayor Geo. Porter to consider the petition with 13 signers, asking the removal of the hobo camp from its present location.

The public safety committee was asked to meet with Dr. L. D. Inskip, city physician and Fire Chief Roy Elliott, to consider the suggestion made by the local Eagles' lodge, that the city of Medford purchase an inhalator.

Councilmen Dade Terrett and R. O. Stephenson were absent.
