

JACKSON COUNTY RESIDENT FOR 81 YEARS IS CALLED

Mrs. Kate Freeman Hoffman passed away at her home in Jacksonville at 4 p. m. Thursday, October 18, 1934.

Mrs. Hoffman had been a resident of Jackson county for the past 81 years. She was born at Covington, Ind., April 1, 1850, and on April 13, 1853, in company with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Freeman, and five sisters, left Covington, starting the long journey to the Pacific coast. After more than six months of tedious, hazardous and wearisome toiling over the wilderness of plains, rivers and mountains, they reached the land of their expectation, the Rogue River valley, October 30, 1853. This family proceeded to establish themselves in this new community and rendered the most important service in establishing and improving political and social conditions in this region, the home of their adoption.

Upon the admission of the state of Oregon to the union in 1859, at the first election, Mr. Hoffman having served in an official capacity for many years, was elected the first clerk of Jackson county.

The Hoffman family aided in the organization of the first Presbyterian church in Jackson county. Kate, as she had always been familiarly known, had been all her life a faithful member of this church, a moving spirit in all its activities. It had been her greatest pleasure to serve in every capacity the religious and benevolent undertakings of the community, and her helpful efforts will long be remembered by all who have affiliated in such works in Jacksonville.

We mourn the passing from our midst of an early pioneer, a devout Christian, an ever faithful daughter, a devoted wife and a true and beloved friend.

Her parents had preceded her in death many years and of her five sisters, only one, Mrs. George B. (Emma) Dorris of Eugene, Ore., survives. She also leaves a number of nephews and nieces, including the families of her sisters, Mrs. George Vining, Mrs. C. C. Beekman, Mrs. David Linn, Mrs. George Dorris and Mrs. Florence Shipley.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Jones at the Presbyterian church in Jacksonville at 2 p. m. Sunday, Conger Funeral directors in charge. Interment in the Jacksonville cemetery.

HUNTERS PREPARE FOR FINAL FORAY TO KILL A BUCK

Only five days remain in the 1934 deer hunting season, which will close the night of October 25. Although the present storm has tended to keep hunters at their firesides over the week end, many are expected to resume activities during the ending days of the season.

With the rush after quail and pheasants quieting after the first run last Monday, duck season is taking the interest of most Medford sportsmen at present. Rain has helped conditions in the Klamath region, where many who have already made trips there report more ducks than for many years past.

Deer hunters who have made recent trips to the mountains include: E. R. White, who shot a 210-pound mule deer in eastern Oregon; H. S. ("Hob") Deuel and "Red" Franklin, who bagged two more mule deer near Lakeview, Ore., one weighing 170 and the other 180 pounds; Jim Goddard, who shot a nice blacktail buck; Jay Gees, Ralph Wilder and Harry Pinneo, who each bagged a mule deer last week end in the Lakeview country, and Berle Thornton.

Jack Gill left Thursday night for eastern Oregon, near Prineville, and Jess and Dewey Vincent left for the Plah Lake region. J. J. Owenbrugg left Saturday for eastern Oregon and will remain until he gets his buck, or until the season closes. Chester Hubbard, James Moore and Dr. Bunch left last night for the Lakeview region.

Duck hunters who have been at work this season include: W. D. ("Dee") Roberts, who bagged four mallards Saturday morning and eight Friday, all in the Agate desert district; Otto Howard, who left for Keno Saturday; Dr. Durno, who is joining Frank and John Peril at their Rocky Point cabin on Klamath Lake; Jay Gees and Grover Medley, who left last night for Upper Klamath lake.

Those who have continued their quest for pheasants include: Dick Singer, who shot two roosters north of town, and left again yesterday afternoon for another forage, with William Rose and Ed Nichols; Dale Franklin, Doyle Franklin and Virgil Martin, who went north of the city; Ron DeVore, who has shot his limit on two trips; Herb Guenther and Martin Heitkamp, who also had good luck; John Winterhalter, who got his limit; James Peyton, of Trail; Bob Purucker, Arthur Marsh, Dave Wilcox, Bruce Bauer, Ernie Arthur, Jack Simpson, Dr. Bert Lageson, Ernie Kooft, manager of the Drain, Ore., Standard Oil district, and Elmer Herford.

PARENTS SCHOOL GIVES NEW LIGHT FAMILY PROBLEMS

The fourth annual school for parents was held Friday in the court house auditorium, with an attendance of 120 at the two sessions.

Mrs. Flora Thurston, professor of parent education in child development, at Oregon State college, spoke in the morning on "Exploring New Values in Family Life," and in the afternoon on "Understanding the Adolescent." Mrs. Thurston's points on these important subjects were enthusiastically received by every parent present.

New values which American families should strive to develop in all relationships are protection, more accurate communication between immediate family members by voice, manner, treatment, and conversation, participation in everyday experiences, and guidance rather than rule in care of the children, according to Mrs. Thurston.

Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, acting state leader of home economics extension, spoke on "Recreation in the Home." She gave valuable suggestions on entertaining the whole family during the winter days and evenings. The new home economics bulletin 644, "Games To Be Used When The Family Entertains," may be secured by writing to the county home extension office. This bulletin will offer a number of the games and play hints included in Mrs. Mack's talk.

Interesting information was given on the development and organization of FEBA nursery schools, as well as the details of The Radio Study clubs on the Family Life series, "Your Child at Home and School," which will begin on Wednesday, October 31, at 1:30 p. m. over station KMED.

The Jackson county executive committee served tea at the close of the school. In the receiving line were Miss Flora Thurston, Mrs. Ida Sweeney, Mrs. Mable Mack and Miss Alice Mallin. Mrs. Susie Marx and Mrs. Bertha Glasgow poured.

G. O. P. OPENS UP HEADQUARTERS IN BANK BUILDING

The Republican County Central Committee has opened headquarters on the lower floor of the Jackson County bank building in Medford and say they will wage an active campaign from now until election day. Every man or woman in Jackson county interested in the election of the congressional, state and county nominees are requested by the committee to call at headquarters and especially if they have any questions they desire to ask.

Members of the central committee from all over the county are urged to call at headquarters when in the city.

Congressman James Mott will be in Jackson county Tuesday and Wednesday, October 23 and 24, and will attend the Kiwanis club luncheon on Monday and the Rotarian meeting Tuesday. He will also speak over KMED Tuesday evening, October 23, from 7 to 7:15. Anyone desiring to see Congressman Mott personally can do so by seeing Frank Farrell, chairman of the committee, or calling at Republican headquarters.

Joe E. Dunne, Republican nominee for governor will be on the air again over KEX, Portland, Thursday, October 25, from 9:15 to 9:30. Other radio talks by Republican candidates will be announced later.

MRS. KOPPEL HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Mrs. Agnes Koppel, of Carگی Court, suffered cuts and bruises when she was struck down about 8 o'clock last night while crossing the street, by a car driven by Albert Bliton, of 726 West Fourth street. Mrs. Koppel was taken to the community hospital, where she is awaiting X-ray examination, according to reports from attendants last night.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Sixth and Ivy streets, when Bliton was allegedly blinded by another car's lights. The accident is being investigated by city police.

NEW WORLD MARK FOR CARLEY HEN

A world's record in egg laying for a White Leghorn pullet is claimed by Mrs. R. E. Carley, of the Carley poultry farm, route 2, Saturday morning one of the farm's hens laid her 359th egg in a period of 365 days, and is still going strong, according to the owner.

As far as it has been possible to ascertain, this record surpasses any trap-nested record for White Leghorns, and also the record set at the official egg laying competition in Chicago, when a barred rock hen laid 358 eggs, in the same period of time.

The championship has been made official through the regular inspection of Irving Roswell of the Sperry Flour company, this city, who is supplying the feed for the record-breaking pullet.

The hen was raised on the Carley poultry farm from a baby chick obtained from J. A. Hansen, of Corvallis, who had previously raised a world champion hen. Mrs. Carley's pullet is the closest relative of the Corvallis record-breaker.
