"When the great powers of the government, used as though martial law existed, are necessary to enable the government to speed a refinancing program to put the people's debts within the control of a political party in power," Brown said, "a program not of your creation, not submitted to the people in constitutional amendment, but of partisan wish and idea, it is time for us to turn and listen to the grave words and ideas."

The "grave words" were from a United States supreme court decision which Brown said held that the constitution could not be suspended, no matter what the emergency.

ANY CITIZEN MAY GAIN BENEFITS OF RELIEF CLASSES

In order to correct the impression given in Monday's Mail Tribune that the classes being offered under the teacher relief program in this city are for teachers, the following statement was issued by Superintendent C. G. Smith from the superintendent's office today: "These classes are not for the purpose of training teachers, but were worked out for the benefit of any adult citizen who may be interested."

The course in geography is largely informative, according to Mr. Smith, and has for its objectives: to give general physical economic and social geographical facts; to give a better understanding of people of other countries; to awaken interest in these countries; their people and their problems. This course will meet each week at the senior high school, with the dates set tentatively for Mondays and Thursdays, from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The geography course is to be taught by Alice D. English, an expert trainer in geography and art.

The course in child development will be taught by Mrs. Newton Chaney, who has had charge of parent teachers' work in parent education for the past year. It will be offered at the Junior high school each Tuesday at 2 p. m., and at the high school each Thursday at 2 p. m. Topics such as habit forming and discipline will be discussed for and with parents.

The course on plans for beginners will be offered at the high school twice each week on Mondays and Thursdays at 7 p. m., while beginners interested in music appreciation, history and chorus work will meet Tuesday evenings at 7 p. m. These classes are primarily for beginners who wish to obtain some of the fundamental principals of music. This course will be taught by Mrs. Minnie P. Guy.

DEMOCRAT REGIME ROASTED CRISP AT BANKER CONCLAVE

Party Used Government To Get Control Of People's Debts, Speaker's Charge — Senators Accused.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A charge that the Democratic party had used the "great powers of government" to put the people's debts within its control was made today before the American Bankers' association convention.

John G. Brown, counsel of the Montana Bankers' association, made the assertion in a speech questioning the statesmanship of President Roosevelt, accusing United States senators of sharp practice, and calling the Fraser-Lodge farm mortgage act a destroyer of fundamental rights.

Criticism and praise. Other bankers criticized and praised the administration. President Francis Marion Law, in an interview, said he did not think the President has it in for the bankers or the bankers for the President.

Frank P. Bennett, editor of the United States Investor of Boston, said current theories for a central reserve bank were derived from "among those who think our present system is not doleful enough when the treasury speaks."

Irving W. Cook, president of the First National bank of New Bedford, Mass., while not wishing to be "super-critical," warned against making present emergency measures permanent.

Brown said the Fraser-Lodge bill enables farmers to evade their just debts and that it was being used to hurry government refinancing of farm debt.

ASHLAND ENJOYS DETCHEVA RECITAL

Playing before one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences ever attending a concert at the Southern Oregon Normal school, Antoinette Petrova Detcheva, formerly of Vienna, last night gave one of the finest piano concerts Ashland has ever had.

Antoinette Detcheva is to appear in Medford Friday evening, October 23 at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe.

The brilliance of her playing, her great technique, and the beauty of her tone and interpretations have earned the commendations of European critics and audiences and won for her the reputation of being "one of the greatest pianists of the younger generation."

Her concert in Medford will be the second of a series that will take her to Portland and San Francisco during the winter season.

A graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Sofia, Vienna State Conservatory, where she attended the master class and won the first prize for her playing, Miss Detcheva came to Medford in September where she is conducting a studio of music at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe.

She was soloist with the Bach Society in Vienna for two seasons, and gave concerts in Vienna, Sofia, and other European capitals.

The concert program Friday will include compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Liszt and de Falla.

umphant flier, said "You have made a gallant and heroic effort to win an epic and important race and achieve a triumph for aviation."

In addition to the $50,000, Scott and Black receive a solid cup valued at $2,500. The second place winners get $7,500, and $2,500 makes up the third prize.

At Port Darwin, Turner said, "We have had a good trip and enjoyed the flight so far." The Americans were given a hearty welcome by a crowd here. Colonel Turner was still spruce and smart in a blue silk shirt and cord riding breeches with high boots.

The Englishmen had a close shave over the Timor sea when an engine gave out, and only determined work enabled them to keep going to a safe landing.

Engine Troubles.

The port engine first cut out over the Timor sea on the way to Darwin. The trouble was hastily patched up at Darwin, but trouble developed again on the way to Charleville and only one engine was working when the ship landed there.

After two and one-half hours' work, the Comet took off again with both engines functioning, but one of them quickly went out again, forcing a return. A quick adjustment was made and they started off once more, only to have the motor go dead again before they reached the finish. They landed with only one engine functioning.

Back in Darwin, the huge Boeing piloted by Turner and Pangborn awakened the town from its afternoon lethargy. Turner stepped out of the ship energetically to supervise the overhaul of the engine and seek the suspected trouble with the oil pressure.

Never Had Chance.

Pangborn said: "We never had a chance of winning with a machine limited to a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour, so we came along steadily without trouble or discomfort. We expect to land at Melbourne Wednesday afternoon."

Two pilots lost their lives in the race, in which 19 planes took off from Mildenhall airbase Saturday morning. Flying Officer H. D. Gilman and J. Y. C. Balnes, his co-pilot, both Englishmen, were burned to death when their plane caught fire after leaving Rome yesterday.

Captain James and Amy Mollison, England's flying couple who led the race as far as Baghdad, remained temporarily marooned at Allahabad, India. They were forced to drop out of the race because of the failure of an engine.
