

FAMILIAR SCENES OF CRATER REGION IN WATER COLORS

An exhibition of water colors painted during the summer by L. Howard Crawford, ECW artist assigned to the Medford CCG district under the public works of art project, opened Tuesday in one of the Main street windows of Mann's Department store.

The paintings are being shown here before being sent to Washington, D. C., where they will be exhibited together with other public works of art pictures.

Crawford, whose work has attracted widespread attention since he arrived here some months ago, has been assigned to the Wingsless CCG camp at Crater Lake during the summer and 12 water colors exhibited are paintings of familiar scenes in the vicinity of Crater Lake and the Klamath country.

Crawford studied at the Cleveland school of art and spent one year at the Kunstgewerbeschule in Vienna. During this period in Europe the artist had occasion to visit many of the great world art centers and hopes to return again for further study there.

All art work produced under the public works of art project, one of President Roosevelt's favorite programs, become public property and after being exhibited in various parts of the country will be permanently assigned to public buildings and art exhibits.

So enthusiastic has been the national park service over the work of Crawford that it has asked to have him assigned to Crater Lake again this winter, and Major Clara H. Armstrong, district CCG commander, is cooperating by putting Crawford on detached service there.

Arthur J. Merkel, the second PWA artist assigned to this district, has also done outstanding work and an exhibition of his paintings is planned for the near future. Merkel has been transferred to the Coos Head camp near Marshfield and will spend the winter in painting marine subjects.

Merkel's home is in Cleveland, where he studied at the Cleveland school of art, and he has exhibited in many eastern art centers. His exhibition is anticipated with pleasure by art lovers of this district.

Crawford's exhibit, now on display, includes the following subjects: "Hemlocks," "Agency Lake and Mount Pitt," "Wizard Island at Evening," "Alders," "Crater Lake and Mount Thielson by Moonlight," "Head of Wood River," "Golden Autumn," "Twilight," "Crooked Creek," "West Rim of Crater," "Mount Shasta and Klamath Basin," and "Alders-Agency Butte."

Phoenix Ladies' Annual Supper Thursday Night. The annual "harvest home supper" which has become a tradition with the women of the Phoenix Presbyterian church, will be served Thursday evening, in the church dining room. Serving will begin at 8:30 and a special invitation has been extended to the people of Medford and vicinity.

This year, as in previous times, the piece de resistance will be creamed chicken ably seconded by generous helpings of mashed potatoes, squash, hot biscuits, jellies and home made pickles. Jell-o sunset salad, apple pie with whipped cream and coffee.

The Phoenix Presbyterian ladies have established a reputation throughout the valley for their wonderful cooking and derive as much enjoyment from displaying their skill at the harvest home supper as do their patrons in consuming the tempting viands.

BAND MUSIC FEATURE FOR ELKS INITIATION CEREMONY THURSDAY

Music by the Elks' band and a free feed with all the trimmings will round out the initiation ceremony of the Elks' lodge tomorrow night, when 20 candidates will be received into the order through initiation, and five through demit from other cities.

It will be one of the big meetings of the year, according to Exalted Ruler H. N. Butler. The feed will include chili beans, sandwiches, beer, coffee and milk, and will follow the initiation services. A large attendance is expected to take part in the program, which was planned at a meeting last Thursday night when the candidates were chosen.

As the initiation itself is a lengthy procedure, Exalted Ruler Butler has decided to postpone any other type of entertainment until the next lodge meeting, which will be a blowout for the Buckhounds.

Those who will be initiated are: H. Keith Burrell, Vaughn D. Stone, Berle G. Thornton, Arthur D. Hess, Wm. A. Holloway, Gordon R. Green, Herbert R. Meusel, Fred J. Wolff, Otto J. Frohnmayer, Dow W. Stone, W. A. Crim, Wm. A. Buchanan, Dr. C. W. Lemery, Lewis S. Blyth, Samuel E. Carey, E. J. Fedman, D. Stanley Boggs, Eugene D. Thorndike, Jack Bickler, Melvin O. Wright.

New members to be introduced to the lodge on transfer demits include: Ira C. Luman, Frank Pease, R. G. Fowler, B. C. Hutchison, C. L. Reynolds.

made by Martens that a state policeman, one of the arresting officers, had made improper advances to Mrs. Martens and that another arresting officer sought a bribe.

Martens pleaded guilty to the charge at the recent Medford term of court, but when his attorney made the statement in court before Federal Judge Fee, that there were reports of misconduct by one of the arresting officers, a thorough investigation was directed by the court.
