ASHLAND REFUSES TO ADMIT TIGERS HAVE GAME IN BAG

ASHLAND, Oct. 31.—(Sp.)—Citizens of Ashland are wearing long faces right about now. To one who has a certain inside on the terrible situation that brings on the mournful looks, it is something far more important than a mere election. It is something that strikes deeper. It is something that, were you to ask an Ashland citizen all about it, he would look at you with tears in his eyes and trembling lips.

GLEEMEN MAY AID CHORAL FESTIVAL AT 'O' UNIVERSITY

By Arthur W. Warnock The University of Oregon, its school of music, and the Eugene Gleemen, all cooperating, are planning a Men's Choral Festival for the early part of May, 1935. In the program to be worked up, it is planned that each of six or eight outstanding groups of amateur singers from all over Oregon will sing three or four numbers by themselves, also put on any soloist or quartet from their own group, and at the end, all the singers will combine in one half hour of selections together.

It is believed that such a festival will bring together several hundred men and will be a great drawing card for the public in general. It will be held in McArthur Court, the university's large athletic pavilion, which was recently expertly "acoustified" so that it is now an acceptable concert auditorium. It easily seats 7,000 people. The admission will be very low with the idea of packing the place and thus securing enough receipts from which it is hoped to help, materially, in the traveling expenses of each group that will journey to Eugene to participate.

The Medford Gleemen have just accepted an invitation to take part in this musical educational festival, the university authorities recognizing the standing of the Medford choir as one of the real top-notchers of Oregon's amateur singing organizations. It is a fine tribute to the Medford gentlemen and their excellence of performance.
