CHEESE DEMAND ADVANCES PRICE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Keener demand was showing all through the market for cheese with the late advance of 1 cent at Tillamook as full suggestion of the betterment. Tillamook makes few changes during the season, but generally maintains the price where it is placed.

The last advance of 1 cent a pound named suggested that the time was ripe for an actual advance in the price that has been held intact by the famed district while other sectors were shading their values and at intervals making slight recovery.

There was no change in the butter market for the day. The 1 cent differential between two top scores has caused the demand to again show greatest in B grade in retail shops.

Strength was continued generally for fresh eggs in the local trade with price maintenance also in most of the leading markets of the country. Well held demand was showing for live chickens of all sorts in the local trade with a generally firm tone along the coast. Leghorns continued scarce and in best request.
