

POLICE NAB NINE ON MINOR CRIMES WITHIN TWO DAYS

Both state and city police trouble reports revealed a minor crime wave during the past two days, when five arrests were listed in the files of the state department, and four on the docket of the city department.

Paul T. Moorehead, 48, of Grave Creek, Ore., was lodged in the county jail last night, having been arrested by state officers at 7:35 p. m., one mile south of Talent, on charges of driving while intoxicated.

George H. Martin, 18, and Blake A. Beck, 40, both of Ruch, Ore., were each fined $25 and $4.50 costs in justice court when convicted of unlawful killing of deer in closed season. The 30 days' jail sentence of each was suspended, and each given six months time to pay his fine.

Martin and Beck were arrested by state police at Ruch, Oct. 31, charged with shooting and killing a spike buck. Both entered a plea of guilty when arraigned.

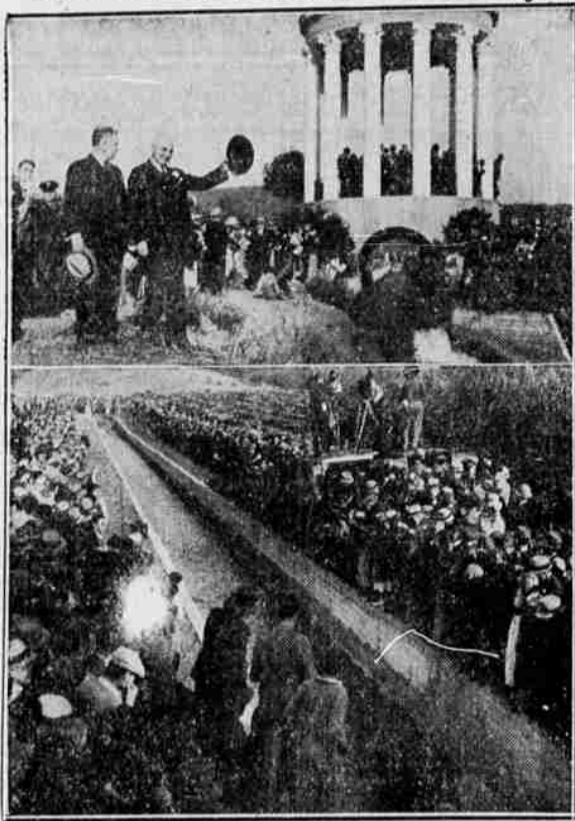

Frank Isaacs, of 415 Arcadia street, was fined $25 and costs in justice court yesterday, after pleading guilty to charges of shooting from a public highway. Isaacs was arrested on a warrant by state officers at 5:15 Wednesday, after he had shot a pheasant from a motor vehicle on the Bear Creek road, according to police.

Two minor traffic arrests were made by the state department. Glen Edgar Russell, 29, of route 2, is cited to appear in justice court at 2 p. m. Saturday, for non-possession of an operator's license, having been arrested last night on the north Pacific highway. Mrs. H. C. Lucas, 26, who is employed as waitress at Valentine's cafe, was also cited to appear in justice court, having been arrested Thursday for possession of a void foreign license.

In the city police records, Clarence Smith, 24, a native of Oklahoma, was placed on six months' parole this morning in justice court, after his sentence of 60 days in jail for petty larceny had been suspended. Smith was arrested last night for the theft of a robe from a car whose owner was listed as H. Coghill, of 401 South Newtown.

Fines of $10 each, were the sentences given John V. Haley, 40, a native of Wisconsin, and Harold J. Anderson, 24, a native of Oregon, both of whom were arraigned this morning in city court on charges of being under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Gerald Martin Burton, 34, a native of Ohio, was sentenced to leave town or spend five days in the city jail, this morning in city court, also having been arrested last night on charges of drunkenness. Leo Schaffer, who gave his age as 40, and his nativity as South Dakota, was lodged in the city jail last night for disorderly conduct, but was turned over to his CCC camp doctor this morning.

Shirley Eats Her Spinach, No Problem for Mother

By ROBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The youngest generation can take no comfort from Shirley Temple.

It cannot point a warning finger at its movie-mad in a m a s and lip, "Thee, m u v e r, T h i r l e y Temple doth' like it e v e r. If I do make me eat it, I won't grow up and be a the o d T h i r l e y Temple!"

Shirley Temple relishes spinach. M o v i e s move the H i s t o r i c o d liver oil.

But even Shirley, sprit-like paragon of good behavior — well, most of the time she is "good," her mother says — makes reservations on those two "causes celebres" of modern babyhood.

"She likes spinach at home," voices Mrs. Temple, "but she won't have it away from home. You see, I cook it without the stems, and so many restaurants leave them in."

And Cod Liver Oil

And the cod liver oil that Shirley takes is flavored. Even so, Mrs. Temple confesses, it makes her a little ill when Shirley reminds her of it after a big breakfast of fruit juice, bacon and eggs and cereal. Being a broad-minded parent, Mrs. Temple admits that the taste for cod liver oil is something that children, some children, acquire.

Shirley, eight months ago just a prospect regarded in studio circles as "worth keeping an eye on," today gets 4000 fan letters a week. Many to know how to bring up their own children—presumably to be second Shirley Temples — or who ask how to get their children, "who look like Shirley," in the movies. These are the fan letters that Mrs. Temple never answers. She refuses to pose as an authority on either subject, or to take responsibility for such authority.

Paddled Only Twice

"I worried more about Shirley as a baby than I do now," she will tell you. "I was constantly weighing her, and getting myself wrought up if the scales showed her a little off. Always there was something to worry about—or I imagined things to make me worry. She wouldn't take her milk from a bottle, for instance, and I had to give it to her in a teaspoon."

Training from babyhood is Mrs. Temple's solution of the problems of discipline. Only two or three times has she had to "paddle" the screen's wonder child. She will have none of the old-fashioned scheme of sending a child to bed supperless.

"A growing child needs food," she says, "and there are other ways to punish an infraction, and better ways. I would never send Shirley to bed as a punishment, because I want her to like going to bed. And she does."

But the "training from babyhood" idea apparently has solved the business of discipline. Shirley is so seldom "naughty" that it isn't much of a problem, according to Mrs. Temple.

THOMAS DEMANDS STOP GHELARDI! SWEEPING CHANGE IN POWER SET-UP

der stated, all salaries of the operating company officials will be paid by the company served. Previously and at the present time the president and vice-president of Copco and the Mountain States company have been paid by the Chicago corporation.

Payments Listed

It was shown that in 1931 the California Oregon Power company in Oregon paid to the Byllesby corporation, $284,860.51; in 1932 it paid $143,150.38, and in 1933, $65,869.83. The Mountain States company paid $22,707.60 in 1931, $40,358.89 in 1932, and $25,805.08 in 1933.

"Subsequent to January 1, 1933, and within a reasonable time thereafter," the order stated, "the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation shall enter into new contracts with its Oregon affiliates, which conform to the principles enunciated herein by this commission and which shall specifically provide:—

Pay for Actual Service

"That the services covered therein must be actually rendered.

"That the only service rendered shall be that which is valuable to the operating company.

"That all changes for services shall be made on the basis and in the form provided in the contract approved by this commission.

"That all payments for services performed by such management and engineering company shall be subject to inspection by the commission's staff."

Oregon Town Bars Barmalids

ASTORIA, Ore. — (UP)—Barmalids, barmalids or otherwise, are not desired by at least one local group. The Astoria Culinary Alliance has petitioned the city council, asking that barmalids be banned in beer parlors. The council, composed of men, is undecided on what action should be taken.

STOP GHELARDI! BATTLE CRY FOR ASHLAND GRIDMEN

to a four-winning streak over the Grizzlies. Scores for the four-year period are as follows: 1930—Medford 27, Ashland 0; 1931—Medford 26, Ashland 7; 1932—Medford 31, Ashland 0; 1933—Medford 37, Ashland 0.

Hoax a Threat

Contrary to report that Ashland high school has no dangerous backfield man, Ashland has one man that would make a touchdown if he were given a half-way break in the open field, and that man is Hoax—the best of the reign of Hoaxes that have for so many years predominated in Ashland high school athletics. This boy may not be as tricky as Ghelardi of Medford, but he needs considerable watching or he might pull a trick or two out of the bag and score on Medford.

Four or five years ago at this time of year, school authorities would be making announcements thus: "Please leave over-ripe pears, over-ripe eggs and stones in the proper places. We will not tolerate any violence of that sort this year."

The fiery little Don Faber, coach of the Ashland Grizzlies, has been giving his charges extra workouts for the past weeks in preparation for this game. He has had the gates of his practice field barred to strangers, as for authentic dope on what type of grid tactics he shall use fans will have to be at the game tomorrow.

Local Lineup Shifted

Coach Burgher has shifted his lineup somewhat for the game tomorrow. Since the injury of Blonda Lewis, star blocking half, Burgher has shifted Ronald Baker to the back post and has put Earl Harrison in at Baker's position at guard. Owen Bates, giant tackle; Joe Pierce, stellar end, and Leo Ghelardi, star half-back, will probably not be in the starting lineup.

The Medford probable starting lineup: Kuntzman and Human, ends;

Fowler and Kindred, tackles; Bates and Harrison, guards; Stewart, center; Brown and Baker halves; Bates, full; Smith or Ghelardi, quarter.

BILLINGS, Mont.—(UP)—In days' champion, James J. Jeffries was paid for stalking his prey. Now Jeffries finds the situation reversed. He and a party of 20 friends expect to pay $3000 for the privilege of hunting elk in Wyoming and Montana this month.

Diamond in Shoe Heel

BLUFFTON, O.—(UP)—When Josephine Klay, 16-year-old high school

girl, removed her shoe to have it repaired, she found a large diamond firmly embedded in the rubber heel. The diamond, valued at $350, had been lost several days before by Mrs. Charles Montgomery, Bluffton. It was unharmed.

CONNELLY, O.—(UP) Harry Jarvis, 65, of Conneaut, was wed to Agnes A. Gibson, 81, recently in Erie, Pa. Mrs. Jarvis was the oldest person to apply for a marriage license in Erie county history. Rev. P. M. Shadle performed the marriage.

NEW DEAL TOPIC FOR EVANGELIST

Speaking on the subject "Is It Possible to Be a Secular Believer?" Evangelist Henry H. Burke addressed a large audience at the First Baptist church last night. He emphasized the necessity of giving a right testimony for Jesus Christ. "What we need," said Mr. Burke, "are sermons in shoes and Bibles bound in the color of human skin."

Mrs. Burke gave an unusual section on the musical water glasses, an attraction which has seldom been seen or heard in Medford. Mr. Case led an inspiring song service and sang a solo. This evening Mr. Burke will speak on the subject, "As the New Deal Falls—What Then?" He stated that "this is not a political message, but I am giving the cause and cure of the depression." This message has been given in many cities in America with unusual newspaper comment. A large audience is expected for this service.

LUMBER OUTPUT SHOWS DECREASE

EMATTLE, Nov. 2.—(UP)—The West Coast Lumbermen's association announced today that 548 down and operating mills in Oregon and Washington produced 74,382,294 board feet of lumber last week, or 8,000,000 feet less than the preceding week.

The weekly average of this group this year has been 78,605,797 feet, compared with 77,598,559 in 1933.

New business reported last week was $4,053,498 and shipments totaled $7,822,860. Orders booked by the 31st mills were over the preceding week by about 9,000,000 feet.

PORTLAND, Nov. 2.—(UP)—A substantial increase in new business was reported by the Western Pine association today.

New business totaled $4,749,000 feet for the week ending October 27. This was about 11 per cent above the three-year weekly average for October, and 8 per cent greater than for the previous week.

Shipments were 42,344,000 feet, and production, 44,282,800 feet.

Was Dummy Was Victim

LANCASTER, Pa.—(UP)—Four police officers made a hurry-up call to a clothing store here to investigate a "murder." Arriving at the scene the police found a wax dummy had fallen over, upsetting a can of red paint. A patrolman had reported seeing a "body lying in a pool of blood."

Leaves for North—Mrs. J. C. Allen left by train Thursday evening for Portland.
