Wirth from the ballot. Wirth, an independent candidate for governor, withdrew last Saturday. In any event, the county clerk said, it was too late for any change.

Final appeals of candidates will be made tonight and this afternoon, and the air will be full of last minute speeches. Most of the county applicants will say a few words to the electorate this evening over the radio.

"Warhorses" Busy
Both Democratic and Republican warhorses were busy today making final arrangements and preparing statements for their favorite.

The usual warning to beware of "eleventh hour canards" and wild rumors were issued.

The local campaign was characterized by political workers on both sides of the fence as "the tamest in 25 years," with the minimum of bitterness and wild charges.

The ballot contains the names of 35 candidates and three measures, and is the shortest in a score of years.

The polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 8 p. m.

EVANGELISTS END NAZARENE SERVICE

Using as his topic last night, "The Great Atonement," Rev. Otto Schwab and his wife, Mrs. Billie Schwab, concluded one of the most successful gospel evangelistic series in the history of the local church of the Nazarene.

Twenty-two new members were received into the local church yesterday. Fred M. Weatherford, pastor, reports that this makes a total of thirty-six accessions to the church membership during the past four months.

The Sunday school had an attendance of 205 yesterday.

The competitive program entered into with the Ashland church is proving to be a stimulating incentive for activity in the local church.

During the evangelistic series there were approximately 100 people who made a profession of accepting Christ as their personal Saviour.

The revival campaign was sponsored by the young people's department of the church, and much is due to their evangelistic fervor and activity for the success of the revival under the leadership of Miss Helen Scheel.

The church of the Nazarene will conduct a public baptism service at the Christian church Tuesday evening of this week at seven thirty.

Martin Is Qualified
To the Editor:

We, the voters, elect men to office because of the fact that they have been successful in particular lines of endeavor such as lawyers, merchants, financiers, engineers, etc. This year we are particularly fortunate in having a candidate for governor who has demonstrated his ability in a great many lines of human endeavor. General Martin, in attaining the rank of Major General, U. S. A., served many times as either member or president of courts martial. This required a thorough knowledge of the law. He undoubtedly had direct charge of procurement, issue and sale of clothing, food forage and all kinds of supplies for all persons both military and civilian who served under him. As commanding officer of the Panama Canal Zone he, of course, was head of the administrative, executive and judicial departments.

If he had ever fallen down on any of his assignments, he would never have become a general officer as this office is selective. It has been said by some people who have been in the military service that General Martin was retired from the army because he was too old—therefore was the old to become governor of Oregon. This was without doubt an effort to mislead the voting public, as anyone who has served in the army knows that an age limit of 64 years has been put on all army officers for the sole purpose of accelerating promotion. Ability or efficiency have nothing to do with it. As an example, General Harbord was retired for age, and the Radio Corporation of America has been paying him $50,000 a year salary since his retirement.

Although General Martin is a military man, he is by no means a Martinet, as evinced by his visit to Medford when he came as far as 30 miles from CGC camps to see the general whom they had served under as enlisted men. Had he been hard-boiled, this could not have happened.

Let all know General Martin's record since his retirement. He has served Oregon in the United States congress conscientiously and efficiently and there is no reason to believe that he would do less as governor.

ROOSEVELT'S SON GOING TOO FAST

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 5.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, son of the president, who was stopped yesterday for speeding while en route to a Democratic rally in Manchester, will receive the same treatment as any other motorist who violates the speed laws of New Hampshire, it was said today at the office of John F. Griffin, state motor vehicle commissioner.

Roosevelt, who was stopped just outside this city by State Motor Vehicle Officer Boyd E. Mercer, will face a speeding charge in Nashua municipal court, but not until after the election, it was indicated.

Mercer said the president's son was exceeding the speed limit by a "wide margin."

KINGSFORD-SMITH CROSSES OCEAN IN CONDEMNED SHIP

After a visit with his brother, E. H. K. Smith, Sir Charles flew to Los Angeles, where he was welcomed by an eager and curious crowd of nearly 20,000 persons. They swarmed past a police guard and surrounded his plane. A well planned program of greeting went awry and Mayor Frank Shaw's shouted words were lost in the bedlam.

Eventually police cleared a way for the plane and it was taxied to a hangar.

Lands Navigator
"I want to give all the credit for getting us safely here to my friend and fellow, Bill Taylor," said Sir Charles. "Bill picked out those tiny spots in the middle of the Pacific that looked like fly specks on a map. And he never missed a spot. If it hadn't been for his wonderful ability and good fellowship the flight might not have been possible. You know

"I am sorry," he remarked, "but you will have to blame my navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor." Later he said: "It isn't my fault, or Bill's, but that we have the finest equipment in the world."

The dauntless fliers, who had made the first air crossing from Honolulu, brushed aside questions about the danger of the journey.

Storm Only Trouble
"We had no trouble except for 15 minutes about 11 o'clock Saturday night when we bumped into a rain-storm," said Kingsford-Smith. "That necessitated a short period of blind flying."

whole flight from Brisbane was on the leg from Suva to Honolulu when I accidentally knocked down the wing flap during a storm and we went into a spin, dropping almost into the ocean."

The fliers left Brisbane last October 20 and made the first leg of the flight to Suva, 160 miles, in 11 hours, 45 minutes. Held there for a week by cross winds, they hopped off for Honolulu on the longest leg, 3197 miles, October 28, and reached Honolulu the following afternoon. There was another delay because of bad weather, and then last Saturday they headed out over the Pacific for Oakland on a route never flown before and arrived there ahead of schedule.

America's Leading Chiropractor
B. J. Palmer, President of Palmer School of Chiropractic, Son of Chiropractic's Originator
AGREES WITH THE ENTIRE MEDICAL PROFESSION OF OREGON In Saying VOTE 305 X NO
Against the Healing Arts Constitutional Amendment

"... a Serious Menace to Public Health" wires Dr. Palmer.
The president of the school from which 80% of America's chiropractors have graduated continues:
"I... have strenuously opposed activities upon the part of ignorant, incompetent and dangerous so-called chiropractors which might permit them to enter the cellar door to medicine under the chiropractic name or practice act.
"Many so-called chiropractors of Oregon are ignorant of even the slightest concept of chiropractic, are incompetent and dangerous as practitioners of chiropractic.
"... 38 years in chiropractic should make me competent to ask the people of Oregon to vote 305 X NO."
Here Is the Full Text of Dr. Palmer's Wire to Dr. Paul B. Firth, Portland
Member of the Straight Chiropractic League of Oregon
My father, D. D. Palmer, discovered chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa, in 1893, and there established the Palmer School of Chiropractic. I am now President of that institution. From this over 80% of the chiropractors of the world have graduated and as the developer of chiropractic over 80% of the practicing chiropractors have been under my personal instruction. As the authority quoted by encyclopedias, dictionaries and courts for 35 years I have a family heritage and professional right to be interested and concerned in the Healing Arts Constitutional Amendment. I have consistently and persistently fought against legislation which tends to weaken the fundamental scientific structure of chiropractic as a principle and practice and have strenuously opposed activities upon the part of ignorant, incompetent and dangerous so-called chiropractors which might permit them to enter the cellar-door to medicine under the chiropractic name or practice act. If they want or feel the need of medicine let them attend a medical college and properly prepare and qualify themselves. Chiropractors who are properly trained and schooled in true chiropractic realize chiropractic has an individuality that is complete if the chiropractor is qualified to practice the same. Many so-called chiropractors of Oregon are ignorant of even the slightest concept of chiropractic, are incompetent and dangerous as practitioners of chiropractic. It is out of this group who now ask for and desire a permit to substitute their chiropractic practice for anything and everything in medicine without going to a medical college and properly preparing themselves in its safe practice. The majority of this group have not had adequate training in chiropractic and none in medical subjects they ask permit to use. To grant this request would be a serious menace to public health. Many so-called naturopaths now practicing in Oregon are chiropractors under a false name hoping to ride in as medical men if the Healing Arts Amendment passes. The recent superior court decision of Judge James of San Jose, California, permanently issued an injunction against four so-called chiropractors who were practicing medicine under a chiropractic license. Judge James held that a chiropractor could only practice chiropractic and nothing else under that license, which is as it should be. The chiropractors of Oregon asked for and the Legislature passed the present chiropractic practice act in 1915. Now some ask for medical methods under the chiropractic name as a disguised substitute measure. For this deceit alone the people of Oregon should vote 305 X NO. In the Judge James case I appeared as the expert witness for the prosecution testifying what chiropractic was and was not. The Court held with the state's prosecution as a matter of science as well as law. In his decision he mentioned two schools, the Palmer School and the Mixers. It is the Mixers who now want to absorb medical methods without any more qualifications than they have been with any of these mixing subjects and devices. In that case I testified that any person who practiced other than chiropractic under a chiropractic license was a menace to public health. The state presented cases which substantiated their position. The Court held they were a nuisance because of being a menace and issued permanent injunctions prohibiting their practicing medical principles and practices under the guise of chiropractic. If experience and understanding of chiropractic and due regard for the public health necessities mean anything, then 38 years in chiropractic should make me competent to ask the people of Oregon to vote 305 X NO.
