tion against the Japanese, but also to frighten Tokio into the belief that she will have a combined Anglo-American fleet to deal with in event of trouble.

Such stuff sounds like trial balloon propaganda to bring the Japanese to time. It is in the sense that John Bull and Uncle Sam hope to frighten Tokio and bring her to reason. But both Messrs. Bull and Sam seriously intend to go through with it if the Japanese do not come around. You will hear more about that later.

JOHNSON OPENS JEWELRY STORE NEXT SATURDAY

John W. Johnson, well-known Medford man and former owner of a jewelry store in this city will formally open his attractive new jewelry store at 153 East Main street Saturday, November 10, displaying as a special feature a showing of Oriental art collected during his tour around the world.

A dazzling 1000-candle power spotlight has been installed in the ceiling in order that the diamonds and fine jewelry may be shown to best advantage. Blue-white diamonds, wedding rings, fine watches and individual and distinctive pieces of jewelry will be featured at Johnson's smart new store.

Fixtures for Medford's new store were made by the Trowbridge cabinet works and the arrangement of the very latest type burglar-proof safes. The place is modeled after smart jewelry shops in larger cities, and it is the plan of Mr. Johnson to offer his southern Oregon friends high grade merchandise at popular prices. Electrical installations were made by Peoples' Electric Store.

The very latest type burglar-proof safe weighing 9000 pounds has been secured for Johnson's in keeping with the modernness of the establishment.

A department for watch and jewelry repairing, with prompt and efficient service, is another part of the store. Mr. Johnson has issued an invitation for everyone in southern Oregon to inspect his new business place. The new establishment occupies the front portion of M. N. Hogan's brokerage offices and stock exchange.

In a bitter battle against great odds to establish his innocence of a trumped-up murder charge, Ken Maynard blames his way through gun fights to redeem his honor in the eyes of the girl he loves. This is the background of "Smoking Guns," starring Ken Maynard, at the Hiatio theater tomorrow.

Maynard plays the role of an innocent fugitive from justice, wanted for the murder of an outlaw chief.

"SISTERS UNDER SKIN" OPENING AT ROXY

"Sisters Under the Skin," which opened at the Roxy theater this afternoon, proved a source of constant delight.

A simple story simply told, it deals with a lovely young actress forced to choose between love and luxury. But her loyalty holds her to the man who can give her everything, while her heart asks for the other who can offer her only love.

A monument has been erected near Garden City, Kas., to C. J. ("Buffalo") Jones, pioneer plainsman who helped found the city.

Old Favorite On Craterian Screen

One of America's favorite pieces of fiction, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which opened yesterday at the Craterian theater, has been made into a charming, absorbing and altogether delightful film play.

Pauline Lord, as Mrs. Wiggs, justifies her stage reputation by a sincere and touching characterization of the quaint and motherly woman of the cabbage patch, whose life is spent making the lives of those near and dear to her rich in the human qualities with which she has been endowed.

W. C. Fields, whose popularity seems to gain with each new picture, is excellent as Stubbs, the man who order husband of Zasu Pitta, in the role of Miss Wiggs. Some of the funniest bits of comedy brought to the screen are revealed in the sequences in which Miss Wiggs, in a desperate attempt to make sure of winning the man, smokes the supper, which the ever helpful Mrs. Wiggs has prepared, through the kitchen window and to Fields' plate. But, after the wedding, when the truth must be told and she flutteringly admits her inability of cooking the delightful white man's smokes the supper, which the first served the man she now has securely won, the results are hilarious.

Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor as Lucy Olcott and Bob Redding, bring the romance to the story while helping the wiggles through many of their tragedies and little dramas.

But through the entire picture runs the lovable qualities that have made the story such a favorite for years.
