

DEMS SQUARE OFF FOR LIVELY FIGHT OVER SPEAKERSHIP

chairman, predicted that Mr. Roosevelt would be re-elected in 1936 by a verdict "practically unanimous." The republican party, he said, "is positively through."

3. The American liberty league, quiet before the election, jumped into the picture when its president, Joust Shouse, said at Lexington, Ky., that it would launch this month a drive for 1,000,000 members. Denying emphatically that the league "has organized a definite opposition to the present administration," he said it would "oppose any attempt at a perversion" of American principles "no matter from what source such attempt may come."

4. Senator "Young Bob" La Follette planned a lecture tour to tell people the economic principles that prompted him to start his new progressive party.

5. President Roosevelt, saying nothing about Tuesday's plebiscite, continued to attack such problems as the budget, relief, public works. With 17,500,000 persons on relief rolls, half of them getting outright dimes, relief officials are ready to put more emphasis on work relief.

6. Republicans were thinking a great deal about the future of their crippled party. Though men like Senator Borah were calling for drastic reorganization along more liberal lines, there was no sure sign yet of what would be done.

7. Two contests for congress were still undecided. Senator Bronson Cutting, independent republican, still ran ahead of his democratic rival, Dennis Chavez, in New Mexico; and a seat in New York now held by a democrat was in doubt.

8. The contest for the speakership may develop, some observers feel, to a point where the White House will have to step in. Up to now three southerners have been considered in the lead for the post left vacant by the death last summer of Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois.

9. They are: Representative Byrns of Tennessee, party floor leader; Bankhead of Alabama, chairman of the rules committee, and Rayburn of Texas, chairman of the commerce committee. The only northern member to announce formally is Representative Moad of New York.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter: "Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market."

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN."

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two table-spoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green packages. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Stanford, Oregon Picked By Grid Prognosticator

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP)—There are few soft spots in this week's football program, with a heavy intercollegiate slate to complicate the weekly task gridiron selectors have set for themselves. From this corner, prospects seem to be about as follows:

Stanford-Washington: The Pacific Coast conference title may hinge on this one. Washington's close call with Oregon State was not calculated to raise the Huskies' hopes against Stanford. A nod in Stanford's direction.

Oregon-Oregon State: Another close one in prospect. Out of the hat, Oregon.

Southern California-California: Two big disappointments collide here. If there's any edge, perhaps it belongs to California.

Washington State-Idaho: Washington State should still be in the Pacific Coast running after this game.

Colgate-Tulane: This filler on Colgate is based on the Red Raiders' trick attack.

profits for the 30 months' period beginning January 1, 1935, should reach three million dollars.

Basing his figures on operations of the commission since its inception last February, Paquill estimated that requirements of the commission for the two-year period ending December 31, 1936, at $6,047,745.16, including salaries and wages $572,800.25; general expenses, $238,825.99; operating expenses $304.00; maintenance, $1,180; capital outlay, $2745 and liquor purchases $5,833,973.72.

Ruling On Licenses.

The commission ruled that separate licenses would be required for hotels and other places selling beer in more than one place, even though they were under the same roof.

The League of Oregon cities was granted permission to use the records of the commission in preparing a chart through which the organization hoped to show whether the operation of the Knox liquor law had been a success.

The commission adopted a resolution providing for three zones in connection with the sale of beer. In zone 1, including residential districts, no licenses would be granted; in zone 2, designated as semi-residential, licenses would not be allowed to have dancing or other entertainment. Zone 3 would include the commercial and industrial districts, where licenses would be issued without restriction.

ESCAPED LIER SHOT BY PORTLAND POLICE

PORTLAND, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A youth who was wounded in a gun battle with a policeman here last month was said today by Harvey Thatcher, captain of detectives, to be Thomas A. Moore, escaped life term from the Arkansas prison farm.

Captain Thatcher said fingerprints and police records disclosed Moore, 24, shot and killed a policeman in Fort Smith, Ark., in March, 1931.

He gave his name as Thomas A. Marshfield when he was captured.

Glenn N. Rardin, Chicago photographer, on charges of extreme mental cruelty.

Miss Burke, who won a motion picture contest with a photograph of herself taken by Rardin, testified that he told her if she did not return to Chicago with him she would become a morn.

Rardin and Miss Burke married February 25, 1933, and separated a year later.

ANOTHER HUSKING CHAMP CROWNED

FAIRMONT, Minn., Nov. 9.—(UP)—Ted Balko of Redwood Falls, typical rangy product of northwestern farms, was crowned national champion last night in the purely American rural sport of corn husking.

Seventy thousand spectators braved briskly cold weather, which kept them stamping their feet and slapping their sides, to follow Balko and other huskers down the long corn rows. Balko wiped perspiration from his forehead when the furious 80 minute grind was over.

His total husking was 25,786 bushels, considerably under the all time contest record of 36.9 bushels set in 1932 by Carl Sellig of Illinois.

Balko did not know about his victory until three hours after the contest was over. Judges had to weigh each contestant's husking and deduct points for ears left on stalks.

McNARY AGREES WITH SEN. BORAH

SALEM, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Although refusing to make extended comments upon the national elections of Tuesday, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, minority floor leader, last night agreed at least in part with expressions of Senator Borah in calling for reorganization of the Republican party.

"The Republican party must have a program, and it must be a forward-looking one. It cannot function successfully as a mere party of negation," McNary declared in a brief formal statement.

Hansen was connected with the Portland Telegram for several years before accepting the office of budget director.
