Editorial Correspondence

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 9 .- Called to San Francisco on urgent business. Have just emerged from the first important conference to find with SURPRISE, there is a box fight at Dreamland tonight and a football game at Palo Alto tomorrow. Fear tonight's symposium on the Canadian newsprint situation will prevent our witnessing the contest between Battling Balerino and Mickey Farino but may be possible to drop in on the struggle between Stanford and Washington for a few quarters. Not that there will be any particular disappointment if business matters should interfere. For we see by the San Francisco papers that this isn't to be much of a game. With eleven All American stars at Palo Alto the odds are three to one on the These "poor boobs from the lumber camps of Puget Cards. Sound," are expected to be only good for a workout. However as little important business can be transacted in San Francisco on Saturday afternoon, it may be worth motoring 15 or 20 miles, to see.

It is amazing how soon political excitement dies down. Were t not for the weather-beaten bill boards depicting a fat, baldheaded gentleman protecting a Galifornia bungalow with one hand and preventing the invasion of a bewhiskered Russian horde, with the other, no visitor would suspect that the most tempestous political campaign in California's history only ended three days ago. The fat bald-headed gentleman is Governor Merriam who as everyone knows was elected over Upton Sinclair,-"the menace from Moscow!" Merriam and Sinelair, Bat tling Balerino and Mickey Farino! So the world wags on !

The great change since our last visit to the Golden Gate metropolis is the tall piers rising out of the bay, their red tops piercing the low hanging clouds. These piers will carry the new seven and one-half mile bridge from Oakland to San Francisco Coming over on the Berkeley ferry we could also see to the west one of the piers for the new Goldon Gate span, which as we recall will only be about a mile long, but seven or eight hundred feet in the air. More government spending,-and local spending also.

The ferry boat attendant, who with a fire extinguisher in his hand, inspects the motor cars, volunteered the information that he will probably be out of a job in two or three years-when the new bridges are opened. Ferries can't compete with motor cars running over bridges. Quite true. Then again in two or three years, it may not be so hard to get a new job as it is today. Nevertheless Progress doth her custom hold let unemployment say what it will. For one however we shall miss that ferry trip from Oakland to San Francisco,-the gulls flapping in the wake, the travellers on deck looking toward the thrilling San Fran cisco skyline!

No political news in the papers here. Everyone is tired of polities. How QUICKLY newspapers respond to a change in public sentiment. The main interest now appears to be the Big Game between Stanford and California two weeks hence and the opening of grand opera the week after. Hotels are-placard-A number of local victims of the Mid West drouth, who went to call-form to spend the rest of their days eating fried chicken, furnished by U, collapsible opera hat—such a nice thing for little Dalls is ed with dinners and dances after the Big Game, and the stores are falling over each other to advertise what to wear at the opera. We note in one ad that full dress is preferred to a collapsible opera hat-such a nice thing for little Rolla to play with! We supposed that passed out with the Gibson girl and the Inverness!

Football and grand opera have this in common-real football fans and real music lovers, comprise only about one-half of one percent of the assembled multitude.

The big game this year promises to be no contest at all from drunk man who was singing on the a football or sporting standpoint,—Stanford with one of her strongest teams in history, California with one of her weakest. But most of the people, we repeat, don't go to see football. They go to see the spectacle, the people, view the stunts between halves, and join for the cocktail hour after the whistle has blown. The real football enthusiasts will go to Palo Alto tomorrow and probably see a real game between the only two undefeated teams in the coast conference. But there will be many vacant seats, just as there would be at the opera if those who attended had to know the difference between an aria and the old oaken bucket R.W.R.
