Starts Wedensday

Three Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Award winners head the cast of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," to be shown tomorrow at the Craterian theater.

Norma Shearer, in the role of the poet Elizabeth, is starred opposite Fredric Marsh, as the ardent Robert Browning — the same team which broke all records in "Smilin' Through." Charles Laughton, most recent Academy Award winner, appears in the grim and powerful role of the elder Barrett.

Dramatization of a vivid page torn from history, it is the story of the love of two poets, Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning—a love nearly frustrated by her demoniacal father.

Elizabeth had resigned herself to a lingering death, when correspondence with the poet Browning suddenly materialized with his handsome presence in her own room. It was love at first sight between the fragile girl and her ardent admirer. The elder Barrett throws himself against this romance . . . and thereon hangs the tale.

"Age of Innocence" at Rialto

"The Age of Innocence," a period when girls were supposed to blush at the mention of the word "limb," chaperons were necessary adjuncts to romance, and conventions ruled with an iron hand, is authentically pictured in the film version of Edith Wharton's famous novel of that name, at the Rialto theater for today and tomorrow.

Co-starring Irene Dunne and John Boles for the first time since the memorable "Back Street," the story deals with a love tangle in the caste-bound social circles of New York in the seventies.

Now at Roxy

Only the wooden Indian refuses to laugh when W. C. Fields, star of "You're Telling Me," which is now playing at the Roxy, tells a story.

'THE KEY' AT STUDIO IS STRANGE DRAMA

A strange triangular love drama set in the background of the seething cauldron of the Irish rebellion comes to the Studio theater today when "The Key" opens with William Powell in the stellar role.

Powell and Colin Clive, brother officers stationed in Dublin to suppress the rebellion, form two of the sides of the triangle, while Edna Best, the wife of Clive and the former sweetheart of Powell, forms the third.

The daring deeds of the Sinn Feiners in their conflict with English officers furnish many a thrill to add to the romance of the film.

FLAMES DESTROY CAR ON HIGHWAY

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 20.—(Spl.)—Destroying about $500 worth of merchandise in addition to the car itself, an automobile turned over and burned about one mile north of the bridge at Rogue River, Sunday.

The accident occurred about noon in front of the J. H. Cochrane place. The owner, who was unhurt, had left the scene before state police arrived. A record of Oregon automobile licenses at the city hall here showed the license borne by the car was sold to Robert E. Frazier of 2042 Southeast Ankeny street, Portland.

According to State Policeman Mace Pewtherer, the car turned around twice in the road before turning over in the barrow pit and bursting into flames.
