

NAMING LINESMEN FOR ALL-AMERICA IS HARD PROBLEM

Real Standout Workmen Not Numerous in Forward Division — Baekfield Has Wealth of Good Material

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

Picking the all-American forward wall for 1934 from the available college talent will be no less difficult than finding a consensus backfield quartet but the reasons are somewhat different.

Where the trouble among the ball-carriers is in identifying the four best or at least the four most popular from a wealth of backfield talent, the difficulty among the line-men is to locate the real standout workmen. There have been a few, of course, who have consistently made an impression upon coaches and observers, but a shortage exists in really great tacklers or centers this season. The star ends and guards are more plentiful, it appears.

Two Robinsons
A roving center is always a spectacular figure on the defense. His activity, however, may often be mistaken for greater ability than he really possesses.

This being an off-year for Michigan, however, it is necessary to look elsewhere for the all-America center. Two Robinsons have attracted attention, one at Notre Dame and another at Tulane. Captain Kalbaugh probably is Princeton's ablest line-man and a consistently accurate snapper-back. Stanford's Wyn Muller came highly touted at the start of the season but not much has been heard from him lately. In the Southwest, Lester of Texas Christian, a 220-pound giant, and Coates of Texas are rated the best centers. Big Ten circles favor Monahan of Ohio State and Patterson of Chicago, a pair of captains.

Pittsburgh's Shotwell doesn't look husky enough to hold the center of a great line together but he does it. Meier of Nebraska is another fine center, the choice for the all-Big Six without much question.

1934 Tackle Inferior
To date, so far as we have been able to observe, the tackle situation is equally uncertain. No doubt, a flock of sturdy youths are carrying out their assignments well enough but none has been compared with such standards of tackle perfection as Belf West of Colgate, Ed Weir of Nebraska or Ed Kravitz of Notre Dame. Navy's Slade Cutler, a champion heavyweight boxer, has attracted more than casual attention because he also comes out of the line to do some plain and fancy place-kicking. Joe Steen, Syracuse tackle, is one of the main reasons for the rise of the Orange this year. Alabama's Lee has been conspicuous from end to end. "Cash" Gentry is a spectacular performer for Oklahoma, although handicapped this season by illness. Brooks of Colgate, Rukas of Louisiana State, Calbreath of Illinois also belong in the list under scrutiny.

Bevan Great Guard
Guards of exceptional calibre have popped into the picture all season. None who saw him smear the mighty Panther thrusters in a goal-line stand will forget the work of Minnesota's Bill Bevan. Pittsburgh can counter with "Dock" Hartwig, one of the best in the country, and a fine running mate in Orin Landon.

Gregory Barely of North Carolina and Herman Gundlach of Harvard are two inspiring captains who operate from guard positions. Stillman of the Army has developed into one of the finest running guards in the East. He helps clear the way for Texas Jack Buckler, all-America halfback. Scouts report that Greyboski of Illinois is a standout and probably certain to get all Big Ten rating. Burns of the Navy, Pacetti of Wisconsin, Stacy of Oklahoma also rank high.

The ends who have caught the most critical eyes include Larson of Minnesota, Moberg of Harvard, MacMillan of Princeton, a converted halfback; Huston of Alabama, Bogdanaki and Billings of Oregon, Borden of Fordham and Goodwin of West Virginia.

Exchange Needs Quilt Materials

The Welfare Exchange is badly in need of wool and cotton materials for making quilts. It was announced today, and persons who have extra materials that can be used for quilt pieces are requested to telephone 534, and some one from the exchange will call for them.

COLEMAN HIGH AT DEATH CAR DRIVER GUN CLUB TRAPS GOES TO HOSPITAL

Ray Coleman was high man at the Medford Gun club trapshoot last Sunday, breaking 43 out of 50 in the 50-target event, according to figures reported today. Other scores were: T. E. Daniels and H. Crockett, 48; Chester Wood, 46; Bill Bates, 44.

At 25 targets, John Tomlin and Ed Lampert captured high honors, each with 33. George Jantzer scored 27, and Dr. Burns took 18. Due to the fact that the shoot was held in rain, the scores of all the entrants were considered favorable.

The gun club announced today that the annual Thanksgiving day turkey shoot will be held this year with classification of entrants to provide prizes for all. This event will be open to the public.

RESTAURANT OWNERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Restaurant owners of Medford will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the chamber of commerce, it was announced today, for the purpose of organizing locally under the restaurant law.

G. V. Martin, county chairman under the law, will be in charge.

Although some writers have described Daniel Boone as a tall man of huge frame, authentic documents indicate he was only five feet eight inches high.

More than 200 Nobles of the Hillah Temple of the Mystic Shrine presented a brilliant picture as they paraded in Sacramento last Saturday upon their arrival from Southern Oregon for a ceremonial with the Ben All Temple of Sacramento. In the upper right is shown a part of the Hillah band, followed by the organization's Arab patrol. In the center are the 27 initiates of the temple, led by J. C. Collins and George Carter of this city, and escorted by Clifton McCredie. These nobles tread the traditional hot sands of the desert in the colorful ceremonial in Sacramento's beautiful memorial auditorium Saturday evening.

KIDNAP SUSPECT WILL BE MOVED PORTLAND SOON

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A. H. Scott of Medford, charged with conspiracy in connection with the Urachel abduction, has recovered sufficiently from injuries suffered here in his automobile accident November 2 to be removed to Portland. His physician, Dr. E. J. Wainwright, this morning informed the department of justice that Scott may be safely removed to Portland to await action by the federal court on the conspiracy charge brought against him.

When he was brought to the hospital here, suffering from critical head injuries as a result of his automobile accident, he was discovered to be carrying $1500 in currency. An investigation resulted in identification of $1360 of this sum as money paid the abductors of Charles F. Urachel, Oklahoma millionaire oil man who was spirited from his home July 22, 1933.

Department of justice agents continuing their investigation arrested Scott's housekeeper, Margaret Hurler; her sister, Mrs. Clara Feldman, and the latter's son, Ed Feldman, and recovered nearly $8000 of the ransom money.

Scott, his physician reports, has recovered his mental faculties, and his physical condition has improved to such an extent that his removal, it is believed, can be accomplished without danger.

He has been kept under constant armed guard since the time of his arrest.

BYRD'S MEN LOCATE VAST NEW PLATEAU

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Nov. 21.—(Via Mackay Radio)—(AP)—A vast new plateau, "flat as the plains of Kansas," was added today to the maps of the Byrd expedition.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd said he believed the area was the long-sought link between the Andes ranges of South America and the mountains of West Antarctica.

The discovery was made by an aerial survey crew under Harold June, chief pilot.
